DUSTINE GRIPS HOLD OF THE DUST

Thereby Saving Keeping the Dust out of the Lungs
Dust is almost as great an evil as the fly, according to some medical experts. It acts in the human system much like it would on a delicate bearing, causing endless pain and hurt.
Dustine is invaluable in the store, office and general sweeping. Scores of people are now using it in Roseburg.

THE SILVER BOWL.

It Was Full of Water, and it Puzzled the Weak End Guest.
A rising young politician in New York tells this story on himself. He was invited recently to spend a week end at a country house where things were done a notch or two more elaborately than he was accustomed to, and he stood in not a little awe of the solemn person who was assigned to act as temporary valet to him. The climax came when this functionary tapped at his door on Sunday morning and told him it was 8 o'clock.
"All right, I'll get up," said the visitor, and the solemn man disappeared into the bathroom, from which presently the noise of water running into the bathtub was audible. In half a minute more the solemn person emerged, holding a large silver bowl full of water, with which he approached the bed.
"He must have seen the astonishment in my face," said the New York man. "I couldn't conceal it. It was a wholly new game to me, and I didn't know whether I was expected to dip my head in it or to drink it. It was an awful moment, but that man was a diplomat. He realized my embarrassment, and he just let drop in a cold and aloof tone, as if he had outsiders to deal with every day, the simple explanation:
"The temperature of your bathwater, sir."—New York Sun.

THEATER SEATS.

Very Annoying Indeed It Was Before They Were Numbered.
People who nowadays book their seats beforehand for the play cannot conceive of the discomfort of other days, an instance of which is given by John Fyvie in "Comedy Queens of the Georgian Era."
"One of Charles Matthews' newspaper cuttings," he says, "contains a letter from a disgraced playgoer dated January, 1776, protesting against this custom of 'permitting a footman to sit for an act or two of a play next to a woman of the first quality by way of securing a place for his absent master.'
"The indecency of the practice is said to be aggravated by the usual choice of the dirtiest servant of the family for this duty, 'for the men of parade and figure are to prance before the lady's chair with lighted flambeaux or hang like a rope of onions behind her coach.'
"As a remedy for this nuisance the writer of this letter made the revolutionary suggestion that the sittings in the boxes should be numbered, a plan which does not seem to have occurred to any one previously and which was not adopted till long afterward."—London Gentlewoman.

Women in Tibet.

Concerning the manners of Tibetans a traveler writes: "The male part of the Amdo population is fond of meeting together for frivolous conversation on all suitable and unsuitable occasions. The most men do is to go sunning and roasting. The domestic work, such as tending the cattle, collecting fuel, drawing water, and, in short, everything, falls on the women. While the wife is working incessantly all day-long the husband grows weary with idleness and does not go to bed assistance unless she is physically incapable of doing any work at all. On horseback the women are as dexterous as the men. To catch any horse she takes out of the troop, lay her hand on its mane and quickly spring on to the back of the barebacked steed and ride off in any direction she wishes in an ordinary feat for any young Amdo woman."—Chicago News.

The Oil Bird.

One of the oddest curiosities of South America is the "oil bird," or canarero. It breeds in rocky caves, and one of its favorite haunts is the island of Trinidad. It lays its eggs in a nest made of mud, and the young birds are prodigiously fat. The natives melt the fat down in clay pots and produce from it a kind of butter. The caves inhabited by the birds are usually accessible only from the sea, and the hunting of them is sometimes an exciting sport.

A Word of Wrath.

The word "rabbits" on board a Cornish fishing smack crosses the ire of the crew. Should the hated word be uttered as the boat is leaving the harbor on a pikehead expedition the speaker would stand a fair chance of being hurried overboard. The mere mention of "rabbits" destroys all chances of a "catch."—London Chronicle.

Pa's Hard Job.

"Johnny," said the visitor at the door, "is your father at home?"
"He's trying to be, sir," said Johnny "but you know, Mr. Squire, ma's mother's here."—Harper's Weekly.

The Real Sorrow.

"Did your operation cost you much pain?"
"Yes, but I didn't mind that so much as the dollars it cost."—Baltimore American.

Able and Willing.

The doctor—Freddy, do you know where little boys go who go fishing on the Sabbath day? Freddy—Yes, sir, Follow me and I'll show you the place.

Her Sacrifice.

Madge—What is Dolly's ambition in life? Marjorie—She hopes to marry a millionaire and save him from the disgrace of dying rich—Life.

Golden Star Polish
Makes Old Furniture Look Like New
Keeps The New Furniture Always New
If money is your life, in the hour of need when every dollar counts. Thousands of dollars worth of furniture is ruined every year by the use of inferior polishes—Polishes that contain Acid, Alkali, Green and Grit, which burn, crack, rot and destroy the finish.
"Golden Star" Protection Polish and Cleaner, contains none of these harmful ingredients. It is the Product of the Sun and Holy Nature's own remedy, a natural food for the finish, giving it a New Life, restoring and preserving its original luster. Leaves a hard transparent surface that will not gum, get sticky or catch dust.
