ROSEBURG SUPPORTS PLAN.

Movement to Build Auditorium in Portland Is Indorsed. Oregonian: Postmaster Merrick, acting chairman of the auditorium committee, received from Robert E. Smith, president of the Roseburg Commercial Club, Thursday a telegram offering to Portland Roseburg's support in the effort to secure an auditorium. The telegram reads: "Roseburg citizens hope Portland will build a city auditorium, as we propose to build a National Strawberry and Rose show in Portland as soon as it is open. Five thousand Roseburg citizens will attend to help make it a success."

Roseburg is the first outside town to offer its support to the auditorium. The committee, composed of Mr. Merrick, R. W. Raymond and C. A. Whitmore, will open headquarters today in room 925 of the Yeon building. They will retain this office until after the election. Forty prominent Portland men have volunteered to speak in favor of the auditorium. A model of the St. Paul auditorium has been secured from the patent office and will be exhibited. The St. Paul auditorium holds 12,000 persons.

BORN. HOLLISS.—To Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hollis, of Dixonville, on Saturday, May 13, a daughter.

Covalla Gazette-Times: A Douglas county delegation of strangers is here working like Trojans to land the next year's convention for Roseburg. C. H. Bailey, W. E. Hodges, W. T. Emery and wife and T. L. Lee compose this aggregation and they have been making a noise like a cyclone. Every delegate has been untold and given the most strenuous talk possible, with the result that Roseburg looms high on the horizon as a prospect for the 19th annual. Lee is a deputy organizer at Douglas and a hustler. He has some strong people with him, and they will go or die.

CIRCUIT COURT

Convenes in Adjourned Session Last Evening:

JUDGE HARRIS IS ON BENCH

Large Number of Cases Are Either Continued or Dismissed—Several Prisoners Arraigned On Various Charges.

The circuit court for Douglas county convened in an adjourned session of the January term last evening, at which time various matters of an important nature were considered. In the absence of Judge J. W. Hamilton, who is confined at his home with illness, Judge Harris, of Eugene, presided. Following the return of an indictment by the grand jury charging him with the crime of larceny, Harry Tracy was arraigned in court and entered a plea of not guilty. Questioned, Tracy admitted that he lived in Roseburg under an assumed title, and that his real name was Harry Gumbart. Being without funds with which to employ counsel, Judge Harris appointed Attorney John T. Long to act in his behalf. Tracy, or Gumbart, was arrested at Vancouver, Wash., about two weeks ago on a charge of stealing a horse and saddle from the Banks & Weiger livery stables in this city. At the time he stole the animal, Tracy left for the south, and about ten days later located in the vicinity of Ashland where he sold the horse to a farmer. Before the officers could effect an arrest, however, he left that section of the state and eventually drifted into California where he enlisted in the United States army. Later, he was transferred to the barracks, at Vancouver, Wash., where he was arrested by Constable Jarvis, who was sent after him from this city. Tracy appeared in court this morning dressed in army uniform, and appeared little affected by the proceedings. Tracy will be tried Monday morning before a jury.

Carl Busch, who was arrested in Roseburg about three months ago accused of adultery, failed to appear in court this morning when called, and consequently his bail in the sum of $250 was forfeited. Andy Bestal and Sam Rast are named as the bondsmen. Busch was arrested upon complaint of Mrs. Montzomery, with whom he was traveling through the country. Busch is known in Roseburg and vicinity as the "German wrestler."

William Jones, who was recently arrested at Cottage Grove accused of stealing a horse from the T. J. Moulty stables, at Oakland, was arraigned in the circuit court this morning and entered a plea of guilty. In order that he might learn of his fate without delay, Jones waived the usual delay of six hours as provided by statute, and asked that sentence be pronounced at once. Attorney George Neuner, who acted in Jones' behalf at the preliminary hearing, addressed the court briefly. He said that the prisoner was an aged man and that he had previously enjoyed a good reputation, and for that reason he asked the court to be as lenient as possible. After brief deliberation Judge Harris sentenced the prisoner to a term of one year in the state penitentiary.

Frank Kelly and James Stanley, who were arrested about six weeks ago accused of burglarizing the McReynolds merchandise store, at Sutherlin, appeared in court this morning, and upon being arraigned entered pleas of "not guilty." Requesting counsel, the court appointed Attorney James Watson to represent Kelly, and Attorney Elbert Hermann, who will look after Stanley's interests. Stanley's trial will come up Monday afternoon, followed by Kelly's trial.

Joseph Merinos, indicted by the grand jury on charges of burglary and larceny, was arraigned in the circuit court this morning on the former count, and entered a plea of "not guilty." He will be defended by Attorney Albert Abraham. Merinos is accused of burglarizing the I. H. Rhoades second hand store in Roseburg, a few weeks ago, at which time goods and merchandise of the approximate value of $200 were stolen. The officers consider Merinos a desperate character. He openly asserts that he will never go to that penitentiary, regardless of the boasts of the officers who have him in charge.

