Cow Killed by Train—Offers Site Free For Business Enterprise—Change of Mail Schedule—Discharge Inmates Of Home — Roseburg Daily: Missed.

The afternoon passenger train, northbound, Monday struck and instantly killed a cow at the crossing of the track at this place. The animal was struck with such fearful force that hardly a whole bone was left in its body, and after receiving the blow it was dragged 100 feet at least, under the cow-catcher before the locomotive could be brought to a stand still. The occurrence was witnessed by several citizens, who are inclined to censure the engineer. The cow was the property of C. A. Friend, and was a valuable animal.

Joseph Schram is one of Edenbower's energetic citizens. He states to your correspondent that he has two lots near the railroad that he will donate for a site for any legitimate business enterprise, the establishment of which will be a material benefit to the place.

George W. Jones was out in an automobile taking steering lessons prior to the arrival of his new machine lately purchased.

Postmaster Botcher has been notified by Albert S. Rand, chief clerk mail service at Portland, that No. 18, the northbound train, will hereafter arrive at this place at 8:03 in the morning, and that 19, southbound will arrive at 5:07 in the evening.

Riley Comer, who was sent to the county home for indigents from Canyonville, suffering from pneumonia, left the home Tuesday morning and took the train for Chico, Cal., to join his sister and her husband at that place. His health had been fully regained during his stay at the home.

During the past week Edenbower has been visited with a heavy and continuous rain which has done no other damage than make the roads muddy, delay the opening of the haying season and fill the small streams to the top of their banks. It will eventually increase the hay crop and improve the gardens.

The Wednesday morning mail train brought neither of the Roseburg newspapers, and the readers of The News did not mince words in expressing their disappointment. Once in a great while such a miscarriage as stated will be overlooked and forgiven, but during the month of April

The misses were frequent and have become exasperating.

H. M. Barrett has been discharged from the indigent home since it has been found he has money enough to provide for his own support. Knowing this Judge Wonacott would not have given Barrett permission to come to the home, and he did not hesitate a moment in ordering his discharge when he learned the facts.

Instead of hatching his young Leghorn chicks in an incubator or under a hen T. M. Hammond has imported 400 of the chicks from Petaluma, Cal., which arrived here safely and are doing fine. He figures that while the importation cost him a fraction over $16, he has made money by the transaction besides losing no good eggs through the incubator failing to hatch, or hens leaving their nests.

E. E. Speicher has demonstrated that raising chickens in Edenbower can be made to pay, and pay well. During the last year, feed for his chickens cost him $20, as is shown by the books of the grocery store where he does all of his trading. Besides all the eggs needed for his household, the chickens have repaid him $115, in eggs he has sold, (he has kept careful account) and he has left $95 clear profit.

Geo. E. Aitken, formerly of Edenbower, where his father and mother now have a cozy home, has a half interest in the Herald, a weekly newspaper lately started at Sisters, this state.

The wife of W. G. Huey, of Edenbower, departed this life on the night of the 1st, after a lingering illness. She was highly esteemed by all who knew her, and all of her acquaintances deplore her sad death which fell as a prostrating blow upon a devoted husband and three little children who were thus rendered motherless. The oldest child is at the utmost but aged 7 years, and the youngest but 18 months. Her bedside at death was attended by kind and sympathetic lady friends who so far as lay within their power smoothed the way over the river that she might rest peacefully "under the trees." The remains of the deceased were interred in the Masonic cemetery Friday at 2 o'clock p. m., and the funeral was largely attended.

It is now an established fact that there will be no failure from the frost of the peach, cherry, prune or apple crops. Your correspondent learns this information from experienced orchardists who have examined their own as well as other orchards in the Edenbower fruit district, and is to be relied upon.

T. A. Findley has ordered a carload of wood which will be shipped by rail to this place and side-tracked at the Edenbower spur. The spur meets the requirements of the town admirably, and the railroad commission have the gratitude of our citizens for their good work in their behalf.

Morgan Bros. have painted on the front of their establishment, "Edenbower Cash Store, Morgan Bros."

A new prune dryer will soon be built in Edenbower, in time to take part in drying this season's crop.

Glendale News: O. P. Lane and family have sold their home here and left Wednesday evening for Portland, where they will make their home. This estimable family have long been residents of this city, and while we all hate to see them leaving us, yet we sincerely wish them success and all that is good in their new home.

Glendale News: A movement is on foot to put cluster lights along the business portion of Pacific avenue. A number of our public-spirited business men have already signified their readiness to materially assist in promoting the scheme. It is sincerely to be hoped that the plan may be effected, for it will give us an advertisement as an up-to-date city, of inestimable value, besides being as cheap and far more effective a method of lighting our business district, while the beauty and artistic qualities are a feature that should be of great weight. Let us hope that the great improvement may be an accomplished fact before long.

TO PROTECT SHEEP.

Federal Inspector To Get Busy In Douglas County.

Regarding the quarantine proclamation demanding that all sheep that are to be removed from Douglas county, Oregon, must first be inspected and pronounced free from sheep scab, Commissioner Adams said that, owing to an outbreak of scab in several flocks of Northern Douglas county the state sheep inspector thought it would be necessary to dip a great many sheep in that portion of the county before the disease would finally be eradicated and in order to protect the sheep in the other portions of the state which are free from scab a yard inspection before shipment will be absolutely necessary. Arrangements have been made with Dr. Pinkerton, federal inspector in charge, whereby two federal inspectors will be detailed for this anti-shipping inspection in Douglas county, one of these inspectors will be located at Roseburg and most likely one at Oakland. As soon as the county has been gone over and an exact determination of the amount of scab actually extant the shipping inspection will be not required if the amount of scab is found to be not wide-spread. There are in addition several deputy inspectors in Douglas county, which may be called upon in case the federal inspectors cannot be procured, these deputy state sheep inspectors are as follows:

J. W. Newland, Olalla.
Ben F. Nichols, Riddle.
E. A. Hinkle, Roseburg.
Dr. R. E. Hunt, Roseburg.
Geo. W. McElroy, Oakland.
C. H. Henry, Oakland.

WANTS CRATER LAKE ROAD.

Says It Shortens Distance Between Roseburg and Medford.

Mr. I. J. Norman came down last evening from the Tillier country. Mr. Norman stated to a News representative that the proposed improvement of the Crater Lake wagon road, via the South Umpqua river and Elk creek, was desired by all the people in that locality as well as in all other sections of the country. He states that this route saves more than 40 miles distance in traveling from Roseburg to Medford; that, as a matter of fact, it shortens the distance between 50 and 60 veys be changed to include town of Canyonville. I believe the time limit on contract has expired and no surveys have been seen in this neighborhood. I believe the contract also specified that actual construction work start somewhere on the line inside of 45 days, which time is also nearly up. I cannot at this time say whether this condition has been complied with. We will appreciate it very much if you can give us some information regarding the project.

Yours truly,
