FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1910.

Roseburg and Douglas county has got the "got together" movement.

Whoever heard of a genuine hooster being killed by gas—one of the most essential requisites of the age to flay the knocker.

A general public protest appears to have reached the mysterious machinery by which the prices of food have been marked up in recent years with such remarkable regularity. It is gratifying to discover that a decline in anything is possible.

Thirteen ladies of an eastern city have formed an anti-gossip club, the members of which are pledged not to disparage anybody. The chance of survival of such a body was slim enough without the selection of that fateful number. But alas the evil spell of the hoodo is broken in this case.

Publicity Manager Colt of the Sutherland Commercial Club, has just issued three thousand 8-page magazines descriptive of Sutherland valley, one of the most favored locations in Douglas county. The publication is brimful of interesting reading matter and contains a number of excellent half-tone cuts which will give the stranger a fine idea of the beautiful valley and its surroundings.

While Darby Richardson was "stealing a nap between meals" at Myrtle Creek during the business men's excursion Thursday, an oil stove in his apartments threw out a sufficient supply of gas as to come near asphyxiating the gentleman. It looked serious for Darby for a little while, but when the attending physician ascertained that his patient was Douglas county's hooster all alarm was dispelled. Gas was never known to kill a hooster.

The business men's excursion to the southern part of the county was a success in every particular. At each city where a stopover was made the excursionists were enthusiastically received and entertained in a becoming manner. This movement on the part of the Roseburg Commercial Club is the nucleus for a wider acquaintance with the people of our sister cities and villages and will show to them that Roseburg is not selfish in the matter of extolling her own interests, but those of the county at large and what is of benefit to one particular section is a natural consequence is just a stride for advancing the county as a whole. The movement is one which has remained dormant, not only as regards this county, but the state as well, and now that the first excursion of Roseburg business men has been a pronounced success it would be well to keep this unique and excellent scheme of "getting together" with our neighbors fresh in mind and make at least a half a dozen visits each year. Many who were kept at home for various reasons during this week's excursion would be willing and able to go at a future date. No better method of advancing Douglas county could be planned. Get the people of the entire county pulling together and there'll be something doing.

GLIDE ITEMS.

Last Wednesday was ground hog day and the saying is, if he sees his shadow it will rain for six weeks, and I guess he did, for the sun shone all day.

Mrs. Nathaniel Chapman and son Curtis, of Craig, Col., are visiting relatives around Glide.

The comet was seen at Glide last Tuesday, but it was very dim. Perry Wright passed by Glide last Wednesday on his way to Dixonville. Lottie Borroughs and Edna Schloemann were the guests of Mrs. Clarence Frazier one day last week.

Mr. Willie Bogard and Mr. Albert Paim passed by Glide on their way to Mr. Bogard on the Rancho Debrico place.

sick for some time, is reported worse today.

Charlie Clark made a trip to the city one day last week and he reports the roads in very bad conditions.

Mr. H. A. Blakely was up at the hatchery one day last week. He reports that there are lots of fish.

Mr. John Alexander, of Glide, who is in Portland at the hospital, is reported better, and is expected home in about a week.

Mr. Dave Hunter of South Deer Creek, who has been visiting Mr. L. Lilly, of Glide, returned home last week.

There were some buyers up to look at the Beckley Bros. ranch near Glide one day last week.

Walter McMillen, Fred Eroy and Otto Osborn, of Hoaglin, were seen on their way to Roseburg last Wednesday.

Sylvan Borroughs' finger which he cut while helping saw wood with a wood saw, is about well. He says he will now be more careful what he's doing around the buzz saw. XYZ.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Umpqua Assembly, No. 105, United Artisan officers and members: We your committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence of Bro. A. M. Sanders, respectfully submit the following:

In the rapid march of time we are again reminded of the uncertainty of life by the death of those with whom in years we have learned to love and respect.

The sad duty devolves upon us to announce the death of our beloved friend and brother, A. M. Sanders, who departed this life January 14, 1910, leaving a wife, two sons and a large circle of friends to mourn his departure. By his death a home has been made desolate, yet we bow in humble submission to the will of one who rules the universe.

Whereas, we extend the bereaved family our sincerest sympathy in their affliction, and that the richest blessings of heaven may yet fall upon them and bless them.

Resolved, That we drape our chapter in mourning for thirty days, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this lodge, and a copy be sent the bereaved family, also the city papers for publication. Fraternally submitted.

BELLE-STEPHENSON, ROSINA PATRICK, CHAS. B. PATRICK, Committee.

THE HERMANN SPECIAL.

The clock struck the hour of eleven. In the sky there was not a star. When a crowd of jolly good fellows started out in a private car.

That crowd of jolly good fellows, pick of Roseburg town, was headed by Frank G. McGill, J. F. Barker and Geo. M. Brown.

Aaron Salzman furnished the music as he has often done before. Bid Fisher danced a hornpipe and Claud Cannon he did rory. Those old familiar ballads which the Roseburg boys all know, "Waltz me around again, Willie" and "Down in Paradise Row."

Con Denning told how Roseburg looked when he was but a boy. Al Cresson, he represented the man in corduroy.

Jim Zurcher enjoyed the company as he chewed a tobacco leaf. Eugene Parrott said he was tickled to death on account of the price of beef.

The fun was fast and furious, enough to waken the dead. But it didn't disturb F. L. Davis and Editor Bates, who snored very loudly in bed. They visited Ha-ha, Ha-ha, who is also a Roseburg lad, and he sent his regards to Worthington, our former city dad.

I was glad to meet all my old friends and no matter where I roam, I will always look to Roseburg as my adopted home. —G. C. GRAHAM. Portland, Ore., Jan. 29, 1910.

Attractive Girls in Attractive Opera.

If theater goers don't want to miss a treat they will go to Marsters' drug store on Saturday and secure their seats for the opera "The Military Girl." The opera is to be produced on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The rehearsals are showing the participants off to splendid advantage and a performance equal to a professional show will be given. Expense is not being spared by the Women's Auxiliary to make a complete success. Special scenery and costumes are being imported and a large enough stage equipped with the necessary lights is being built. "The Military Girl" bids fair to revolutionize home talent productions.

BE NOT A KNOCKER.

A quiet little town along the coast, To which, before I go, I give a toast; The country all around Rich in mines, orchards, and pastures so rare, Would cause any fellow to sell out and locate there.

The real estate men there, are all on the square. They will show this and that place, And another over there; They will take you all around and give you a boom And inform you that Roseburg will be a Chicago soon.

All the talk is new railroad, that is coming here soon, Alexander's new bridge will give us a boom; Don't stand back and call him a knave He's come from afar to be your slave; Go buy a piece of land, he'll treat you all right, And 'twill be considered that you've joined in the fight.

Mr. Burchard has come from away, And from the loks of the man he has come to stay; So boys, let the "icy billows" roll fast, They'll soon roll by and be a thing of the past; Buy their new land and build us a town, And let them put in their park a "merry go round." Don't be a knocker. REV. C. C. HUGHES.
