ROSEBURG, DOUGLAS COUNTY, OREGON. THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1912.

No. 116

START FOR WEST

LaFollette Will Campaign Pacific Coast States.

BELIEVES SUCCESS ASSURED

Will Visit Oregon In April—New York Assembly Votes Against Fight—Governor Of Nevada Opposed.

(Special to The Evening News.)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator LaFollette asks for Pacific Coast support of his candidacy on the platform of government ownership and operation of Alaskan coal mines, Alaskan steamship lines by way of Pacific ports through the Panama canal to New York. His fight is aggressive and will continue to the end of the campaign. LaFollette's next personal appeal will be to the people of Nebraska, and from there he will go to the Pacific Coast. He is firm in the belief that his comprehensive platform will win for him Oregon, California, Washington and other Western states. It is believed that it is a part of LaFollette's plan to transport machinery through the Panama canal, or use the machinery now in use on the canal, to open up the Alaskan mining country. The senator will probably start on his Western tour about April 1, and will make speeches throughout Washington and then swing into the big fight in Oregon and California presidential preference primaries.

Sports See Finish.

ALBANY, March 21.—The New York assembly today passed the measure repealing the Praxley boxing law by a vote of 76 to 46. No action has yet been taken on the measure in the senate, but sporting men fear that the game is doomed in New York.

Endeavorers Oppose Fight.

MILWAUKEE, March 21.—Christian Endeavorers are elated over a telegram received this morning from Governor Oddie, of Nevada, in which he says that he is opposed to the Johnson-Flynn fight scheduled to be pulled off in Nevada. The executive gives assurance that he will try to prevent the mill, but in the event that he finds the law permits such affairs, will use his influence to get the measure repealed. This expression was elicited by resolutions recently sent to Oddie condemning the fight.

KNOWN IN YONCALLA.

Murderer Humphrys Had Fight With Real Estate Agent.

YONCALLA, Or., March 20.—When George and Charles Humphrys lived near here on a small farm they purchased on their arrival, they had little intercourse with the people living near them, but had no trouble with any of them until they decided to sell out and move. At that time George Humphrys placed the farm in the hands of P. C. Huntington, a local real estate and insurance man, for sale. Huntington secured a purchaser, who bought the farm, when George Humphrys refused to pay the commission for the sale and when Huntington threatened legal proceedings, Humphrys savagely attacked the realty dealer, but in the encounter was so badly worsted that he made no further attempts to approach Huntington after paying the required commission.

It is stated that the murder of George Selby at Dallas, saying that Selby and his house were burned, he had been at Yoncalla for several months and that at no time had he gone back to Dallas after leaving at Yoncalla, until the funeral of his mother two weeks ago.

Mrs. Frances Jackson, of Portland, claiming to be an aunt of the Humphrys brothers, was here last evening and attempted to see George Humphrys in jail, but as she did not make herself known to the sheriff, admittance was refused. She stated today that George Humphrys was always warm and constantly led his brother Charles into scrapes. She declared that Charles was harmless and would do no wrong except at the suggestion of his older brother, who had an evil influence over the younger man. She is satisfied of George's guilt but believes that if Charles' story of complicity is correct, he was led into the murder by the older brother.

EDUCATIONAL EXTENSION.

Small Audience Heard O. A. U. Representative Tuesday Night.

Prof. T. D. Beckwith, of the Oregon Agricultural College, has just paid Roseburg a visit in the interest of the extension work of the college

SELECT ARMORY SITE.

Dr. George E. Houck received a telephone message from Salem this morning to the effect that the state military board, composed of General W. Flazer, of Portland; Colonel C. C. Hammond, of Eugene; Colonel Foreman, of Woodburn; Colonel Jackson, of Portland; Major S. White, of Portland; and Major H. U. Welch, of Portland, will tomorrow open the proposals for an armory site at Roseburg. Following the opening of bids, the members of the board will come to Roseburg and view the several sites offered for the proposed building. The money with which to erect the structure is now available, and it is probable that actual construction of the building will be commenced at an early date.

and in the interest of the state board of health.