Henry Allen, who was in company with Merinos at the time the latter was arrested charged with burglarizing the I. H. Rhoades second hand store, was another prisoner to appear in court this morning. Allen will enter a plea Monday morning. He will be defended by Attorney W. W. Cardwell, who was appointed to look after his interests by the court. Clarence Kendall, another person who is alleged to have participated in the Rhoades burglary, will probably escape a penitentiary sentence as he is but 17 years of age. W. M. Kelly, who was arrested about two months ago charged with pulling a gun on A. Peterson, the Cass street shoe dealer, following an altercation over the price of a pair of socks, failed to appear in court this morning when summoned. Consequently his bail in the sum of $300 was forfeited.

John Walters and G. V. Clingreen, who are accused of holding up and robbing Samuel V. Makins, near Sutherlin, a few weeks ago, were arraigned in court this morning. They will enter pleas on Monday. Having no money with which to employ counsel, Attorney George Neuner was appointed to defend Walters, while Clingreen will be represented by Attorney George Jones.

"Not a true bill" was returned by the grand jury in the case of the State vs. Emerson Hook, who was recently arrested on a charge of pulling a gun on George Kelly, while engaged in an altercation in a wood cutting camp, and that he was compelled to resort to the use of a gun in self defense.

Indictments were returned by the grand jury last evening charging Edward Irwin and J. F. Graham, both of whom conduct soft drink emporiums, with the crime of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law. The men will probably be arraigned some time Monday.

Ora Pilkington and Zaida Day, accused of the crime of adultery, appeared in court today and entered pleas of "not guilty." They will be represented by Attorney Elbert Hermann.

R. G. Vihson, a local Southern Pacific brakeman, was granted a divorce from his wife, Wilda C. Vihson, in the circuit court this morning. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Reuben Marsters.

Mrs. Gertrude E. Burchard was granted a divorce from her husband, Charles J. Burchard in the circuit court this morning. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney O. P. Coshov.

Nine Booze Indictments.

Other than returning indictments against a number of prisoners confined in the county jail, the grand jury today filed nine indictments charging proprietors of local soft drink emporiums with the crime of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law. Among those indicted were R. B. Matthews, who conducts a near beer emporium in the Salzman building; Gus Sparis, bartender for William Perman; Edward Irwin, who conducts a near beer resort in the Hynes building; Lefe Lewis, proprietor of the Lewis cafe and soft drink emporium, on Cass street; Joe Bartholomew, proprietor of a soft drink emporium at the corner of Sheridan and Cass streets; Ben North, of the North Brothers emporium, at the corner of Sheridan and Cass streets; Al North and Ben North, proprietors of the North emporium; Max Wode, proprietor of the local cold storage plant; and J. E. Graham, proprietor of the resort formerly conducted by A. E. Herrington.

The several defendants appeared in court shortly before noon today, at which time they were arraigned. They will plead Monday morning. It is probable that the accused will enter pleas of "not guilty," thus assuring one of the lengthiest terms of court ever held in Douglas county. The evidence against the above named defendants was gathered by Deputy Sheriff Sam Stayner, who not only claims to have a number of bottles of beer purchased at the respective resorts, but affidavits from a competent chemist as well. In all of the tests it is said that the beer contained sufficient alcohol to render the fluid intoxicating, and in some a violation of the law.

Change He Plea.

Vicky Tracy, who was arraigned in the circuit court early today accused of larceny, and who later entered a plea of "not guilty," appeared in court shortly before noon, changed his plea to "guilty" and was sentenced to a term of one year in the state penitentiary. Tracy accepted the penalty indifferently, apparently little concerned as to his future.

Another Divorce Granted.

Jeanie Ellen Padgham was granted a divorce in the circuit court this morning from her husband, Everett Padgham. George Jones appeared for the plaintiff.

Grand Jury Excused.

The grand jury excused itself to investigate alleged violations of the laws of Oregon during the January term of the circuit court for Douglas county submitted their final report this afternoon and were excused from further duty. Their report follows: In the circuit court for Douglas (Continued on Page Two.)

THE LAST DAY

Carnival Festivities Come to a Close Tonight.

TODAY'S ATTENDANCE LARGE

Livestock Exhibition and Parade Leading Feature of the Program—Prizes Awarded.

While today's weather was somewhat a drawback to the carnival festivities the number of people who attended the last day of the Third annual Strawberry and Rose Carnival was larger than on any previous day, evincing the fact that the native Oregonian has no fear of a "shower" such when a good time awaits him. Many visitors were here from the various cities throughout the county, and last evening and early this morning local farmers, accompanied by their families, poured into the city from every direction. It was a day of showers and sunshine, the former predominating, but not sufficient to mar the pleasure of those persons bent on making the day a jolly one.

The important event of today's program was the exhibition of livestock and the parade which followed at 2 o'clock this afternoon. While not quite up to the standard of former livestock parades, no doubt due to the threatening weather which kept many at home who would have otherwise participated, it was nevertheless a fine showing and enthusiastically appreciated by the large throng of people.
