Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, state president of Georgia W. C. T. U. will speak in the Armory, Tuesday evening, Oct. 11.

"The Spirit of Idaho" by Arthur W. North, "Greater Than Gold" (The harnessing of Western Rivers) by Clayton M. Jones. In October Sunset Magazine. Now on sale at all news-stands. 15 cents.

More than 4,000 people last night heard Mrs. Mary Harris Armor deliver the most terrific arraignment of the liquor traffic that was ever heard in Nashville, Tenn., her unanswerable logic, keen biting satire, scathing denunciation, fire and vigor is unequalled.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitney, of Boise, Idaho, and Mrs. G. W. Gill, of Salem, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pengra in this city left for their respective homes yesterday. Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Gill are sisters of Mrs. Pengra.

Hon. B. L. Eddy, of the law firm of Brown & Eddy, delivered an address at the Presbyterian church at Myrtle Creek, last evening in which he pointed out the fallacies of the so-called Home Rule bill which measures come before the attention of the voters at the November election.

The Standard Ladies' Tailoring Company, of Chicago have placed their large line of samples for fall and winter with Mrs. J. E. Sawyer, 454 East ave. Anyone wishing a highly tailored street suit, coat, skirt or dress should call and inspect this line of samples.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia, moved the Philadelphia Conference, a tabernacle church, to the whole hearted furoe today. The scene was unprecedented in the more than a century's history of the body. Staid ministry was reduced to tears, then aroused to paroxysms of cheering, the cheers being delivered standing and to an accompaniment of the chauntauqua salute. The scene was capped by the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee"—The Evening Telegraph, Philadelphia, March 21, 1908.

Consternation prevailed in the vicinity of the court house shortly after noon yesterday, when pedestrians who chanced to be in the vicinity detected Sheriff Fenton in pursuit of a negro, who, from appearances, was making a deliberate break for liberty. The negro outdistanced the sheriff, however, and ran toward the corner of Douglas and Jackson streets where he was taken in tow by friends and escorted to his home. Investigation as to the cause of the wild flight revealed the fact that the negro, a local barber, visited the sheriff's office for the purpose of telling the inmates what he thought of the outfit. Sheriff Fenton resented the fellow's remarks, and an altercation ensued with the result that the negro is said to have called Fenton a liar or some other unbecoming name. As if to eat the negro alive, the sheriff made after him, but to no avail. Mr. "Coon" saw him coming and took to his heels. The race was very exciting, and witnesses vouch for the fact that the negro is a sprinter of no little ability.

Wiley Pilkington, a local blacksmith, has returned from Portland where he spent several days looking after business interests.

"I was manager of local option fight in Lowndes county, Ga., in 1907. We had many able and eloquent speakers. Mrs. Armor in my opinion, was the most effective of them all. While we had 'Cyclone Davis', Mrs. Armor was so eloquent and so nearly took things by storm, that I introduced her after her first speech as Mrs. 'Tornado'. She is earnest, eloquent and powerful." O. M. Smith, judge of city court.

Suddenly attacked with dementia, a stranger giving his name as William Booth, and his residence as Great Falls, Mont., attempted to jump from the vestibule of the north-bound passenger train No. 14, near Leland, at a late hour Saturday night. Fortunately, passengers noticed Booth's peculiar pranks and he was restrained until the train reached Glendale where he was taken in charge of Deputy Sheriff Mortenson, who accompanied him to this city. He is now confined at the city jail awaiting disposition at the hands of the officers. Booth is well dressed and carries a suitcase containing numerous letters and papers which tend to show that he is of a highly respectable family. He had a small sum of money on his person when taken in custody by the officer as well as a railroad ticket from a California point to Portland, Oregon. He also has a baggage check for a trunk in his possession. According to the officers, Booth is suffering from dementia, and this theory is partly substantiated in letters from relatives found on his person which refer to his illness in many instances. The young man will probably be held until relatives at Kansas City, Mo., and Canyon City, Colo., can be notified. It is the belief of the authorities that they will have him returned to his home state and thus avoid his incarceration in the state asylum.

DEFECTIVE LAND TITLES.

Are in many cases caused by carelessness on part of conveyancer or scrivener in properly describing the land and showing the names of parties to conveyance correctly, but in most cases the fault is with the owner, who is too prone to think his title is infallible as long as he has a warranty deed. Many persons have thus lost thousands of dollars in law suits, when a few dollars could have saved them great loss and expense. "Know thy land as well as thyself", an eminent attorney once said, you can do so by having an abstract of your title made by us. Our abstract plant is the most complete in the state of Oregon. We own the only abstract records in Douglas county, without which a reliable abstract cannot be made.

The case of A. L. Kitchen vs The Oregon Nursery Co., an action to recover damages, was thrown out of the local circuit court Saturday afternoon by Judge Coke, on the grounds that the cause of action did not originate in this county. The case should have been filed, according to Judge Coke, at Hillsboro.