A small audience was in attendance at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening to hear him. He spoke at the Lane school to the eighth and ninth grades before noon on Wednesday and in the afternoon he spoke to a good sized audience at the high school assembly room. This last audience was especially a representative one of tax payers and patrons, the interest taken was largely due to the efforts of the high school students to secure a representative gathering of Roseburg citizens.

The theme of all of Prof. Beckwith's lectures was the improvement of hygienic conditions all around us, and was presented in plain, straightforward language, clear-cut, of well chosen words and thought. He called attention to some of our needs in a way that we felt that he was in sympathy with all that had been done, and felt too that we should be pleased to extend our efforts.

The universal opinion was that if O. A. U. wished to send other speakers to us, or if Prof. Beckwith should come again, we ought to be able to largely augment the audience of this occasion. We very much hope that this is but the forerunner of other work along the line of giving the citizens of Roseburg an opportunity for further development along educational lines.

AN IMPORTANT DECREE.

Judge Hamilton Finds Verdict For The Plaintiff.

Judge J. W. Hamilton this morning handed down a very important decision in which he decrees in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Mrs. Laura B. McDaniel vs. H. T. McClallen and J. H. Booth.

The case was originally filed by Mrs. McDaniel several years ago, when she instituted an action to recover the sum of approximately $2,000 loaned on a promissory note to Mr. McClallen, and secured by a mortgage effecting the furnishings of the McClallen hotel. In order to realize the principal the plaintiff asked that the said mortgage be foreclosed, and that the property effected be sold to satisfy the claim.

The case was recently tried before Judge Hamilton, Mrs. McDaniel being represented by Attorney Elbert Hermann, Attorney O. P. Cusow appeared on behalf of McClallen while Attorney A. N. Orant looked after the interests of J. H. Booth. Other than the principal and interest, amounting to $2,812.96, the plaintiff is decreed $200 as attorney fees. In addition to granting an order of foreclosure, the sheriff is instructed to sell the property covered by mortgage in accordance with the provisions of law governing such procedure.

Mattings is one of the cheapest and best floor coverings for bed rooms or for people living in rented houses. This is the advice of the leading comfort magazines. See B. W. Strong, the furniture man's selection.

Bud Smith, of Sutherlin, was arrested here yesterday morning accused of drunkenness. He was lodged in the city jail following his arrest where he remained until late in the evening when he was arraigned before City Recorder Carl Wimberly. Entering a plea of guilty he was fined $5, which he paid.

NOTICE.

Dr. G. J. Bacher, who has conducted dental offices in the Abraham building for a long period, will move to his new quarters in the Perkins block on or about April 1. Patrons will please note the change.

CHOKED OLESON

George Humphrys Would Kill Yoncalla Man.

THREE MURDERS ARE RELATED

Charles Humphrys Says Brother Choked Hayhurst Farmer In Order To Extort $100.— Was Unsuccessful.

CORVALLIS, Or., March 20.—Confined in separate jails, two brothers, George and Charles Humphrys, are awaiting the fate that the machinery of the law may deal them, both being charged with murder. Charles Humphrys was brought here today by Sheriff Hancock, of Washington county.

In a second confession today Charles accuses his older brother of slaying his step-father, William King, near Dayton, Or., about 12 years ago. According to Charles this was George's first crime.

King had quarreled with his wife and left her, going to a cabin on a rented farm. Actuated by a spirit of vengeance and a desire to obtain money he thought his step-father possessed, George visited the cabin and choked King to death. He secured the money, but was disappointed to find that it amounted only to $5. The neighbors buried the old man, under the belief that his death resulted from natural causes.

Another Murder Attempted.

Charles further says that in August 1910, George determined to kill one Ole Oleson, living in Hayhurst valley, by choking him to secure some money, less than $1000, possessed by Oleson. He assaulted Oleson, but received a savage beating, and the brothers decided to leave Douglas county. They moved to Benton, but received a savage beating. Philomath.

It was in 1908 that Charles says George killed George Selby, a Dallas man.

