Councilman Chapman Says He was Misquoted.

PROCEEDINGS BRANDED ILLEGAL

City Charter Provides That Appointment of Officers Shall Be Made By Ballot And Not By Acclamation.

Guided by the provisions of the city charter which provide that all city officers shall be appointed by ballot, Councilman George E. Houck contends that the appointment of B. Fenton, as chief-of-police of the city of Roseburg is not legal, and that the same was made in direct violation of the provisions of the city charter.

With the provisions of the city charter providing that the appointment of all city officers shall be made by ballot, it appears evident that Councilman Houck's motion to vote upon the confirmation of B. Fenton as chief-of-police, by ballot at Monday evening's meeting of the city council was regular, and was not in violation of the city charter as contended by Mayor Miceli.

Chapman is Misquoted. Another irregular circumstance in connection with the confirmation of B. Fenton, as chief-of-police of Roseburg, at Monday evening's meeting of the city council, came to light this morning, when Councilman Fred

Chapman, of the second ward, informed a News representative that he was misquoted in last night's issue of both Roseburg publications, when it was stated that he voted against excluding Fenton's name from the regular list of appointees as submitted by Mayor Miceli.

"I voted to exclude Fenton's name from the list of appointees," said M. Chapman this morning, "and I was quite surprised last night when I found that I had been quoted as voting in favor of confirming the entire list of appointees in a body. I was misquoted, and had my ballot been counted as intended the vote would have been a tie."

A SMOOTH GUY

Loiters About the Grand Jury Room Today.

IS SAID TO BE A "SPOTTER"

Grand Jury Is Busy Today Investigating Various Complaints—New Grand Jury Will Be Selected Monday.

In preliminary of the regular November term of the circuit court, which convened in Roseburg on next Monday morning, the so-called old grand jury—serving during the May

"preaching" climate, and never allowed an opportunity to pass whereby he might laud the resources of this great county. While never committed himself in public, the old gentleman quietly informed friends that he had been a "spotter" in his day—and did not mind an occasional drink.

Finally, he won the friendship of his intended prey, and a few days later set to work in order that he might land the unsuspecting, and that he obtained liberal quantities of the "juice" there seems no doubt. Today he is a witness before the grand jury, and from utterances of the officers, he is "loaded for bear". While his evidence is closely guarded by officers of the court, it is intimated that he is prepared to deliver the goods. In the event he makes good, it is suffice to say that indictments will follow.

The present grand jury will remain in session until late Saturday evening when they will adjourn in order to make room for the new grand jury, which will be selected Several Men Effectively in Yesterday's Raid Are Yet To Be Arraigned—Over $1,000 Is Collected Today.

Fines aggregating a total of $1,650 were collected by Justice of the Peace Reuben Marsters this afternoon as the result of the recently inaugurated crusade of Sheriff George Quine and his assistants in yesterday's raid on "near beer" emporiums.

In the justice court or standing trial before the circuit court. In bringing about this agreement, the district attorney felt satisfied that the county would save several hundred dollars, usually expended in summoning witnesses and liquidating numerous other court expenses, and that the defendants would at the same time be compelled to pay substantial fines.

The defendants' no doubt realized their position, and in the face of the evidence, consisting of nearly two wagon loads of liquor now in possession of the sheriff, decided to accept the district attorney's offer to appear in the justice court. Accordingly, the time for arraigning the several defendants was set for 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and promptly at the appointed hour, the "grind" commenced.

Homer Davis, a bartender at the Connor resort, and one of the victims of Sheriff Quine's raid entered a plea of guilty to the charge of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law and was fined in the sum of $275. He paid the amount through his attorney, John T. Long. Henry Cox, another bartender at the Connor place, who fell prey to the willing hands of the officers in yesterday's raid, was dismissed upon motion of the district attorney. Although both Davis and Cox were arrested at the instigation of the sheriff, it could not be proven that Cox had anything to do with the sale in question—which involved a bottle of whiskey. Accordingly, the district attorney traced the crime to Davis through a "spotter" who witnessed the transaction.

Attorney W. W. Cardwell appeared for C. H. Grosveld, proprietor of the McClallen hotel; George Goodwin, alleged bartender, and Sam Rast, proprietor of the so-called "Smokehouse". As the court called the names, Attorney Cardwell entered pleas of guilty and the men were fined in the sum of $275 each. They paid the respective amounts without comment.

Attorney James Watson, who appeared for Joseph Shillings, a former deputy sheriff with headquarters at Gardiner, entered a plea of guilty. His client was fined in the sum of $275, and paid the amount. He was charged with violating the local option laws.

W. K. Wise, another Gardiner liquor dealer, appeared in court, and upon being arraigned on a charge of operating in intoxicating liquors, entered a plea of guilty. He was fined in the sum of $275. Edward Franklin, also of Gardiner, who is accused of both gambling and violating the local option laws, appeared in the justice court this afternoon and asked to have both charges dropped before the grand jury. The court favored the request, and placed Franklin under $200 bonds to assure his appearance when wanted. Edward Wilson, of Gardiner, who is

French Actress Who Broke King Manuel Finds Admirer in New York—Restaurant Man Obliterate.

