 sent man who had read of the case could have helped but form an opinion relative to the guilt or innocence of the accused.
 Nelson Closely Questioned.
 A provision of the constitution of the state of California, differing somewhat from the constitution of the United States; sections of the state penal code regarding the qualification of jurors and a contest over the meaning of Nelson's examination combined to furnish points of contest which not only affect the accused man under examination, but every prospective juror, and for this reason are stubbornly contested.
 Nelson was questioned at length, and during the progress of his examination said he had an opinion. He declared that he could lay aside his opinion, however, and give McNamara a fair and impartial trial.
 Reorganize Tobacco Trust.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Details of the re-organization of the tobacco trust under court orders leaked out today. It is said that the original corporation will be divided into three companies, and that business will be continued practically as before. The bonds of the old concern will be exchanged for stock in the new corporations.

SOME NEEDED LIGHT.
 President Wallace of the American Conservation Society, speaking in the great meeting at Klamath Falls, touched a live wire in the intricate network of our social and economic systems. He was speaking of waste in agriculture, and of how, through conservation of the land, the old, old soils of Europe are made to yield twice, or more than twice, as much as the soil of this country which is still comparatively virgin. In doing this he touched upon the prodigality of "statesmanship" in giving away millions of acres of our best land to railway corporations, resulting in constant proportions of emigration and immigration which have brought, in their turn, increases in land values out of proportion with increases in their fertility and productiveness. The inevitable result has been a constant tendency toward higher prices.

The Puritan
 The best made stove in this design in all the world because:
 1. The sheetiron is at least one size thicker.
 2. The lining is heavier than in other stoves of this design.
 Therefore this is the stove you should buy.
 The design is unique and economical.
 It is a beautiful stove; just the thing in style for a parlor or living room.
 The stove, as you see, is square, so that wood will go in and not butt against the corners.
