WHY?

Do we have as regular customers the most particular people in town; those whom some of the dealers refer to as cranky and hard to please; the people who know and insist on QUALITY, SERVICE and Right prices

There's A Reason

When people get what they want when they want it, they are pleased. That's why we never know who are the cranky ones. We endeavor to treat all alike giving the same absolute Quality, Prompt, Pains-taking Service and exactly the same PRICE to one and all.

So far as we know we are giving absolute satisfaction to all our customers. Should there now and then something occur that does not please any one of them we will consider it a favor to have them report to manager
