A GREAT SUCCESS.

Old Settlers' Reunion a Most Enjoyable Event.

Glendale, Or., Jan. 1.—The most successful event in the history of this vicinity was the first annual Newcomers' and old Settlers' Union, given by the Glendale Commercial Club here today. Practically every family in Cow Creek Valley was represented in the immense throng that crowded the big auditorium to its standing capacity.

The seats were arranged in sections representing the pioneers, the old settlers and the newcomers. As each person entered he was requested to register and was given a badge representing the year he came to Glendale. Every year between 1850 and 1910 was represented.

The program consisted of addresses by members of the Commercial Club and responses in behalf of the old settlers and newcomers, music and recitation by children choruses. Prizes were awarded to the oldest settler, youngest settler, and to the tallest, shortest, tallest and thinnest among the native born men and women. The largest family of old settlers and the largest family of newcomers were also awarded prizes. Dinner was served to all and everything was free. The club plans to make the reunion an annual event.

HOW THE INDIANS HEALED THEIR SICK

Hundreds of Years Before the White Man Thought Such Methods Wise.

The American Indian is the craftiest, most reasoning and deepest student of nature of all barbaric or semi-barbaric people.

He knows more about the secrets of nature, but history shows a poorer knowledge of natural laws than even the natives of the Syrian or Caucasian race.

Especially interesting is the study of the Indian and his methods for curing his sick. In addition to his wonderful knowledge of plant life and the mixing of it to bring forth health concoctions, the Indian is said to be the first race to study the value of mineral water baths. Long before the chemists and alchemists of Europe had analyzed the waters of their famous springs and found medicinal properties there, the North American Indian was curing his sick at Paso Robles Hot Springs.

The old Franciscan monks, while making their wonderful journeys, building their missions and teaching Christianity along the California coast, frequently sat at the Indian council camp fires and heard there tales of a wonderful spring where in to bathe was to be made free from disease.

These tales seemed unholy worship and nonsense to the holy fathers, but at length they too caught the enthusiasm of the Indian and their sick began the pilgrimage to Paso Robles (The Pass of the Oaks), so named by these holy men.

Then began a series of reports to the papal home of the church and to the King of Spain, so that early in the reign of Castile over California these springs were regarded as the ideal spot sought for by Ponce de Leon.

But aside from the romance of the Indian and from holy reports of the Franciscan monks, Paso Robles today is making fame for her waters by reason of its wonderful cures.

Rheumatism, gout, kidney and stomach troubles disappear before the bath treatments at Paso Robles so quickly that the citizens of Paso Robles claim no case can be severe enough to defeat the waters from making a cure. Tuberculosis and unclean diseases are not permitted treatment.

Nervous women who have been cured in all manner of female ailments form a continual series of testimonial proof of the beneficial effects of Paso Robles springs.

Here one meets the worn out laborer praising the waters for their gifts to him, while at his side perhaps speaks the clubman from the city, whose living has worn down his system.

Many health pilgrims arrive at Paso Robles with camping outfits and live in tents while being cured, being unable to afford the luxury of a boarding house.

Here also are the rich in their luxurious hotel with private bath house and all the especial attention they demand. The air of Paso Robles is as rich and as perfect as its water, this fact alone being of greatest benefit to its curing power.

A small book, neatly illustrated, has been recently published by the management telling the story of the Hot Springs in a most interesting manner and giving complete information. Send for it, either to Wm. McMurray, general passenger agent of the O. R. & N., Portland, Or., or Dr. F. W. Sawyer, manager, Paso Robles, Cal.

TEN MILE NEWS.

Henry and Wm. Ireland of Olalla were business visitors in Ten Mile the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin are visiting the latter's son, James Barnes and family at Camas Valley a few days this week.

Miss Bertha Coates left Wednesday for Grants Pass, where she will attend school. She will make her home with her mother, Mrs. Chesler, matron of the Grants Pass hospital.

Mrs. Mart Bushnell left Monday for Portland for a visit of some length with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Newland Chas. M. Siegel of Camas Valley, and Mrs. Mae Newland-Carnes went to Roseburg Thursday. Mr. Newland goes to Portland Friday on a brief business trip, while Mrs. Newland will leave for Gold Hill, Oregon, to visit her father, Judge C. G. Gall.

The civil engineers for the Coos Bay railroad have established a "tent city" at the Ten Mile school house since Monday. They seem to be so very active that we are "almost afraid" lest there will be something doing in this part of the country some of these days.

Mrs. Guy Lawson is visiting this week with her parents, the Scrantons at Camas Valley. REX.

STRAW VOTE TAKEN

To Get Feeling Toward Taft and Members of Congress.

Neither Representatives Hawley nor Ellis is giving a satisfactory account of himself in his support of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, according to a straw vote taken by Success Magazine. The periodical has been taking a straw vote of the country to discover the feeling of its life subscribers toward Taft and toward the members of Congress. Here are the three questions which particularly affect the case of the Oregon representatives:

"Do you approve the position of your representative in Congress in the speaking contest last spring?" "Would you vote for him if there should be another election this month, provided that he were opposed by a reputable man of the opposite party?"

"Is it your desire that he support the administration and policies of Speaker Cannon, or would you prefer that he oppose them?"

