

LOCAL NEWS.

H. W. Oliver will tune your piano and guarantee satisfaction. Phone 396.

Zopher Agee, of Portland, arrived here yesterday to remain until after the fourth of July.

Mrs. R. O. Lehmann went to Oakland yesterday where she will spend a few days visiting with friends.

Penny McGeehan returned here last evening after several weeks spent at Portland and other northern cities.

Mrs. Ray Elmore left for Marcola yesterday where she will spend a week or two visiting with her sister.

Hermann Marsters, the plumber, is prepared to install gas fittings as well as pipe houses. He guarantees satisfaction.

Miss Willetta Green left for Portland this morning where she will spend two weeks visiting with friends.

Best paint on earth—read and oil at $2.00 per gallon. Let's bust the mixed paint trust. Fisher's paint store.

S. C. Bartrum, local forestry supervisor, leaves for Tillamook tomorrow where he will remain until after the fourth of July.

Dr. E. J. Bonner, of Medford, the eye specialist, is in town for a short time. See him for expert advice. Phone 251.

Mrs. John Banks and Merle Smith returned here last evening after a couple of days spent at Oakland visiting with friends.

Mrs. E. L. Settle, of Oakland, spent last night in Roseburg. She is accompanied by a couple of friends from points in California.

Verne Luse, day clerk at the McClallen hotel, returned here last evening after a couple of days spent at Cottage Grove and other northern cities.

Mrs. J. W. Deardorff left for her home at Sutherlin yesterday after a day or two spent in Roseburg visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Harness.

Mrs. Eva Wolf left for her home at Salem yesterday after two weeks spent at Edenbrow visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Cooley.

The cat came back—but the spots never do in the clothes cleaned by Sloper & Son. Ladies' and gents' work. Gloves, felt and panama hats. Work called for and delivered. Phone 47.

Henry Jones and wife left for their home at Portland this morning after a few days spent in Roseburg visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones.

Douglas County Creamery butter is the best on the market. Insist on your grocer supplying you with this home product, which is always strictly fresh and guaranteed. Two pound roll, 65 cents.

Joseph Bartholomay, who conducts a soft drink emporium at the corner of Cass and Sheridan streets, and Mrs. Gibson, of Detroit, Oregon, were quietly married at Oregon City on Thursday. The happy couple arrived here Saturday and will make their future home in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomay have a host of friends in this vicinity who wish them a long and prosperous wedded life.

S. P. LECTURE.

Mr. Byford, of the bureau of regulation of the transportation of explosives, will lecture at the Star theatre at Roseburg, July 1, at 8 p. m., on the "Safe Transportation of Explosives and other Dangerous Articles." This lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views and is very interesting and educational. All who are interested in the handling of explosives, or transportation of same, are cordially invited to attend. The lecture will be free.

If you want the best goods direct from the factory, go to D. P. Fisher's paint store.

School Supervisor John Kernan spent yesterday at Oakland visiting with friends.

Prices talk—so does quality. You can get both at Fisher's paint store under the old stars and stripes.

Attorney George Neuner has returned from Salem where he spent a couple of days attending to professional matters.

Homer H. Davis and wife, of Crook county, Oregon, are in the city visiting at the home of the former's father, Hardin Davis.

Miss Kate Dowden, of Wallowa, arrived in Roseburg yesterday to spend a few days visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. G. Dumbleton.

Bungatow stinks, pure creosote, no better made at 75c. Don't be fooled in paying 90c to $1.25, but patronize the man who knows. Fisher, the painter.

J. E. Buckley, an inmate of the Oregon Soldiers' Home, left for Portland this morning where he will remain until after the Elks' convention.

Mrs. S. T. Hammond left for her home at Grants Pass this morning after spending some time in Roseburg visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Stubbs.

Russell Harness, the merchant, returned here this morning after three weeks spent at Walport. Mrs. Harness and child who accompanied him to the resort will remain there until late in the season.

H. Wilson, of Glendale, who suffered a broken leg as the result of being crushed under a log several weeks ago, was yesterday discharged from Merry hospital and removed to his home.

Southern Pacific Station Agent L. R. Moore, who has been spending the past month in a hospital at San Francisco, returned here last evening. He says he is feeling much better and anticipates no further trouble.

The lecture of Mr. Byford, scheduled to occur at the Roseburg theatre tonight, has been indefinitely postponed, according to a telegram received by Assistant Superintendent Edward Pengra this morning.

Miss Rose Ritzman, of West Roseburg, left for Portland yesterday where she will spend a week or ten days. Later she goes to Seattle and thence to points in Alaska where she will spend several months with her sister, Mrs. Anna Nee.

