Woman's World

Mrs. Bell a United States Commissioner.

MRS. MABEL VAN DYKE BELL.

Mrs. Mabel Van Dyke Bell of Covington, Ky., recently appointed a United States commissioner, is probably the only woman in the United States endowed with judicial powers. Mrs. Bell recently tried her first case, in which she presided with as much dignity as any old practitioner. Her robes of office consisted of a white shirt waist and a brown tailored skirt. She arose and courted to the members of the bar in the most dignified manner, disposed of the case and then went home to enforce the domestic laws that govern every well regulated household. Mrs. Bell had been a deputy in the office of United States Court Clerk John Menzies, and the experience gained there enabled her to preside over her court as flawlessly and with as much judicial dignity as any of her predecessors.

It is the duty of the commissioner to extend preliminary hearing to all cases developing in his jurisdiction and to either dismiss the prisoner, if there is insufficient evidence, or hold him to the next term of the court, fix the bond, pass upon the securities and perform other similar duties. Violators of the internal revenue and postal laws, moonshiners, counterfeiters, retailers of liquor without federal licenses and even bankers who may deal in "frenzied finance" to the displeasure of Uncle Sam may be brought before this woman. In all these preliminary hearings the commissioner exercises a judicial function—is, in fact, a judge.

Mrs. Bell is at a loss to understand why such an unusual interest has been taken in her. She regards her commissionership as the most natural thing in the world and her appointment as the natural order of events. However, her two boys, Davis and James, while their mother is officiating as an arm of the United States government, are quite convinced that she is the one woman of the country. These are the only children that resulted from Mrs. Bell's marriage. Before going to the federal building to preside over her first court Mrs. Bell, in the most motherly manner, washed her children's faces and hands, put their clean bibs and tuckers on them and started them off to school.

Besides being the only woman federal jurist in the United States, Mrs. Bell has the distinction of being one of the most attractive of her sex. She was a belle in her girlhood days. She is still in the twenties and girlish in appearance.

She's Still Miss La Follette.

Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Wisconsin senator, has not assumed for every day use the name of George Middleton, the dramatic author, to whom she was married last October.

Miss La Follette explained as follows why her maiden name appeared on the program:

"It was my desire to retain my own name," said she, "and Mr. Middleton generously consented to it. I believe a woman who has done things should not lose her personality when she marries. If she take her husband's name she to a certain extent loses the personality which her work has given her."

"I think the time is coming," said she, "when all women will retain their own family names through matrimony. It is not because I am on the stage that I desire to keep my name. It is purely a personal feeling with me. I believe public opinion is tending this way, and in the near future we shall regard it just as reasonable for a wife to ask her husband to take her family name as for a man to ask the woman he marries to adopt his name."

"Of course if a woman feels this way about it she should have an understanding before her marriage. Mr. Middleton is a reasonable man, and he agreed with me in my point of view before our marriage."

To Wash Khaki Suits.

When washing khaki colored clothes or stockings of the khaki colored suits or a blue brown dye in the rinsing water and in the starch. One ten cent package of dye dissolved in boiling water and then bottled will last a whole season. Add only a little to the water. Using the dye prevents that washed out look so common to the khaki colored suits after laundering.

Mayor A. J. Colvin, of Glendale, spent the day in Roseburg looking after business matters.

Diamonds

Sparklers of character. We purchase diamonds from cutters of good stones. We won't buy poor diamonds, because we don't wish to sell that kind. A diamond is either good or poor, there being no other way about it. Good diamonds are like anything else of value—a poor diamond is a poor investment. If you should sell your diamond and it be a good one, your chances are excellent for making a good sale. Bear in mind this when needing a diamond, and come here where the stock of stones is absolutely dependable. Diamonds set in rings, studs, brooches, etc. Prices reasonable on diamonds of character.

A Kalsomine Made of Harmless Material

A kalsomine when made of poisonous materials is dangerous especially to young children. Besides very small particles of kalsomine will float in the air for years and when manufactured from harmful material are likely to be injurious to any one.

For this reason we are introducing the Hygenic kalsomine. It is made from absolutely harmless material. On this account it is used in most of the school buildings of Chicago. The hygenic kalsomine goes farther than many ordinary preparations. Any painter can put it on. We sell all the colors except the fresco shades for 50 cents a package.
