Subscription Rates—Daily. Per year, by mail $3.00 Per month, delivered .50 Semi-Weekly.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1912.

An eccentric genius has invented a sleep-producing device—and it isn't knock-out drops either.

A volume of Aesop's fables sold in London for $1,000.00. Aesop didn't get it for he died a poor man.

A baby was born with a full-sized tooth. Another evidence that we are getting back to the stone age.

A Wisconsin farmer found seventy five cents worth of flake gold in the pizarra of a goose—but it didn't lay any golden eggs.

Frogs are leaping into prominence again. A scientific journal states that frogs are accountable for the discovery of the X-ray.

A Scranton (Pa.) man found 85 pearls in an oyster when he opened it up. Either the oyster was much over size or the pearls very small.

A congressman the other day advocated the sending of milk by the parcels post. He must be working in the interests of the butter-milk trust.

A Washington society woman has so many jewels that she has to have a card index system to keep track of them. Good scheme—We'll adopt it ourselves.

A man 78 years of age and the father of 22 children, died a few days ago. We are surprised that he worried along to that ripe old age with the support of so many youngsters.

Statistics show that there are two men each for 2,691,278 of our women and one man piece for all the rest. It ought to be easy sailing for the girls, especially since this is leap-year.

The Clifton Heights (Pa.) liquor dealers have a list of fifty persons on the black list to whom they refuse to sell drinks. This would be a good practice for the "near-beer" proprietors to adopt.

The California legislature has just passed a law to the effect that women need not state their age when they register at the voting booths. We'll bet that there will be a big woman vote next fall.

The city council of Montclair, N. J., has included in its budget for this year the sum of $20,000.00 for fighting the mosquito. We presume that the bites will be sold to the Massachusetts shoe manufacturers.

A bridegroom who was on his way to another city to attend his wedding was robbed of all his cash and his railroad ticket. He "blind bagged" it and arrived in time although showing the results of his stolen ride. This is the kind of a fellow that the girls ought to like.

The justice of the peace who announced that he would marry free of charge any girl who popped the question and was accepted during this year is a diplomat. The justice who said that he would marry any old maid whether she popped the question or not is a blunderbuss.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Works, has installed a time clock and each person connected with the plant has to ring the number assigned him on his arrival and departure from the plant. Mr. Schwab has given himself a number and punches a bull's-eye each morning and evening.

POEM FOR TODAY.

"Mother O' Mine," If I were hanged on the highest hill I know whose love would follow me still— Mother o' mine! If I were drowned in the deepest sea I know whose love would come down to me— Mother o' mine!

LAUGHING GAS.

He was only a young commercial traveller, and had not been on the road for many months. When, therefore, it chanced that he found himself short of funds, he scarcely knew what course to take. After much hard thinking, he resolved to let the office know his sad plight. From the nearest postoffice he dispatched a wire: "Have you short of ready money? Please write me here."

But the following morning brought no reply in his appeal. Patiently he waited for the second post, but nothing came. Again he resolved to wire, this time more urgently. "No money. How shall I act? Wire reply."

Almost before he had reached his hotel again the telegram boy had brought a reply. Hastily the young commercial tore open the envelope and read: "Act as if you were broke!"

Claude Harvey, of Oakland, who recently underwent an operation at Mercy hospital was taken to his home this afternoon much improved in health.

"I don't want to kick, but didn't you have your phonograph running rather late last night?" "No; we shut it off at 10 o'clock." "I thought I heard it about 1:30." "That was my husband snoring."

J. G. Riggs and S. H. Riggs today filed a suit in the circuit court against Martin Combs et al. The plaintiff seeks to quiet title to a certain tract of land located in Douglas county.

Quite a number of local people went to Myrtle Creek this morning to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph Lane, Jr., who died at that city on Monday. Mrs. Lane was quite well known throughout the county and the news of her death is received with sincere regret.

The Southern Pacific Shopmen's hall, given at the armory last evening proved a decided success. The floor was in the pink of condition while the music was best ever. All who attended are high in their praise of the entertainment afforded through the efforts of the strikers.

Hon.linger Hermann left for Cottage Grove this morning where he appears for a number of Indians who are seeking to recover possession of certain lands allotted to them by the government. In order to secure these lands they necessarily have to establish their identity, and to this end, the present cases were brought by the Indians.

Joseph Chapman, a well known Roseburg resident, was married late yesterday afternoon to Fannie S. Woodard. The ceremony was performed at the home of Daniel Ford, in North Roseburg, by Justice of the Peace R. W. Marsters. Both the bride and bridegroom are in their 30s, and they will make their future home in Roseburg where they have a host of close friends.

The little daughter of Christopher Staufferman, who resides in Waite's Addition, sustained a broken collar bone late Monday as the result of falling from a wagon in which she was riding. The accident occurred on South Main street and the injuries were most painful. Dr. E. V. Hoover was summoned and dressed the injuries. The child is said to be resting easy this afternoon and will probably recover rapidly.

The funeral of the late Claude Whitsett, who recently killed a woman and later committed suicide at Portland, was held at Myrtle Creek yesterday. The remains were accompanied to the southern city by John Whitsett, a brother of the deceased, who was called to Portland following the tragedy. The remains of the murdered woman were interred at Grants Pass where she resided prior to moving to the Oregon metropolis.

According to J. F. Dawling, of the E. E. Alley ranch, Harry Johnson, who on Saturday succeeded in passing a worthless check in the sum of $100 to the Roseburg Feed & Fuel Company, was not employed at the Boundary farm, but on the contrary became acquainted with Mr. Dawling during the race meeting at Roseburg last summer. At the time he was employed by Mr. Norton, of Marshfield, and occupied quarters next to those of Mr. Alley. Mr. Dawling says Johnson represented that he worked at the ranch, but in so doing, told an untruth.

Edward Grimes, who was recently arrested at Medford accused of larceny in connection with leaving town with $25, alleged to belong to a guest at the Central hotel, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace R. W. Marsters yesterday afternoon. After listening to the evidence in the case, Grimes was held to appear before the grand jury during the regular February term of the circuit court. Unable to furnish bond he will await disposition in the county jail.

Attorney B. L. Eddy returned here this morning from Portland where he yesterday appeared in the federal court and argued a demurrer to the application asking that Douglas and Coos counties be made defendants to the action recently instituted by the government against the Southern Oregon Company. Mr. Eddy says Judge Wolverton took the matter under advisement and will not render an opinion for some time. District Attorney George M. Brown, who appeared with Attorney Eddy, will remain at Portland until late in the week.