Mrs. Frances Jackson, of Portland, aunt of the Humphrys boys, was in Corvallis yesterday and requested of Sheriff Gellatly permission to visit George, who is in the county jail. She did not reveal her identity and her request was refused. While here Mrs. Jackson said that George was the leader of the two and that any trouble Charles was in was due to the influence of the older brother. She said that George is "smarter than he looks," but that Charles is not very bright.

Charles' statement of his brother's various crimes were made to Detectives W. J. Mitchell and L. G. Carpenter, of Portland.

Shortly after the Griffith murder the Humphrys asked a Philomath real estate agent to sell their farm, offering it for $500 less than they said for it. George told the agent that he thought the officers suspected him of the Griffith murder and he wanted to get away quickly. He said he would leave at once and that "Charles could sign the deed."

When the agent told him that both men were granted in the conversation to them, George denied it and next day brought in their deed which had not been recorded and in which he had partially erased his own name. The agent later secured a new deed from the grantors running directly to Charles Humphrys.

URGE SOLDIERS

Not to Shoot Fathers and Brothers in Strike

SOCIALIST LEADER IS ARRESTED

Government Desires To Keep Man In Jail—Desperado In Washington Kills Officer Sent To Arrest Him.

(Special to The Evening News.)

LONDON, March 21.—Because he urged British soldiers to refuse to shoot their fathers and brothers, if called on duty during the coal strike, Tom Mann, a socialist leader, was remanded to jail today without bail. He was charged with inciting soldiers of the regular army to mutiny, but the preliminary hearing was postponed. The government is anxious to keep Mann in jail because he has advocated a general strike May 1.

Desperado Kills Sheriff.

TACOMA, March 21.—A posse of 15 men is trying to recover the bodies of the deputy sheriffs slain by John Turnow, who attempted to arrest him for the alleged murder of his nephews, John and William Bauer. No effort will be made by the posse to capture Turnow until the remains of Sheriffs Mackenzie and Elmer have been recovered, which will take three or four days. Yesterday afternoon honours president Turnow so close that he fired on the dogs, who gave up the chase. After the deputies were killed the murderer dragged their bodies for a distance of 50 feet and buried them. The dense wilderness of timber and undergrowth in the country where the crime was committed makes it almost impossible to discover the hiding place of the desperado.

FEAR VOLCANO IS ASLEEP.

Workmen At Panama Are Worried About Subterranean Heat.

COLON, Panama, March 21.—A rumor that the excavation in the Colubra cut may be uncovering a slumbering volcano, after being current for several weeks, recently reached the point where it bade fair to interfere with canal operations.

The fear had its origin in the fact that clouds of steam and blue smoke have been rising from newly turned ground. In many of the fissures the temperature is so high that the hand cannot be held in them and every drill hole in the affected area is tested with a thermometer before dynamite is poured in to prevent a premature explosion. Wood and other substances dropped into the cracks are quickly charred.

The canal commission geologist, D. McDonald, says the phenomena are due to oxidation of pyrites and his explanation has been accepted at least in part by the American workmen, although it by no means has allayed apprehension.

The division engineer in charge of the Colubra work has just submitted a much more alarming report. In it he says:

"Within the past four or five days there has been quite a change in two important characteristics. The temperature has increased, and a real blue smoke, instead of steam is now emerging from the vents."

"To give an idea of the temperature of the larger vent I took a nine-inch brown Manila envelope and held it at the mouth of the largest vent for three seconds when it was totally destroyed, although it did not ignite in flame. I then took a piece of the white pine covering of a dynamite box and held it for three minutes in the mouth of the largest vent and on withdrawing it it was completely charred, so that a little longer exposure probably would have incinerated it entirely."

Mrs. J. C. Wood, of Portland, arrived in Roseburg this morning to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Walsh.

Mrs. H. C. Goebel and two sons, E. C. and R. F. Goebel, left for Portland this morning where they contemplate locating permanently.

Mrs. F. H. Stevens left for her home at Albany this morning after a few days spent in Roseburg visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Sloper.
