Girl Finds Jap Husband Not Up to the Standard.

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—That all is not happy in the wedded life of the daughter of Archdeacon Emery, who was Miss Helen Gladys Emery until she became Mrs. Gunjiro Aoki, by an alliance with a Japanese houseboy, is the story that has come to the ears of her former friends in this city.

It is said that no separation has as yet taken place between the young mother and her Japanese husband, but the life she chose when she went to live among the Japanese colony, near Seattle, has proved beyond her powers of endurance.

Some years ago Archdeacon Emery received a letter from Seattle that caused him to leave at once to see his daughter, and it believed that steps will shortly be taken to effect separation and that Mrs. Aoki will return to her father's home with her baby. The story as it comes from the north is that Aoki has proved faithless to his vows that he made to love, honor and cherish the girl who became his wedded wife.

He has become sallow and lazy, it is charged, and spends days at a time in the haunts of his Japanese associates in the city, leaving his wife until he is out of funds, when he returns to demand money from her.

For the protection of herself and her child she has been compelled to refuse him, and it is said that her unwillingness to give him all the money which has been sent her is the cause of angry words and even brutal treatment.

FARM FUNNYGRAPHS.

Willie—"The Smiths are a kind of relation of ours. Our dog is their dog's brother."

The reason why the mistletoe is always hung in a light place is that its presence is not necessary in a dark one, declares Judge.

Judge tells of a Christmas dinner in Washington at which a statesman who had been much in the public eye was called upon after the meal to make a little speech. He arose and began:

"You have been giving your attention so far to a turkey stuffed with sage. You are now about to give your attention to a sage stuffed with turkey."

Judge prints the following under the head of "Wanted":

"By a lover, a thermometer for testing the warmth of a girl's heart."

"By an old maid, a sprig of mistletoe and a man to put up the same."

"By a little boy, a stocking that will hold a bobbed. Said stocking must be delivered before Christmas eve, or will be of no use."

"By a parent, a pair of goggles that will prevent children from seeing Santa Claus while the latter is filling stockings."

"By a minister, a pair of Christmas slippers that will fill."

"Please mum," said the humble wayfarer, "why did you give me this bitter coffee?"

"For revenge," answered the irritated housewife. "You laughed at my pie."

"But dis coffee don't resemble revenge, lady."

"It doesn't?"

"No, revenge is sweet. Pass over the sugar bowl."

"An old couple in the west of Scotland removed to a large town, and the husband bought an alarm clock to wake him in the morning, as he had to go some distance to his work. A few weeks afterward the couple got two young men as lodgers, who asked to be awakened at the same time as themselves.

When the husband was winding up the clock that night, his wife said to him:

"No, Jock, ye'll hae to gie the clock a guid winding the night. Ye kin it has two mair to waken the morn!"
