POWER OF SIX RICH MEN.

What could the six richest men in the world accomplish with their vast wealth—such men as John D. Rockefeller, J. Pierpont Morgan, Astor, Lord Rothschild, Andrew Carnegie and Lord Rothschild? It is calculated that between them they own $5,000,000,000. What might they do with such a sum if they combined forces? What things could they not achieve with $5,000,000,000? Suppose they were aggressive and inclined to wage war. They could put 1,000,000 men in the field and maintain them for 10 years, perhaps for 20 years. The American Revolutionary war cost $700,000,000. The wars with Napoleon from 1799 to 1815 cost Great Britain $2,250,000,000. The Crimean war cost $150,000,000 for two years. The South African war cost England $1,250,000,000. The rich sextet could have borne the cost of these wars and had a good sum over.

If they turned their attention to the sea they could, with half their capital, build a fleet that would be unique, overpowering, irresistible. The biggest fleet in the world—that of Great Britain—could probably be duplicated for $1,000,000,000. Again these six could give $100 to every man, woman and child in the British Isles. They could run the United Kingdom for six years and longer, pay the total amount of its expenses and remit everything to the taxpayer. They could close the custom house and allow every one to send letters and telegrams free. They could buy up all the English railroads with their rolling stock and buildings. They could buy all the automobiles in the world and then have enough left over to purchase the Panama and Buz canal, and after that sufficient to buy up the total value of British shipping for 10 years. And if Carnegie could persuade his five friends to come in with him on a land deal they could buy up Scotland, for the assessed value of that country's real estate is only $4,650,000,000. They could build bridges at all streets across the Empire; they could pave all the county roads; give every citizen of the county $100,000, and still be comfortably fixed. These are a few of the startling things these six elderly gentlemen could do with their combined wealth if they only possessed the required audacity, imagination and agreement. But will they? They will not.

LAUGHING GAS.

If Only Thou Art True.
If only a single rose is left,
Why should the summer pine?
A blade of grass in a rocky cleft,
A single star to shine—
Why should I sorrow if all be lost
If only thou art mine?

If only a single bluebell gleams
Height on the barren heath
Still of that flower the summer
dreams,
Not of his August wreath,
Why should I sorrow if thou art
mine,
Love, beyond change and death?

If only once on a wintry day
The sun shines forth in the blue
He gladdens the grasses till they laugh as in May
And dream of the touch of the dew,
Why should I sorrow if all be false
If thou art true?
—George Barlow.

POEM FOR TODAY.

Fallible Like Other Men.
A Paris newspaper says the president of a police court addressed a prisoner sternly as follows: "It appears from your record that you have been thirty-seven times previously convicted." The prisoner answered, "Man is not perfect."

What He Did.

The court room was crowded. A wife was seeking divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty and abusive treatment. Guns, axes, rolling pins, and stinging invectives seemed to have played a prominent part in the plaintiff's married life. The husband was on the stand undergoing a grueling cross-examination. The examining attorney said: "You have testified that your wife on one occasion threw cayenne pepper in your face. Now, sir, kindly tell us what you did on that occasion." The witness hesitated and looked confused. Every one expected that he was about to confess to some shocking act of cruelty. But their hopes were shattered when he finally blurted out:
"I sneezed."

John Spangh, the Looking Glass farmer, spent the day in Roseburg looking after business matters and visiting with friends.

Remember Wednesday night, January 31, the Jubilee Singers will be at the Palace theatre. All seats reserved 50c. On sale at Chapman's Pharmacy, on and after today.

I met a lady on the street,
She looked so very trim and neat,
My heart at once was at her feet,
Her features were so calm and sweet,
Her whispered secret, below's complete:
"I wear a Gossard Corset".

Beginning tomorrow, January 28, a series of evangelistic meetings will be held in the First Presbyterian church, with C. C. Smith, evangelist and musical director, in charge. Music will be made a special feature of these meetings, to which the public is cordially invited.

The "Hoax."

J. W. Thomas, of Medford, visited S. J. Jones, of this city, today.

Andrew J. Marshall, a son of S. T. Marshall of this city, was married at Ogden, Utah, a few days ago. He will probably spend a few weeks with his parents in Roseburg during the summer.

Wiley Pilkington, a well known local blacksmith, suffered a stroke of paralysis late yesterday afternoon. As a result he will probably be confined to his room for several weeks.

A very delightful evening was spent at the Baptist church, last night, when the young ladies of Mrs. Morse's Sunday school class entertained their gentleman friends at a Leap Year party. The entertainment of the evening consisted of musical selections, games and social converse, followed by a delightful luncheon. That the evening was much enjoyed is the expression of all present.

George A. Crane, of Brockway, who has been in attendance at the circuit court during the past three days made this office a pleasant business call, and called our attention to the fact that an error existed in the names of successful applicants for eighth grade diplomas in Douglas county. In the Brockway district the names of Raymond Stephens and Mary Brown were given, and it should have read: Raymond Stephens and Margaret Bremner. He asked this correction in justice to the young lady, who is his pupil.

While engaged in delivering a specialist address at Brockway on Saturday evening, John Dequer, a traveling orator, was unexpectedly interrupted by a number of young men who stoned the building in which he was speaking as well as otherwise making themselves obnoxious. Following the incident, Harry Burke was arrested, and upon being arraigned in the justice court was fined in the sum of $20. A younger brother, who is also accused of being one of the disturbers, was arrested yesterday morning and later appeared in the juvenile court for hearing. After listening to the evidence, County Judge Wonscott concluded that several other parties were interested in the occurrence, and consequently the hearing was postponed pending a thorough investigation. Other than disturbing the meeting, it is said that the boys demolished the out-buildings as well as stealing the bellows from the tower of the school house. On the morning following the melee, a large and varied assortment of whiskey bottles were found near the school house, evidencing that the participants were well supplied with liquor prior to engaging in the disgraceful affair.
