NEW DIRECTORY OUT. Polk's Oregon and Washington State Gazetteer and Business Directory.

Just issued for 1911-12 is the most complete work of the kind published. It contains an accurate business directory of every city, town and village in Oregon and Washington, and the names and addresses of country merchants and professional men, lumbermen, etc., who are located adjacent to villages; also lists of government and county officers, commissioners of deeds, state boards, statutory provisions, terms of courts, names of the postmasters, postoffices, express, telephone and telegraph offices, justices of the peace, hotels, daily and weekly newspapers, besides other information useful to all classes of business and professional men. A descriptive sketch of each place is given, embracing various items of interest, such as the location, population, the most convenient shipping stations, the products that are marketed, stage communications, trade statistics, the nearest bank location, mineral interests, churches, schools, libraries and societies. An important feature is the classified directory, giving every business arranged under its special heading, thus enabling subscribers to obtain at a glance a list of all houses manufacturing or dealing in any particular line of goods. The work generally is compiled to meet the wants of the business community and in so thorough as to deserve their liberal patronage. Price $3.00. R. L. Polk & Co., Seattle, Wash.

JOAQUIN MILLER ILL.

Poet of the Sierras in a Critical Condition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—In Fabiola hospital, Oakland, babbling of strange things, lies 70-year-old Joaquin Miller, the "poet of the Sierras." He was taken to the hospital today from his home, on the heights above Oakland, where he has lived for 29 years. Miller caught a severe cold recently while walking over muddy roads to attend a lecture at Oakland, and the doctors say he is suffering from a nervous breakdown that is no trifling matter at his age. A message was sent to his brother at Portland to hurry here, as the physicians do not believe he will recover. Tonight he was reported as delirious and in a high fever.

Miller has made his home on the heights back of Oakland from which he had a clear view of all of San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate. His home includes about 50 acres, and he has built a dozen small houses in which he entertains friends. One house is his own castle, another is the kitchen and the third his dining room. Many distinguished American tourists pay visits to Joaquin Miller's home, where the poet always entertains them in hospitable style.

HOOKWORM SAVED UNION.

Dr. Stiles says that half of the population of the South is afflicted with the "hookworm" otherwise the lax bug, which is also known among the erudite by a Latin name of difficult orthography and cryptic meaning. If this is true, it is plain that the hookworm, and not the patriots who fought beneath the Union flag, saved the Union. Historians are equally with journalists in the matter of inaccuracy and narrative-warping prejudice. They disagree upon many points in reporting the civil war. They agree, however, upon the fact that the North was numerically stronger than the South, and that the Southern soldier's insatiable appetite for debating the question at issue until the number of perforations in his anatomy precluded the possibility of his remaining in the ring caused a prolongation of the "rebellion" that was wholly unlooked for by the North when its sons girded up their loins and set about the task of convincing the recalcitrants of the error of their position and the folly of attempting to maintain it.

It would be extremely interesting to know just how many degrees of heat would have been added to the affirmative side of the question "Have states the right to secede?" If the hookworm had not permeated the chivalry of the South and given "Mussa Linkum's boys" the tremen-

ORDER YOUR SPRING SUIT.

Now is the time to place your order for a tailored spring suit from the well line of samples carried by G. W. Sloper, the cleaner and presser, next door to the Palace theatre. All suits guaranteed to fit perfectly and the workmanship the best in every respect. Call and inspect the beautiful line of samples now on display. Felt and Panama hats also cleaned and blocked.

Advantage of being unhandicapped by inertia traceable to the ravages of a specific micro-organism. Even as matters stood, the discussion that occurred between Sampier and Appomattox was characterized by considerable sprightliness. It utilizes the imagination to attempt to picture the brightness it might have had but for the hookworm's supremacy below the Mason and Dixon line.

May we venture to suggest that a niche in statutory hall should be reserved for a heroic statute of the hookworm and a tablet with his Latin name and vulgar popular appellations cut deeply in its face above an acknowledgment in high relief giving credit where credit is due for the preservation of our glorious Union and the striking of the shackles from the hands of 4,000,000 human beings wrongfully enslaved.

When the doctor is summoned to the farm it is generally in an emergency case.

Often it is a matter of life or death.

A member of the family has been stricken with sudden illness or an accident has occurred.

Every minute's delay reduces the chances of recovery.

It is then that the Bell Telephone is "worth it's weight in gold" to the anxious farmer.

It pays for itself then and there.