GRAND CELEBRATION AT LOOKING GLASS.

Given by Rescue Grange No. 429. Morning program, speaking and songs; horse and foot racing, high jumping matches and big basket dinner. Afternoon—Big ball game and other sports. Big dance at night. Everybody invited. Come and have a good time.

J. Fox, an inmate of the Oregon Soldiers' Home, left this morning for Albany where he will spend a week or ten days with friends.

Wendell Wright and wife left for Hillsboro Saturday evening where they are spending a few days visiting with friends and relatives.

The largest, most beautiful and stylish wall paper stock ever seen in Roseburg at D. P. Fisher's paint and paper store. 121 West Oak street.

County Commissioner Jefferson Wiley returned to his home at Myrtle Creek late Saturday after attending a special meeting of the county court in this city.

Roy Roadman, of the Bee Hive grocery, returned here this morning after a couple of days spent at Portland looking after business interests.

Miss Sina Prulove, at one time employed as milliner at Josephson's, arrived here Saturday to spend a few days visiting at the home of her friend, Mrs. G. V. Wimberly.

Mrs. McIntosh, head trimmer at the New York store, left for Portland this morning where she will spend two weeks with friends. From there she goes to San Francisco. She was accompanied by her mother.

G. L. Miller, graduate of "The Royal Conservatory of Music," Berlin, Germany, offers his services to the people of Roseburg as piano and pipe organ instructor. Advanced pupils a specialty. Will call at your home. Address or call at Wm. D. Bell's piano store.

JERSEYS FOR SALE.

A few of the best Jersey milk and butter cows on the coast for sale; fresh and average better than four per cent. Price $60 to $75 each. Also a few young bulls from these cows and from a splendid Jersey bull; full blood and rated the best on the Pacific coast. These excellent Jersey bull calves at $25 each. Their royal dad at $100, and guaranteed to be none superior to him. See Farmer J. M. Eagle at Grand hotel, Roseburg, Ore., or address Englewood Ranch, Kellogg, Ore.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed by the County Court of the state of Oregon for Douglas County, administrator of the estate of Hiram J. Russell, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same to me properly verified as by law required, at my office, 401 Perkins building, Roseburg, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof. Dated this 15th day of June, 1912. J. A. BUCHANAN, Administrator of the estate of Hiram J. Russell, deceased. Buchanan & Porter, attorneys for administrator.

Miss Metford's Blunder

By SARAH G. ORDWAY

"Heigho!" said Miss Metford in perplexity. "I wish that grandfather of mine had not desired to make so sure of his fortune being handed down through me by stipulating in his will that I must marry before coming of age or forfeit it. In one month from today I'll come to that terrible twenty-first anniversary of my birth, and I'm not even engaged. There are suitors enough, but the trouble is to decide between them. But I must decide between them. I must be married within thirty days, and my engagement should be announced at once. Even so short an engagement is barely respectable."

Miss Metford sat down before her escritoire and wrote a note to Edwin Clarke accepting his proposition of marriage. Then she spent ten minutes in deep thought and, laying the note aside, wrote another to Stephen Douglas accepting his proposition. This, too, after reflection she laid aside and wrote to Alfred Downing, stating that she regretted having been so harsh with him and that if he was so unkind she would be pleased that their former pleasant relationship should be renewed. Then she vowed that when the clock struck 9 she would mail one of the three letters. That they might be ready she so dressed an envelope for each.

During the interval she thought over the matter of suing for peace with her old lover, Downing, and vowed that she could not, would not eat humble pie. She would accept one of the other two men, and since both were well enough in their way she would take the one with the largest income, Douglas. She was much agitated when she took up one of the notes and threw the other two in the wastebasket. Then, ringing for her maid, she gave her the letter to post and directed her to say to any one who might ask for her that she had gone to bed indisposed.

It was midnight when she dozed, and before doing so she thought she had better destroy the two letters she had not mailed. Taking up one, she glanced at the address, Stephen Clark and tore it into bits. Then, taking up the other, she started.

"My goodness gracious!" The note was addressed to Douglas. Hastily removing the contents from the envelope, she read her acceptance of his proposition.

"Oh, heavens! Instead of mailing this I have mailed my crawfish letter to Fred! I must have mistaken Douglas for Downing. How careless of me when the names are so near alike! I shall write Fred at once recalling my letter. But I can't post it tonight, and if I could it wouldn't reach him off. He'll get it on the early morning delivery. And what good would a recantation do anyway? I have shown how I feel and—oh, dear, what shall I do?"

