Street Fighting Resumed Again this Morning

3000 SPECIAL POLICEMEN

Plan of Rapid Transit Company to Operate Cars With Non-Union Men Precipitates Fight—Fifty in Hospital.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—The street car strike is assuming alarming proportions this morning and every man on the regular police force was called out for duty. An enrollment of 3,000 special officers to assist in preserving order gives the city the appearance of a beleaguered garrison. Street fighting was resumed at daybreak this morning, following an attempt of the Rapid Transit company to operate its cars with non-union men. Scores of workmen in the outlying districts opened an attack on the cars as they left the barns, and the police and specials were kept busy breaking up incipient riots. So far this morning the conflict between the strikers and the police have not been very serious, display of force usually deterring the crowd from acts of violence. The company made no attempt to operate the cars during the night, but confined its efforts to preparing for the conflict that seemed inevitable today when the cars should start. A great many strike breakers were brought to the city and lodged in the various car barns yesterday and last night. These men are under the protection of the special police. As a result of Sunday's rioting and street fight last night, at least twenty policemen and thirty citizens are in the hospitals. A number of the wounded are badly hurt, but so far no one has been killed. Two hundred and ninety-seven cars have been burned by the strikers. The riots of yesterday were renewed this morning more vigorously, perhaps, than before, and this afternoon a bloody affray between the police and the rioters occurred when a mob of union sympathizers attempted to lynch a non-union motorman. The motorman and conductor of the car were rescued by the police after a thrilling encounter, and the former is in a critical condition and was apparently dying when taken from the hands of the mob. A noose had been placed around the man's neck and the crowd was intent on executing him, and perhaps would have succeeded but for the arrival of the mounted police, who rode at full speed into the mob. In this spectacular charge 40 of the rioters were so badly hurt that they were taken to the hospitals for care, and beside the injured twenty of the mob were placed under arrest. Nearly every car that has started today has been wrecked, and the guards have been powerless to prevent the wholesale destruction of property.

At the age of 14 years he was apprenticed to learn the printing trade in the town of Canandaigua, New York, serving from 1841 to 1847. Mr. Smith was married to Miss Nancy Price, of Polk county, April 10, 1851, and later of the same year settled on their donation land claim in Douglas county, where with his family he resided until two years ago, when they retired from farm life and came to Roseburg to make their home. Mr. Smith leaves a loving wife and four children to mourn his departure—Mrs. B. Bleckford, of Newport, Ore.; Mr. H. V. Smith, of Portland, Ore.; Miss Stella Smith and Grant Smith, of Roseburg. Two children, Mrs. Anna Osler and Albert Smith preceded their father to the Great Beyond. C. W. Smith is one of God's own men.
