TWENTY-FIVE DOLLAR PRESENT.

Advertisements in the News Should be Studied Carefully.

The "Knowledge Competition," of which notice has been given heretofore, will appear Monday.

Have your "thinking caps" ready to clap on the first thing, as the prizes will go to those readers who first have in correct answers to the questions that will be asked.

There will appear a series of paragraphs descriptive of various business houses and firms, but no names will be given. It will be the task of our readers to tell in each instance the name of the firm or establishment to which reference is made.

Twenty-five dollars in prizes are going to be given away to the people who demonstrate the superiority of their knowledge about Roseburg business firms. This can be gained by familiarity with advertisements that are printed in the News from day to day, and that can be gained only by studying them. For this reason contestants should prepare themselves before the competition begins. Since time is an essential in this project, though not always in the race to the swift, it will be well for those who expect to compete for the prizes to get busy and post themselves thoroughly.

All the curiosity that mankind is heir to is not wrapped up in the anatomy of the fair sex. The "Knowledge Competition" has the men as good as well as the women and children.

Look out for next Monday.

DREW ITEMS.

Crater Lake Road by Way of Drew in Good Condition.

The streets of Drew present a very lively appearance these days.

Miss Mary Palmer, of Kansas City, spent Sunday visiting at Drew.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kirkpatrick went to Perdue, Saturday, to attend to business matters, and returned Sunday.

Mr. B. O. McGee and brother W. M. McGee, and W. L. Franham, timber men from Seattle, are camping at Drew, looking over the timber of Douglas county.

R. W. Thomason, a mining man, was in Drew Sunday.

The roads are so much improved that automobiles are seen passing through Drew on their way to Crater Lake. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cawfield and Mr. and Mrs. Applegate, of Roseburg, passed through Drew one day last week in their auto. They pitched their tent at the popular Drew camping ground, spent the evening taking everybody out for a drive in their machine.

The swimming tank at Drew has been in great demand during the late hot weather. Many people enjoy the pleasures of raft riding on Elk creek during the moonlight evenings.

Mr. James Richards received a message from Roseburg that his son was seriously ill, and he left for Roseburg last Wednesday evening.

Mr. Charlie Cantile, the Drew packer, made his regular trip to the Rainbow, Coffee creek and Red Cloud mines, last Saturday with a large train of pack animals.

Miss Julia Hinkle, of San Francisco, is spending a short vacation at Drew visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Short.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Troxel and children, of Roseburg, are visiting Mrs. Troxel's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zachary, and family, of Drew.

Mrs. J. H. Short has been made notary public.

HOBBLE SKIRTS.

The Paris hobble skirt has appeared in a few cases on the streets of Salt Lake City. It makes ladies appear something like closely blanketed race horses after a fiery trial on the track. If it would not be impertinent, we would advise such ladies, to further imitate the case of the horsemen—have their lower limbs bandaged, so that they may bear the strain, and not swell.

The human race seems as difficult to manage as the horse race. But who knows? Anything out of the ordinary shocks old duffers. When Commodore Perry and his staff and marines, in full uniform, landed in Yokohama and with band playing, started up the street, every dog in the city howled at the innovation.

What creatures of habit we are.—Goodwin's Weekly.