Miss Metford was at the breakfast table the next morning when there came a sharp ring at the doorbell. She gave a convulsive start, casting quick glances at the doors and windows as if looking for some avenue for escape. A maid entered bearing a card. Miss Metford looked at it as one at bay, then directed the maid to say that she would appear presently.

Miss Metford did not have to keep the caller waiting, for she had put on her most becoming morning costume. Nevertheless she did not enter the drawing room for a quarter of an hour. Downing, who was standing looking out through a window, bearing a rustic of skirts, turned and seeing her so "dressed eagerly."

"Eleanor!" Now, Mr. Downing was not aware that the lady had sent him the letter unintentionally, but she had written it and could not very well unwrite it. His only fear was that he should make some blunder which might occasion its recall. He knew her for a high spirited woman who had dismissed him in a pique, and he had no mind to be dismissed again.

"Eleanor!" he said humbly, "you have made me see the enormity of the offense for which you punished me. You have shown me the magnanimity of your nature by granting me your forgiveness, and you have made me the happiest man in the world."

This was very fussy of the gentleman, and it had its effect. "Accept my apology for the ungenerous, ungracious!"

"Rude."

"Yes, rude treatment of you. If you will restore me to the position I occupied before—"

"You forfeited it."

"Showed myself unworthy of the preference of the noblest, loveliest of women. I promise to devote my life to doing penance for my fault."

She magnanimously extended her hand. He seized it and covered it with kisses. Then he said:

"I leave on a ship sailing in an hour for Japan, to be gone a couple of months. On my return—"

Noticing a blank look on her face, he paused.

"What is it, darling? Does it really so pain you to part with me?"

Miss Metford showed decision at last. She informed Mr. Downing that her objections to his going were that she must be married within a month and if he was to be the man she married he must give up his trip. It is needless to say he remained at home.

But for a mistake Miss Metford would have married another man.

EXCURSION FARES ACCOUNT

JULY 4th CELEBRATIONS

On The

Sale Dates
July
2-3-4

Final Return
Limit
July 5th

ONE AND ONE-THIRD FARE

Round trip between all points less than two hundred miles apart. On account of the Glorious Fourth, Special Celebrations will be held at various places along the Southern Pacific and special equipment will provide ample accommodations for all and give a chance to

VISIT YOUR FRIENDS ON THE FOURTH

For fares from any point, train service, special celebrations, etc. call on any S. P. Agent or write to

JOHN M. SCOTT

General Passenger Agent, Portland Oregon

CRESCENT HEIGHTS ADDITION

Lots in this Addition Sold on Easy Terms; Small Cash Payments BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

Extra Large in Size. All with fine view of City and Valleys Make an Appointment With Us To See These Lots

: : : HIMES and OLIVER : : :

THE ECONOMY MARKET

George Kohlhaugen, Prop.

Wholesale and Retail Butcher. The best the market affords. All kinds of Stock bought and sold.

Phone 58 - Roseburg, Oregon

Phone 245.

All work first-class

Commercial Abstract Co.

Abstracts of Title Filing Papers Prepared

Insurance, Etc.

Bonds of all kinds Furnished

Money to Loan on Improved Farm Property

Perkins Building

ROSEBURG, OREGON

D. H. MARSTERS' PLUMBING SHOP.

Plumbing, Sheet Metal Work, Tinning and Heating

North Jackson Street, adjoining Peoples Marble Works. Telephone 251.

Work Done on Short Notice ROSEBURG, ORE

WINNIE GADDIS

"THE PLUMBER"

Roseburg Phone 201

Sutherlin Phone 28

Up-to-the-Times with attention and mechanics

First Class Materials Work Guaranteed

OLD FASHIONED ROOT BEER

BREWED BY THE

Umpqua Cider & Vinegar Works

FROM HIRES HOUSEHOLD EXTRACT

Can be had by bottle or case at the following places of business:
The Hotel Co. Millidge & Pickins Roseburg Book Store
The Hive Grocery J. H. Campbell & Son Folliott & Richardson
Roseburg Pharmacy Co. C. H. Brown's Rose Confectionery
Kiddie's Stables & Ward Grand Hotel Grill
Hotel McCallen Mill St. Grocery A. Umors
Hove Bros. Morgan Bros. Edensbrow North Side Grocery
E. D. Seely & Co., West Roseburg, and at the Factory. Our Mr. Casselton Will call with wagon on City Trade.

A Delicious, Cooling Drink For These Hot Days

Now is the Time
For that two-piece hot weather suit. Our goods and prices will please you. We make Ladies Suits too. Also do cleaning and pressing.

W. A. ACKLEY, Tailor

333 Cass St.