The result of these questions in Oregon were interesting and Cannonism found few supporters. Out of 62 Republicans, 42 answered that they would not vote for Hawley. In the case of Ellis 25 out of 35 Republicans announced that they would vote against him. Both Ellis and Hawley have steadily supported Cannon and at the same time have allied with the "Insurgents" or "Progressives" who have opposed the speaker. In making the straw vote, the magazine got forth the interrogations to its life subscribers and then published the questions and the results, without comment. In Oregon the majority of the readers overwhelmingly favor the Progressive Republicans as against the Cannon crowd with whom the two Oregon Congressmen have allied themselves.

Both Ellis and Hawley want to be re-nominated and re-elected next year. Each of them will go into the state convention and ask for the endorsement and it is generally admitted by the men who are framing up the assembly that Ellis and Hawley will be given the backing of the assembly. In fact, aspirants who would like to go to Congress and who have expressed themselves as willing to try for the convention endorsement have been notified that "there is nothing doing" except for Hawley and Ellis, and that none others need apply.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION FOR JANUARY

We find attractive special features in this number. A double page of pictures shows some of the most famous work of modern European masters; there is also a large full page painting by Mary Sigbee Ker of "Young 1910" waiting on the threshold of the New Year. Seven photographs of that most popular actress, Ethel Barrymore, picture her quick rise from amateur to leading lady; and the music, "Gavotte-Madrigal," is by Francis Thome.

Octave Thanet tells the story of two lonely women in "In Place of Their Own," and Myra Kelly surpasses her own standard of gentle humor in "The Spirit of Cecelia Anne." Anne Warner's "Susan Clegg's Courting" is but one of the series she is writing for the Woman's Home Companion, and "Room Number Three at Three Forks Tavern," the great detective story by Anna Katherine Green, is continued in this number.

The articles are the kind that are talked over for weeks. "Fifteen Years With My Wife" is a leaf out of a life experience; and "Shall We Stay in the Ministry?" and "The Music Student Abroad" are earnest and truthful articles.

A really delightful innovation is the page of New Year's cards. In fact, the whole magazine begins the New Year in a manner calculated to more than satisfy its readers.

The regular departments are replete with suggestions, help, and the best of obtainable ideas on the subjects of Fashion, Housekeeping, the children, the home, sewing and reading.

FAREWELL TO NINETEEN NAUGHT NINE.

Farewell to thee, 1909,
No more will I see of thee—
Thou gavest us rain and sunshine,
Which thou didst furnish free.

Thou hast the consolation now,
Of having done thy best,
An' leaving men behind the plow,
For food not now distressed.

Thou hast left, too, 1909,
Proof that thou hast been here,
In a new ring on ev'ry pine,
An' horns on ev'ry steer.

Tomorrow will be 1910,
Mankind's great swear-off day,
Who will quite likely now an' then,
Backslide the same old way.

But don't "talk back," 1909,
They did it in thee, too—
May pleasant dreams henceforth be thine,
Adieu, adieu, adieu.—EX.

DYSPEPTIC PHILOSOPHY.

The man who would rather be right than president generally has his preference gratified.

Every little girl is anxious to grow up, even if it is only so she can wear her Sunday clothes every day in the week.

One man in a novel has greater opportunities for being a hero than come to a hundred men in real life. When a fellow's mother thinks he "is" he is going to marry is good enough for him the girl must be nothing short of an angel.

It is also true that one-half the world doesn't know why the other half lives.

The man who is afflicted with loss of memory is generally a chronic borrower.

That silence is golden is a comforting belief to the fellow who can never think of a good answer. Nothing is so annoying to the man who is fond of giving advice as to have his friends succeed in going contrary to it.

Many a man who is well bred needs the dough.

The woman who tries to conceal her age is generally old enough to know better.

Prejudices are merely other people's opinions.

The man who marries for money often has a harder job getting it than the fellow who works for it.

Tetragini paid $50 a pound for a New York dog. He's a sausage.

A third man seldom finds any fault with the quality of the mattress.

Some of our congressmen have missed their calling. They ought to be working in a salve factory.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Power in speech comes from patience in silence.

Men seek for honors often because they have lost honor.

Forgetting lost is the secret of finding satisfaction in life.

Sorrow is heaven's school, where we learn the alphabet of love.

A man is to be known by his goal rather than by his genealogy.

The best evidence of loving heaven is endeavor to bring it here.

It is easy for the man who amounts to nothing to give himself away.

Deceit usually has a good start in the man who boasts of his diplomacy.

He soon loses all faith in the poor who tries to feed them with fine words.

No man is uncommonly good who does not help to make goodness common.

One of the blessings of being needy is that there are always some who are more so.

Some think they are standing by the faith when they are but frozen in their tracks.

Many a man shows his faith in the wisdom of his God by offering a dime to cover a dollar sin.

It is no use prescribing the Gospel to a sick world unless you commend it by a healthy life.

People who run around in a circle usually hire a calliope to call attention to their progress.

Heaven is going to be a strenuous place for some who have spent their lives running after rest.

There is a lot of difference between the people who take a front row at the feast and those hold it in the fight.

Some sinners do not repent because they fear there would not be enough joy in heaven over the event to satisfy them.—From the Chicago Tribune.
