Beulah Ross, the 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. P. Ross, of Portland, died at the home of her uncle, Grant Taylor, at Winchester, shortly after 8 o'clock last evening. Death was the result of scarlet fever, which disease the young lady contracted a few days prior to her arrival in Winchester. The funeral was held this afternoon, interment following at the Masonic cemetery. Aside from a heart broken mother, the deceased is survived by three brothers, Wilbur, of Dallas, Glenn and Clair, of Portland. Mrs. Ross and her daughter arrived in Winchester about two weeks ago to visit at the home of the former's brother Grant Taylor. Two days later she became ill, and notwithstanding that everything possible was done to relieve her suffering, she gradually grew worse until last night when she passed away. The young lady was highly esteemed in Portland where she was best known, and suffice to say that she leaves a host of friends and acquaintances who are grieved to learn of her demise.

John Spauld, the Looking Glass farmer, was in the city today and left at The News office some excellent samples of what grows on his farm. The stalks stood five feet six inches and showed an abundant supply of well developed wheat of the red chaff variety.

Myrtle Creek Mail: While a crew of men were engaged in working near the West place, building approaches to the bridge on Jump-off-Joe, near Merlin recently, they unearthed portions of six skeletons. One of the skulls had a ragged hole, as if pierced by a bullet. The teeth in two of the skulls were well preserved. Lying with one of the larger skulls was that of a child. A large quantity of small shells and beads were unearthed with them. Aside from bark wrappings these shells and beads were all that was found with the bones. It is the opinion that the find was at one time an Indian burial ground.

A SULTAN'S SEVEN BEDS.

Abdul Hamid Changed His Sleeping Place Every Night.

An interesting reminiscence of Abdul Hamid, the former sultan of Turkey, who was known as Abdul Accursed and by several other more or less unpleasant titles, is given in the description of a visit to Yildiz Kiosk by Colonel (Count) Gleichen in the Household Brigade Magazine. "The house was a perfect labyrinth of small rooms," he writes. "In no fewer than seven of these rooms were beds on which the sultan used to sleep—not ordinary beds, but large couches, sloping at a considerable angle from the head end downward, so that, covered with a quilt or two, his majesty could sleep in a semi-upright position and spring up at a moment's notice to be ready for anything. "No one knew in which of the seven rooms the sultan was going to sleep, for he changed his resting place every night for fear of hidden dangers. Along the main passage which led past many of these rooms a most ingenious arrangement existed for giving warning of the approach of any one. The floor was composed of loose planks under the carpet, so that merely to walk along it started a clanking sound which must invariably have waked a light and nervous sleeper."

OYSTER ISLANDS.

Their Growth is Exactly Analogous to That of Coral Reefs.

Oyster islands similar to those formed of coral are found in several parts of the world. The islands in Newport river and Beaufort harbor, North Carolina, says a writer in the Century Magazine, have been discovered to have as base a reef to which the spawns were attached and above this layer upon layer of oysters, vegetable growth and debris brought by the action of the waves and winds, all of which finally grows high enough to rise above the surface of the water. This growth is exactly analogous to that of the coral islands of the Pacific. The islands near the mouth of the river Tagus, in Portugal, are said to have been built up in this way also. Here, where there is such a quantity of oysters that 100,000,000 a year would scarcely be missed if they were removed, the expense of water just beyond the river's mouth is dotted with oyster islands. As in the case of coral reefs, which on the seaward slope may be covered with living, growing oysters, live oysters thrive in the shallow waters where the accumulation and related generations has served to form the islands.

Muscles May Move Themselves.

Albert von Halber, a Swiss surgeon, all of the eighteenth century, was the first to point out that the muscles of our bodies have an automatic act. He called this automatic act "Harding's time" it was believed by L. Halber that the muscles could not contract and last well up of themselves, but were drawn up by the nerves of volition. Halber discovered that this is not the case, but that a muscle, if irritated, contracts itself together automatically and even when it is quite separated from the nerves, and this has since been proved to be true by a great number of experiments. So that, though it is true our nerves are the cause of our moving, because they excite the muscles and so cause them to contract, they have the real power of contraction in themselves. The body of man is full of wonders, not the least of which is this automatic power of contract. Ryan in all muscles. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Gamma.

