

GOODING IS PRESIDENT

Elected By Wool Growers in Convention Today

AVIATION MEETING A SUCCESS

Funeral of the Late United States Senator Elkins Is Held at Elkins, W. Va. Today—Wife Is Prostrated.

(Special to Evening News.)
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 7.—Frank Gooding, brother of the retiring president, Fred Gooding, was elected president of the National Wool Growers' Association today. Mr. Gooding is a resident of Idaho, and for many years past has taken a great interest in the advancement of the wool industry. George Austin was elected Western Vice-President, and R. J. Knowlin, Eastern Vice-President.

It is expected that a resolution will be adopted late this afternoon demanding retention of the tariff on raw wools and the endorsement of the creation of a tariff commission with a view of taking the tariff question out of politics.

It is almost certain that the next convention of the organization will be held at Omaha.

Aviation Meet is On.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 7.—Novices are engaged in eliminating contests to determine entries for the half-mile novice race for a cash prize of $1,000, is the feature of the International Aviation Meeting held in San Francisco today. Fifteen types of aeroplanes are participating.

Use Native Troops.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The United States would have to depend on native troops to protect the Philippines should an emergency arise, according to the annual report of Brigadier-General Pershing, commander of the department of Mindanao. He says the natives will respond loyally. Pershing suggests that native scouts be used as a nucleus for the creation of the native standing army.

Funeral Is Held.

ELKINS, W. Va., Jan. 7.—A simple ceremony marked the funeral of the late Senator Elkins held here today. Mrs. Elkins, who is prostrated with grief was unable to attend the funeral and remained at home under the care of physicians. The train from Washington arrived at 8:30 o'clock, and the casket in which the remains were deposited was gently carried to the Davis Presbyterian church where brief services were held. Interment followed at the Maplewood cemetery.

Makes Another Bluff.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7.—Commander Peary today told the story of discovering the North Pole in the presence of the house committee on naval affairs. Flungering a greasy memorandum book filled with cawley data, the commander attempted to show them that he was the real discoverer of the pole, and that Dr. Cook's statements were false. All documents upon which the geographical society based their decisions have been submitted to the inspection of the congressmen who are striving to determine whether Peary is entitled to congressional recognition. Peary says he remained for thirty hours at the pole.

J. W. Johnson, (unknown), of Seattle, Wash., dropped into town this morning, and has posted a challenge to wrestle the winner of Monday evening's bout at the Armory, when Carl Busch and Edward Hamlin will meet on the mat. Johnson weighs 160 pounds, and claims that he is "there" when it comes to the art of wrestling. It is almost certain that his challenge will be accepted in the event he comes to satisfactory terms.

Sheriff George Quine arrived home for Medford this afternoon with Thomas Meaks, who was arrested at that city yesterday morning on a charge of jumping a board bill in the sum of $40 at the Collins boarding house, on Main street. Sheriff Quine believes that Meaks is a sort of a bad individual, and consequently he intends to institute an investigation in hope of ascertaining his past record. During his residence in Roseburg the prisoner was employed as a laborer, and it was learned that aside from jumping his board bill he issued several fictitious orders through which he secured a quantity of goods from local mercantile establishments. Prior to going to Medford Sheriff Quine entertained the belief that Meaks was the party who forged a check upon Louis Kohlhaugen, but in this he was mistaken. When taken in custody by the sheriff, Meaks said that he had intended to return to Roseburg and square his accounts, intimating that he would leave Medford enroute here today. These statements had little effect upon Mr. Quine, however, and the fellow will probably be compelled to face the crime charged without ceremony.

SEATTLE PLUMBER IS INJURED

Several Hundred Men Combing Woods for Another Thug Named Lowe—Robinson Confesses When Arrested.

(Special to Evening News.)
BELLINGHAM, Wash., Jan. 7.—Charles Robinson (mulatto), who shot and killed W. R. Stevenson last Thursday, is dying in a hospital at Sedro Woolley.

Stevenson was killed Thursday evening, when Robinson and a pal named Bert Lowe engaged in a pistol duel with Justice of the Peace Galbraith, as the latter was attempting their arrest upon a charge of burglary.

A posse comprised of several hundred men are now scouring the mountains in Skagit county for Lowe. As the result of mistaken identity, L. K. Hym, a Seattle plumber, was shot through the stomach last night while beating his way on a train, by Deputy Sheriff Gabriel, who in company with others, was hunting for Lowe. The injured man is now confined at St. Joseph's hospital, and the attending physicians are hopeful that he will recover. Robinson, when arrested, confessed that he was engaged in the pistol duel. He was found in a lodging house at Sedro Woolley, and made no attempt to resist arrest.

Trust Company Closed.

NE WYORK, Jan. 7.—The Carnegie Trust Company's offices were closed here today by State Bank Commissioner Cheney. The company secured its charter in 1907, and according to the terms of the incorporation, had a paid up capital stock of $1,000,000. Cheney assumed control of the offices upon the grounds that the business was unsafe. The surplus of the company is estimated at $500,000, while the gross deposits amount to something over $8,000,000. J. T. Powell is president of the concern, and for some time past has acted as general manager.

ONE-SIDED EXHIBITION.

Of Basketball Played at Armory Hall Last Night.

A sort of a one-sided, but yet interesting exhibition of basketball was played at the armory last evening, when the Eugene and Roseburg high school teams met in a matched game. At the conclusion of the game the score stood 48 to 24 in favor of the visitors. According to those who witnessed the exhibition the Roseburg boys were outclassed, and were utterly unable to combat the excellent team work displayed by their opponents.

Following is the line-up of the opposing teams:
Roseburg C. Blakeley, F. Hidden, C. Black, F. Harlow, B. Palm, C. Coke, G. Hamlin, G. Hill, V. Blakeley, G. Debar.

In the preliminary game in which the second high school team and the Roseburg, proper, aggregation, opposed, the former team won by a score of 20 to 10.

The feature of the game was the excellent work of Coke, of the Eugene team, who scored 14 baskets. The games were witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

THE ARMORY IN VERSE.

(Written for the dedication of the new armory at Albany, Oregon, January 4, 1911.)
On this very spot there stood a church
For you these many years,
And for peace on earth there has been shed
A wash-tub full of tears.
The words of the lowly Nazarine
Must linger round here still,
As well as the command of God himself,
"Beware, thou shalt not kill."
For two thousand years these blessed words
To mankind have been taught,
During all this time for sake of gold
Many battles have been fought.
Brothers against brothers have been matched
That others, wealth might gain;
And they got thirteen dollars per month
With all the ache and pain.
No, you never see a plute out there,
When lead comes thick and fast,
And of all the men that do enlist
The plute is sure the last.
But when they want some markets new
Because hings get dull and lag,
They say, "To arms, you patriots!
Come rally round the flag!
"Come whip some other nation weak,
So we can get their gold,
That we can have the profits large
While you lie dead and cold."
For all this we've built an armory
Right on this very spot
Where stood that little church so long;
Is this just rich or not?
To train the boys to shoot and kill
And answer the command
Of officers with hearts ice cold
And heads filled up with brand.
What would your God then say to this
On dedication day,
When big brass buttons are on parade
And we've the bills to pay?
Then look down, down, deep into your heart,
Do you obey God's will,
By putting muskets in our boys' hands?
God says, "Thou shalt not kill!"
