BOOST STATE FAIR.
 Banker J. H. Booth Will Tour Western Oregon Soon.

Salem Statesman: Henry Booth, of Roseburg, president of the Oregon State Board of Agriculture, is about to begin a two-weeks' scouting trip through the western counties of Oregon for the purpose of arousing interest in the state fair this fall. He will cover the Rogue River, the Umpqua, the Willamette River valleys thoroughly, and will include the northern fringe of the counties as far east as Wasco county on his present tour.

Most of the counties have already promised to send elaborate exhibits of the products and resources of their district to the exposition, so that President Booth expects that most of his efforts will be devoted to securing as extensive a display as possible rather than in inducing the various sections of the state to take part.

"We are confident that we shall have a state fair this year much superior to any that has been held in the past," said President Booth. "We are getting started earlier; we are having more encouragement in our efforts from the livestock interests and horsemen of the coast than we have had formerly. The purses and stakes for the races which will be held each day during the week will aggregate something like $15,000. In addition to this the state board of agriculture will hang up $18,000 in livestock premiums.

"There never has been a time when so much interest has been aroused in the livestock industry in this state and, for that matter, throughout the entire Northwest, as there has been this year. The high prices of all classes of stuff, the fact that Portland is now the recognized center of the livestock industry of the Pacific Northwest, if not on the entire Pacific coast, is having a remarkable effect as a stimulus to this line of endeavor."

The state fair promoters have had nearly twice as many inquiries about dates, entries, purses, premiums, classifications, etc., from distant points this year than were received last year. Arrangements have been made whereby practically all the campaigning staff—harness, races and livestock—of California will be entered at the Portland fair in spite of the fact that there will probably be a conflict in dates with the California state fair at Sacramento. California is making a most strenuous effort to get eastern turf performers and noted livestock raisers and importers to cover the Pacific coast circuit this year, and there is pretty good reason to believe that they will be successful.

In years past Sacramento, Salem and Portland have drawn heavily upon Western Canada and Middle West states for support in race meets and livestock exhibitions, but this year the horizon is to be broadened.

Ringling Circus stampeded here today.
 As the pachyderms were being unloaded after several hours' ride from Chicago, one of the bulls made a break for liberty, bowled over the keeper and escaped. He was followed by seven bulls. Later, while the entire force of trainers and keepers were engaged in the unusual sport of hunting elephants in automobiles the female escaped.
 For several hours the elephants were at large. The entire force of police reserves were called into action and gave chase.

SOCIALIST PICNIC.
 The Socialists of Roseburg and vicinity will hold a basket picnic in Nachter's grove, West Roseburg, next Sunday, May 1—the Socialist International Labor Day—and working men and women and their children are invited to come and enjoy the day with us. Don't forget to bring your baskets well filled, and be sure to bring the children.