The point on which most writers are at odds with the compositor is the comma. He is too fond of this particular punctuation point. He takes a delight in breaking up the flow of a sentence with his artificial pauses. We all say, "Why then did you do it?" in one breath. It is the compositor who says, "Why, then, did you do it?" It is possible to be too hard on the comma. It has its undeniable uses. Edward Clodd in his memoir of Grant Allen tells the story of a compositor who dissented very strongly from that writer's moral philosophy and had to "set up" an interview with Allen in which the sentence occurred, "He is happily married." He saved his conscience by printing it "He is, happily, married." — London Chronicle.

A Cheerful Liar.

One time the late ameer of Afghanistan asked the English diplomatic agent at his court to give a description amid a circle of Afghan boys of the largest gun in England. The Englishman described the 100 ton gun, and when he had finished the ameer observed to his admiring subjects, "I have seen a gun the carriage of which was as large as the gun which has just been described to you." It would never do for an ameer to be astonished, much less to confess himself beaten.

Regal Shoes at Cost Plus 5 per Cent.

An Earthquake for the Trade, but a Benefit to the Public

Regal Prices Are Now $3.35 to $5.85

NOBODY OUTSIDE the shoe trade can realize what a jolt that trade received when the Regal Shoe Company announced its new pricing policy.

"HENCEFORTH," said the Regal Shoe Co., "all the shoes we make will be priced at COST OF MANUFACTURE AND SELLING, PLUS FIVE PER CENT. COMMISSION, no matter whether that price figures out in odd or even money, and without regard to the 50c jumps between prices, heretofore arbitrarily fixed in the shoe business."

IT WAS NOT the five per cent. that gave the jolt. The Regal Shoe Co. has always done business on a five per cent. profit and every manufacturer knew it. It was the abandonment of the "even price" that caused the stir.

THAT "EVEN-PRICE" policy has been the darling superstition of the shoe trade for twenty years or more. Standard shoes had been sold for so long at $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 and so on, that dealers thought no other prices were possible.

"BARGAIN" SHOES—nameless products shoveled out by shoe "departments"—might be sold at odd prices. But standard makes—oh, never!

IT WAS ARGUED seriously by expert shoe-salesmen that men and women who wanted shoes of name and character would rather pay even prices. That is, they argued that a man would rather pay $5.00 than $4.85, whether or not he got anything worth having for that extra 15c.

AND SO, WHEN a designer produced a new shoe that could be sold for profit and all at $4.85, the manufacturers were up against an embarrassing situation.

THEY COULD DO any one of three things—and some one of these three things they all did:

THEY COULD LET that $4.85 shoe stand as it was and ask $5.00 for it, getting an extra 15c profit, if Regal competition would allow it,—or

THEY COULD ADD 15c worth of unnecessary expense to the shoe, bringing its price up to $5.00

OR, THEY COULD SKIN 35c worth OUT of the shoe, bringing its price down to the next even figure—$4.50, but spoiling the shoe's quality-balance.

BUT AS FOR DOING the obvious and proper thing—selling that $4.85 shoe for $4.85—why that was not to be thought of!

SEEMS RIDICULOUS, doesn't it? But all superstitions seem ridiculous after you have exploded them. And the Regal has exploded this one.

HEREAFTER, Regal Shoes will be built just as the Regal style-builders plan them. They know their business, and they know their public.

IF THEY SAY "This shoe is right as it stands—the best shoe that can be devised and built for its particular want and purpose"—why that shoe is going to the public just as it is, unaltered by a foolish custom.

THE DESIGNERS will not be required to add anything unnecessary to it, nor to take anything out of it, to bring its price up to or down to any set figure.

THE MANUFACTURING COST of that shoe will be figured carefully; 5 per cent. will be added and a further allowance covering the actual cost of selling that shoe to the customer, and the resulting sum will be the price of that particular shoe, whether it is $3.35, or $3.50, or $4.85, or whatever it is.

THE PRICE WILL BE STAMPED ON THE SHOE AT THE FACTORY and certified public accountants will verify the prices and to verify the fact that only five per cent. commission is added.

YOU GAIN MORE than the dimes you save by the odd prices. You gain also by better balanced quality and by the fact that you pay only for what you want.

REGAL Style-Builders now have a free hand. They simply get out the BEST SHOE THAT THEY CAN DEVISE for a certain purpose at about a certain price. You pay for exactly what you get, plus the fair 5 per cent. You are taxed nothing for useless additions.