Rev. J. E. Burkhardt, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Roseburg, received a telephone message from the pastor at Ashland saying Mrs. Mary Harris Armor delivered an address there Sunday afternoon to fifteen hundred people. He said Mrs. Armor was the best lady speaker he had ever heard and wished the people of Roseburg to know she was great; hear her at the Armory Tuesday evening, Oct. 11.

George Quine, republican candidate for sheriff of Douglas county, left for his home at Riddle yesterday morning after spending a couple of days with friends. Mr. Quine is very popular throughout Douglas county, and in years past was considered a most fearless officer. His candidacy for sheriff of Douglas county at this time is greatly appreciated, and that he will have the support of a majority of the voters in November goes without saying.

Attorney George Neuner, candidate for representative; Judge J. C. Fullerton, candidate for county judge, and Will Emory, candidate for county clerk, returned from Drain yesterday morning after spending the previous afternoon at that city enjoying the horse show. The gentlemen speak in high terms of what they saw, and pronounce the citizens of Drain and vicinity entertainers of great ability. As one of the gentlemen said: "The people of Drain can certainly give you a good time and they don't make a fuss about it either."

Among the candidates at the recent primary election who have filed their expense accounts with the county clerk during the past couple of days are the following: R. A. Hercher, republican nominee for justice of the peace for Civil Bend precinct, no money expended; N. T. Jewett, republican candidate for coroner, six cents expended; F. L. Beard, primary democratic candidate for sheriff, $51.75 expended; W. F. Thiel, democratic candidate for county surveyor, no money expended; George K. Quine, republican candidate for sheriff, $2.50 expended.

HOME RULE SPEECH.

Hon. D. S. Rose, ex Mayor of Milwaukee, Wis., and one of the most widely known and best posted advocates of Home Rule and Regulated Liquor Traffic in the United States, a man of broad views and wide experiences, will speak to the voters of Douglas county on Monday evening at the Elks Temple at eight o'clock in the evening—Monday evening, October 10th, eight o'clock. He will discuss Home Rule in all its various phases and it will be well worth your time and effort to hear what he has to say, as there is now an opportunity to hear the Home Rule side of the argument. Every voter in Douglas county is requested to be present and avail himself of the opportunity to become posted in this matter.

The prohibition "sandwich" man was on the streets today and attracted considerable attention. He is working in the interests of statewide prohibition, traveling from city to city and handing out literature.

Investigation of the personal effects of William Booth, the demented individual who is confined in the city jail awaiting disposition at the hands of the local authorities, revealed traveler's checks, drawn on the First National Bank, of Great Falls, Mont., in the sum of $400, inasmuch as the officers believe Booth to be of a well-to-do family a message was dispatched to Great Falls this morning informing them of the young man's unfortunate condition. It is thought that they will send for him that he may be returned to his home and thus avoid detention in the Oregon asylum for the insane.

David S. Rose, former Mayor of Milwaukee, Wis., and at present engaged in delivering addresses in favor of the "Greater Oregon Home Rule Bill" arrived in Roseburg this morning and is registered at the McChallen hotel. Mr. Rose stated this afternoon that he was much surprised with the progress and prosperity so evident in all parts of Oregon, and believed that the state is destined to become of the greatest in the Union. He says the people look prosperous, and that the country is famous for its resources. The gentleman says that he expects to spend some time in Oregon at a later date enjoying the beautiful climate and other pleasures that abound in this section. Mr. Rose is a pleasant gentleman to meet and does not appear a man of great dignity as his former public position would suggest.

What is without doubt the grandest display of I. O. O. F. emblems ever viewed in this section of the state are now in the possession of Attorney F. G. McCell, who recently returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the Sovereign Grand Lodge, as a delegate from the Oregon Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. The emblems are varied and most attractive and each has a distinction of its own. While at Atlanta the delegates exchanged badges and emblems, and Mr. McCell, like a few others, succeeded in obtaining an emblem from every state in the Union as well as from other countries, including Mexico, Canada and Alaska. Always anxious to aid the local orders of which he is a member, Mr. McCell has made arrangements for a neat and attractive cabinet and as soon as the same is completed, the badges will be arranged therein, and will be presented to the Camp, I. O. O. F. One peculiarity noticeable in the several emblems or souvenirs is that the Odd Fellows of each state and country attempted to get up something original and clearly distinctive. For instance, the Odd Fellows of Wisconsin, the Beaver state, exchanged badges to which is affixed the resemblance of a beaver, while Oregon's Odd Fellows displayed the big red apple. Mr. McCell also brought home a number of flags, emblems of Canada and other distant countries. He says that the original cost of his exhibit is not less than $350, and no amount of money could purchase it, so valuable is it prized by its owner.
