

A LOVE AFFAIR

Leads F. O. Gray, of Oakland, Into Serious Trouble.

IS ARRESTED AT OREGON CITY

Deputy Sheriff Stewart Returns Here This Morning With Prisoner —Would Marry Alice Metcalf.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Stewart returned here this morning from Oregon City where he effected the arrest of F. O. Gray, formerly of Oakland, who is accused of obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with absconding with $559 belonging to Mrs. Carrie Settle, of Oakland.

Additional information unearthed this morning is to the effect that Gray borrowed the money of Mrs. Settle with the understanding that he was to give her a mortgage on certain property, alleged to be owned by Gray and situated in California. Gray had boarded at the Settle home and had frequently borrowed minor sums of his landlady. Upon all of these occasions he had repaid the money promptly, thus leading her to believe that he was strictly honest.

Upon securing the sum mentioned in the complaint filed by Mrs. Settle, Gray left Oakland and for several weeks his whereabouts were unknown. Last Saturday there came a letter from Gray to Miss Alice Metcalf, however, in which the writer asked her to hasten to Oregon City that they might be married. This communication was turned over to Mrs. Settle by Miss Metcalf with the result that the officers were notified. On Sunday Miss Metcalf re-received a telegram from Gray, in which he said he had changed his original plans, and desired that she come to Portland on Monday morning's local train. It was his plan to marry her that evening. In order to be on hand, Deputy Sheriff Stewart left here Sunday evening and was at the depot in Portland awaiting Gray yesterday afternoon. Before the arrival of the train, however, a message was received from Sheriff Maas, of Oregon City, to the effect that Gray had been arrested in that city.

Gray is about 25 years of age and prior to his sudden departure had lived in Oakland for several months. He was a genial fellow and won a host of friends who are much surprised to learn of his present trouble.

Miss Metcalf arrived in Portland last night, but will return to Oakland. The marriage has been indefinitely postponed.

COUNCIL HOLDS BRIEF SESSION LAST EVENING.

Few Matters of Importance Are Brought Up For Consideration —Ordinances Are Passed.

Consideration of petitions and adoption of ordinances furnished the chief business transacted at last evening's meeting of the city council.

Among the ordinances read for the first and second times were those authorizing the expenditure of $1,000 in purchasing new fire hose, the issuance of Bancroft improvement bonds in the sum of $13,899 with which to liquidate unpaid sewer assessments, and authorizing the improvement of Brockway street, between Stephens and Jackson streets with concrete pavement.

Among the ordinances adopted were those providing for the establishment of a sidewalk grade on the east side of Chadwick street, the improvement of South Stephens street, from Brockway to Roberts street with asphalt pavement, and the paving of Sheridan street, from Oak to Cass streets, Houck and Clark voted in opposition to altering the grade on Chadwick street, while Fullerton and Nachter voted against the improvement of South Stephens street. The ordinance providing for the improvement of Sheridan street carried unanimously.

A petition presented by Mrs. Ella F. Latham, of California, asking that she be allowed to take advantage of the Bancroft bonding act in paying her assessment on South Main street was granted.

A petition submitted by Thomas Cobb and others, asking for the paving of Blakeley street was referred to the street committee.

A similar petition asking for the paving of Watson street was also re-husband if you take a notion to get one again.

"If you take a notion to get Orrin, they will not bother you and him like they do you and me. You can have Orrin, now is your chance to get him. I am out of the way.

"You know I gave up everything I had back East, even to my brother and sister and the rest of my relatives for you. You know they wrote and told me if I married that old widow they would disown me. My dear, I love you just the same as I did the day that we landed in Eugene and got married. It was the happiest day of my life and then to let your friends—ake it they might just as well kill me and better too, for if they would have killed me I would not of killed any of them. The only thing that I regret is that I can't kill all of them that had anything to do with it.

"You might think me wrong, but it is the only way for me to get even with them for doing such a thing as they did.

"I hope you will forgive me for doing what I have, my dear beloved wife. If you please, I have been heart broken every since you left house in West Roseburg one 15 of May 1

-11 of of that day and that night until I took the train for Eugene and have cried every night since.

"My dear sweetheart, I hope you will have the best of luck and will live a long and happy life from now on. If I could of forgot you I would, but I could not when I did down I could see you and I thought if I could not live with you I could not live without you, so I would be better off dead.

"You can draw my pension if you want to. It will help keep you in your age from know on so you will not haf to work to support yourself.

"I will now, I am crying writing this in hote Eugene.

"Good by my dear beloved wife, Mrs. John Adams, or Mrs. Rilla Nelson, P. S. Please give or send my pension papers to my wife.

Would Kill Kickers.

In a notation written by a lead pencil—probably following the infliction of the fatal wounds, Adams said "it was a pleasure to die knowing that he had got some of the kickers". This notation clearly convinces the officers that Adams had planned to kill the Hardman family, and later commit suicide.

The notation which is addressed to his wife follows:

"It is a pleasure for me to die, seeing that I know some of the kickers are dead.

(Pencil notation.) "My dear wife, I have been brooding over our parting until it has got the best of me and I take this way out of it. If you were I would have settled it easier than this way."

Adams Is Buried.

Having no known relatives, the remains of John Adams were buried in the county cemetery late yesterday afternoon. No services were held over the remains, neither was there any one present to view the interment, save the undertaker and his assistants.
