The suit that was filed yesterday by Charles Matthews and T. A. Troxel against J. A. Buchanan and Mr. Stephenson, was by mutual agreement of the parties concerned settled out of court and the case withdrawn today. The action arose over a misunderstanding, and the Buchanan Company, cement contractors, quickly adjusted the difficulty to the entire satisfaction of all involved in the deal. The J. A. Buchanan referred to is a cement contractor from Klamath Falls, and not the local attorney.

GAFFNEY KASY WINNER. Roseburg Man Defeats Californian at Medford Tuesday Evening.

The Medford Sun in yesterday's issue has the following to say regarding the ten round go between Tom Gaffney, of Roseburg, and Frankie Edwards, of San Francisco. The boxer was pulled off at Medford and was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Out-weighted and out-winded Frankie Edwards, of Medford, was defeated by Tom Gaffney, of Spokane, last night in a fast ten-round battle. It is his last fight. The two men fought different styles entirely. Gaffney fought close, covering and waiting for a chance to get in two or three telling blows. Edwards fought openly, used his hands and feet well and clinching admirably. The men agreed to break even and not hit in the clinches.

From the beginning of the contest Gaffney's advantages of weight and strength were evident. Early in the fight this was offset by the greater cleverness of Edwards who punched him repeatedly and forced him to cover. The local man avoided Gaffney's vicious swings with the right and used their force to add to the effect of his own blows. Frankie had a swift left punch that he planted repeatedly about the head. His blows told but lack of steam was evident.

In appearance as in their style of fighting the two boys were entirely different. The Spokane fighter was compact, heavy and dark. Frankie is slight, wiry and rather light in complexion. In Roseburg he defeated Gaffney on one occasion and fought to a draw with him on another, but since that time the Spokane pug has been putting in some pretty hard ticks in the ring. Edwards has had only the work that he could get with his pupils in the gym and a little road work. His friends were backing him to win but he said before he went to that he would fight his best, but would not promise to win.

The fight itself was pretty. Lasting ten rounds it kept more than two hundred ringside fans guessing until the last.
