MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1911.

Dr. Hinson, speaking from the pulpit of the White Temple, Portland, Sunday on the immorality existing in that city and elsewhere, said that the "brute who lured the little German to a den in Sacramento should be sent up for 50 years." The Dr. is mistaken—the scoundrel should be hung.

There is no other daily paper in this neck of the woods that covers the local field like The Evening News. It is read by more people every day than any other publication, which is conclusive proof that its circulation surpasses by far that of any other daily paper published in the county. Catering to no particular clique The News is in a position to treat all alike and give the happenings of the day without fear or favor. That this is appreciated is shown by the constant and ever increasing list of new subscribers received daily and many of either The Daily or Twice-a-Weeks News are not reaching the homes of ten thousand people who live in this big county.

Portland is shaken from center to circumference by what its citizens are pleased to call a "moral wave". The great dailies of the city tell of a terrible shaking up in the police department. But after one summer it all down it is found that a grafter on the force is merely transferred from the day shift to a night beat, and vice versa. Such "punishment" does little to bring about reform. Why in the name of decency the whole corrupt outfit is not kicked out of official circles and a few honest men given charge of the department is beyond the understanding of a long suffering population. The mayor can do no less and maintain his claim for a clean administration.

That Albany has also sported a number of "blind pigs" is evidenced by an article in a recent issue of the Democrat which names the places where booze is openly sold in defiance of local option and state laws. The same complaint comes from Grants Pass, and within the past few days these truths have been forced home in Roseburg, while Portland is a seething hotbed of iniquity and corruption, and along with the sale of liquor by "blind pigs" and licensed saloons in the metropolis the stench from the white slave traffic spreads abroad over the land, while the wall from scores and hundreds of despoiled girls—somebody's daughters—goes up in an agonizing cry for protection. There is no excuse for any official failing to do duty in these matters. Whose fault is it? Yours, Mr. Voter. You have let politics govern your actions and instead of insisting that men be elected who will enforce law and maintain decency, you have voted for anybody on your ticket, until a machine has been built up on the ruins of society that threatens to destroy all who oppose it. It is refreshing to see that in Portland the ministers of the city have risen in their united strength and are urging real reform and recall of unfaithful public servants. The work should spread to every hamlet in Oregon and the best people interest themselves in this agitation and keep it up until the municipalities and state are purged of vices and the protecting arm of the law thrown about the homes of the country. Any official who winks at vice and lawlessness, be it a "blind pig" or any other iniquitous concern or system, should be instantly dismissed or recalled by the people. Rigid adherence to this method of dealing with officials will result in a purified public atmosphere.
