BOOTH DECLINES.

R. A. Booth Will Not Accept Nomination.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 20.—R. A. Booth, of Eugene, ex-State Senator and for many years active in State Republican politics, has announced that he will not allow his name to be used in connection with the nomination for governor. Many of Mr. Booth's friends have been urging him to make the race.

E. L. Smith, of Hood River, who was a candidate for United States Senator in 1906, is now being mentioned as a possible candidate. Owing to the fact that the assembly idea originated in Portland and because of a disposition on the part of outside county leaders to believe that it is to be operated in the interests of Portland candidates, there is a strong local sentiment in favor of an out-of-town man being endorsed by the State Assembly when it meets July 21.

Officers of the state central committee, however, are taking great care to keep entirely out of such matters. "The only object we have is making the assembly a success," said an officer yesterday.

C. F. Watson, D. C. Smith and C. D. Talcott, all of Glendale, are in the city today on business.

WALK WITH EASE.

Dr. Manns, the Chiropractor and Foot Specialist has come to town prepared to remove corns, bunions, ingrowing toe nails. I have the only bunion cure in the world without surgical operation.

Little Essay of Humane Interest About Corns.

Corns were discovered by Ivar Cornwallis at Cornwall in 1738. Corns are composed of fibrous balls, red pepper, toothache, rheumatism, volcanic, nervousness, heartburn and emonoma all piled up and jammed together with a pile-driver. A corn is a second cousin to the appendix. There are too many of such things. They should be cut out, but Dr. Manns don't cut them out, he removes them without blood or pain, no bad results. Corns are an abomination and a burning shame. They will drive a woman to the Chiropractor and a man to drink. They will drive a man crazy if he has any other troubles; they will drive a four-horse team if they are sore and irritated. Free consultation—All work guaranteed. Office 226 W. # ANGELA MAY

COMIC OPERA STAR

WILL ARRIVE ON TIME

AND WILL APPEAR AT THE
Novelty Theatre
One Week Only Commencing Sunday
MAY 22

Giving her famous Song Features and Imitations of
Anna Held and Edna Wallace Hopper
Wearing the "Directoire" and Paris
Gown Creations

Special pictures will be shown during this engagement, with a change of songs, costumes and pictures nightly

Angela May, the comic opera contralto who left Boise, Idaho, on Monday April 19, on her interstate tour will arrive here Sunday, May 22. This is the first tour of any professional singer on the coast, and the novelty of it has brought thousands to see and hear the singer at each theatre in the many towns stopped at on the trip.

Manager Nudelman engaged the singer on her departure from Boise and though it is an expensive proposition, he feels it will pay well to present such an attraction to his patrons. Angela May is one of the youngest opera contraltos and has sung herself into the hearts of the lovers of song from coast to coast.

This "Overland" interstate trip was taken by her, as she says, "just to see the country that is to me best of all, and to fill in the time before my engagement in Portland in June." Angela May will be heard here Sunday, May 22, and during the following week at the Novelty Theatre.

PROGRAMME

SUNDAY AND MONDAY.

Angela May, comic opera star, imitating Anna Held and Edna Wallace-Hopper.

J. Louis MacEvoy and Angela May in the comic opera sketch, "A Baby Grand."

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Angela May, as the "Colonial Girl in Costume," singing "Ye Olden Songs," "Songs My Mother Used to Sing."

J. Louis MacEvoy, "Talkologist," "If It Hurts You to Laugh, Don't Listen."

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Angela May in song, featuring—"The Gypsy Song from the Fortune Teller and "Song of the Cigarette." J. Louis MacEvoy and Angela May, Comic Sketch, "What the Papers Say," "A Local Scream."

LOCAL NEWS.

Frederick L. Wright, of St. Louis, Missouri, arrived here this morning to spend about ten days looking after timber lands which he owns in this locality. He says that both him and his wife will return here later in the summer to enjoy a brief outing.

Klamath Falls Herald: The distinguished divine of Ashland, Rev. E. H. Hicks, who lectured at the Baptist church Tuesday evening preached in that church last night. These who heard him declare him to be the most eloquent speaker they have heard in Klamath Falls. He held his audience spell-bound from start to finish. His subject was, "Paddle Your Own Canoe." Aligned with his most humorous illustrations, which convinced the audience with laughter, including stories of the Sunny South and dialect descriptions from the German and Irish, he placed his audience in the most attentive mood for receiving the earnest words of encouragement to faithful and hopefully fight the battle of life. He inspires every hearer to throw away all doubt and timidity and renew the effort to not only win in this life, but prepare for the greater life to come. Such eloquence and logic is rarely heard and the Baptist church and their friends and visitors are to be congratulated upon having the visit from the distinguished divine from the Rogue River.

MEDFORD DINES HILL.

Party Declines All Invitations Enroute North.

MEDFORD, Ore., May 20.—A journey of 91 miles was taken by Louis W. Hill and party through the orchards of the Rogue River Valley today and tonight the president of the Great Northern road was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Medford citizens.

Special effort at decorating the dining room at the hotel was made by the women of Medford and there was a great profusion of roses that had been grown in the valley.

When informed here yesterday and today that President Allen of the Pacific & Eastern, now known as a Hill road, had been securing right-of-way at Ashland and other points in the valley, Mr. Hill expressed surprise and said it was the first he had heard of it.

He promised Ashland citizens to let them know later whether the Great Northern was interested or was a private enterprise of Mr. Allen.

For the balance of the journey by automobile to Portland, Mr. Hill has declined invitations to banquets and side trips and other entertainments. Business matters are demanding his attention in St. Paul and he will proceed rapidly to Portland, seeing as much of the country as possible while following the main routes. It is expected that Portland will be reached Monday evening.

LOCAL NEWS.

Co. D., O. N. G. will march to the top of Mt. Nebo Monday evening and remain all night to view Halley's comet and the eclipses of the moon. Bon fires will be kept burning all night and regular guard duty observed. Any one not connected with the militia who wishes to enjoy the night will be welcome to join the company.

Oscar Houser and Guy Ingram returned today from Steamboat, on the North Umpqua, about 50 miles from this city. They came down to bring Hanger Hill, who was taken ill in the mountains and left the patient at the home of G. C. Brown, on Deer Creek, a brother-in-law of Mr. Hill, and medical aid was summoned from here. It is thought the young man's illness is due to poisoning caused from eating canned meat.
