The Bridal Party at the Recent Leslie-Ide Wedding

A WEDDING of international interest was that of Miss Marjorie Ide and Shane Leslie, which was solemnized recently at the home of W. Bourke Cockran at Port Washington, N. Y. The bride is the daughter of Henry C. Ide, minister to Spain, and the bridegroom, who is the son of Colonel and Mrs. John Leslie of London, is well known in this country through his work for the Gaelic league. Mrs. Cockran, the bride's sister, who was her only attendant, is seen in the photograph at her right. Her father stands on the steps in the background. The ushers were Representative Nicholas Longworth, Peter Finley Dunne ("Mr. Dooley"), Frank J. Grikwood and J. Norman de R. Whitehouse. Mrs. Leslie's veil was of Carrickmacross lace, a gift from the brothers of the bridegroom.

THE THINNING OF FRUIT.

Those who are engaged in the fruit growing business in a serious way—for profit rather than pastime—consider the thinning of fruit as essential a part of the enterprise as pruning, spraying and cultivation. In times past, when in many an apple orchard the fruit was shaken off the tree or knocked off with a rake or pole, the points of quality and size of fruit were not so important, and the thinning of it was therefore quite superfluous. But in these later days, with box fruit retailing at from $1.50 to $4 per box, quality is of prime consideration, and thinning is made necessary. The thinning process not only results in a larger and more uniform size of fruit, but makes it possible to eliminate in the process fruit that is defective or injured. Besides this, it relieves the trees of an overload and makes it easier to get them into the annual bearing habit. The work of thinning should be done when the apples are about an inch in diameter, and they should not be left on the trees nearer than seven inches apart. This will seem pretty thin just after the job is done, but when the apples are full grown the trees will have all they should bear. It is quite natural the first time the job is done to remove only about half of the fruit that needs throwing on the ground, with the necessity arising later of doing the job again when the apples are half grown. What is said above of apples applies with equal force to peaches and pears, with the exception that the latter fruits need thinning to but from four to six inches, depending somewhat upon the size of the variety.

THE BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

No spray has proved so satisfactory for checking potato blight as the bordeaux mixture. This is made by taking carefully, so it will not bake and lump, five, ten or more pounds of fresh stone lime. The equivalent of five pounds of the lime in its original form should then be diluted so as to make half a barrel of limewater. Next dissolve five pounds of blue vitriol in four or five gallons of water, and after diluting the amount dissolved in about twenty-five gallons of water add slowly to the lime solution, stirring carefully the while. It is well—in fact, necessary—to have the lime in excess in the solution so that it will not burn the foliage of the plants. To determine this take half a pint of the solution as made after thorough stirring and add a few drops of prussiate of potash to deadly poison, which will throw a chocolate brown precipitate if the lime is not in excess. If this should be the case enough more lime solution should be added so that this precipitate will not be formed. If it is desired to hit the potato bugs at the same spraying commercial arsenate of lead should be added to the solution at the rate of two and a half pounds to fifty gallons. During the spraying operation the solution should be kept stirred every few minutes.

Is a Clean Cutter

In compensating gears and curve bar re-sharpening device are successful examples of the wonderful creative genius of Mr. Joseph Dain. The gears are so arranged in relation to each other that perfect balance and true mesh are permanently assured and the crank shaft is relieved of all end thrust, preventing lost motion, reducing draft and multiplying cutting power. That is why the Dain Mower cuts lightly and cuts where others fail. It is the only mower you can realize your self, right in the field with your wrench. This practical adjustment for maintaining the cutter bar in line with the points, secures added efficiency and years of extra service.

A Real Vertical Lift

Notice the grade handle on the levers. Easy to grasp, no twisting. One movement of one lever raises the bar, knife throws in and out of gear automatically as bar is raised and lowered. The large coil, flexible spring holds the cutter bar down practically all the work in lifting with the foot at corners and helps in raising the bar vertically. Consider the nearest John Deere dealer, learn all about this greatest of all mowers, and about the entire line of Dain Hay Tools, Loaders, Side Delivery Rakes, Sowers, Sprays, Rakes, Presses, every one the best of its kind. Dain makes the best hay tools. They have been specializing on them for over a quarter of a century.