(Special to The Evening News.) NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Miss Anna Morgan, daughter of the money king, ate a "two bit" meal of corned beef, cabbage, dumplings and coffee, with mechanics at the Brooklyn Navy Yard Workmen's Restaurant, while the time register on a waiting taxicab sped into dollars. She founded the restaurant several years ago.

Gaby Eats $1,000 Dinner. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Count Yves de Villiers is in jail here today. He is charged with having given an elaborate dinner in honor of Gaby Deslys, the French actress who turned the head of former King Manuel, and then refusing to foot the bill—a mere beguile of $1,000. And worst of all Gaby is being held responsible for the check by the florist and restaurateur because she ordered the spread and besides "she's good for it."

Drank Near Beer, Perhaps. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Tales rivaling the fictions of "Gulliver" are being told today by George Griggs, midshipman on the liner Kasenga in port today from Calcutta and Bombay. Members of the crew confirm him. He said: "I was captured by baboons in the jungle and after being dragged to a banana grove unconscious, awakened to find hundreds of beasts around me offering me fruit."

Griggs was rescued by 60 Malay sailors who drove the simians away and aided the man who was almost frightened to death back to his ship.

The Smallest Preacher. THE HAGUE, Nov. 8.—The Dutch appreciate the value of advertising, even when it comes to religion. A Vlaadingen, Holland newspaper printed this: "Come everybody and hear the Reverend Gerrit Kaiser, the smallest preacher in the entire world. He will preach Sunday at 10 a. m. and at three o'clock in the afternoon. The preacher is but 37 centimeters tall and he is 37 years old."

Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, who has resided in Looking Glass for the past three years, left for St. Johns, Wash., this morning where she will join her husband who preceded her to the northern city some time since. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have leased their ranch to Nels Andrus.

term of court and composed of Messrs. John Soumer, foreman, A. W. Woods, Thomas Hatfield, A. D. Hawk, A. J. Anderson, J. D. Strong and Alex Cox, assembled this morning at 10 o'clock, and are now busy investigating all complaints brought to their attention.

While the proceedings of the grand jury are presumed to be secret, observation of the witnesses summoned this morning, would indicate that the jury is now investigating a number of alleged liquor violations. Not a few of these cases will effect people living outside of Roseburg, including, no doubt, several "liquor" suspects who arrived here from Gardiner this morning in custody of Deputy Sheriff Wooster. In Roseburg, the number of liquor complaints will probably exceed those of former occasions—and will involve a number of persons little suspected of carrying on the illicit traffic.

Not only do the officers claim to have cases against the five persons arrested in yesterday's raid—but rumors—they aver that the operations of other suspects will be thoroughly investigated by the grand jury during the present term. In substantiation of the presumption that the officers have been alert for some time and have not been asleep as suspected by the unwary, is evidenced in paying a visit to the lobby of the grand jury room.

Bright and early this morning witnesses began to arrive, subject to interrogation by the grand jury, and late this afternoon a few of their number were still awaiting the call of the district attorney.

Included among the witnesses summoned before the jury this morning was a large and refined appearing gentleman—who by the way, said to have considerable evidence in his possession tending to indicate the guilt of several alleged violators of the local option laws. This gentleman came to Roseburg a few weeks ago, and immediately made public an announcement to the effect that he was an apple lover. He talked the gentleman, and it was but a short time when he gained the confidence of those he met.

He lauded Roseburg as the "beautiful city of roses," and told his friends that Douglas county would some day become the mecca of the Eastern day tourist. He delighted in Robert Booth, of Eugene, is spending a couple of days attending to business interests and incidentally visiting at the home of his brother Henry Booth.

J. B. Howard, of Looking Glass, and Thomas Scott, of Melrose, have been summoned as jurors to assume places made vacant by H. D. May, of Sutherlin, and Alfred Cloake, of Roseburg, who were drawn on the regular venire and later excused.

E. H. Thrush, of Canas Valley, spent the day in Roseburg looking after business matters. Mr. Thrush says there is considerable railroad talk in his vicinity, and that two crews of surveyors recently met in that locality. He says the surveyors are at present far down in the canyon and are making rapid headway.

A very delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Crawford, on South Jackson street, last night, when the members of the Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist church extended the couple a complete surprise. The early part of the evening was spent in playing games, musical selections and social converse, followed by a bounteous luncheon served by the guests. That the evening was much enjoyed goes without saying.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the parish house of St. Joseph's church, on November 6, when Frank H. Asher, employed as Fritchard's cigar store, and Miss Eunice Pomroy were united in marriage. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Powers. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pomroy, who recently arrived in Roseburg from Spokane, Wash. Although little known, she is said to have a host of close friends in the vicinity of her former home. The groom is a popular Roseburg young man, and has a large number of friends who wish the couple unbounded happiness. They have already commenced home day because the bride is an Eastern tourist.
