Spirited Brush Between Two Polo Playing Society Women

SMART New York society is suffering from—no, one should say, enjoying—a sharp attack of poloitis. Probably the visit of the British polo team last year and the victory of the American players gave the game its present boom. At any rate, interest in it is particularly intense this season and most particularly so among the women. One of the strong holds of polo has always been the Meadowbrook club at Westbury, N. Y. the men of which have figured largely as champions at home and abroad. Now the wives and sisters of these men have formed a club of their own—the Meadow Lark—with their own field and are taking up the game in earnest. The men coach the women and play with them on mixed teams. Among the best known players are Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock and Mrs. J. Watson Webb, who are seen in the illustration in a spirited rush for the ball. Mrs. Hitchcock is in the foreground. The Hitchcock family is well represented on the polo field, not only Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, but their daughter Helen and their son Thomas being enthusiastic players.

Milady's Mirror

Beauty on Pantry Shelf.

How many women realize the many aids to beauty which can be found on their pantry shelves? We use olive oil every day, but how often do we think to rub a few drops on our roughened hands when they have become shrunken and soft from remaining a long while in hot water?

They are then relaxed, and the pores are opened ready to receive the oil. Try it the next time you are in the kitchen. Olive oil massaged into the scalp at night will improve the hair wonderfully, while it may be applied to the brows daily with excellent results.

Wiping the hands in starch instead of using a towel is another kitchen discovery, while oatmeal makes a very acceptable soap when the hands are not greatly soiled.

Some women make their own toilet soap, using a pure white soap as a foundation. It is melted in hot water, and when boiling a pinch of borax and sachet and enough orris root to give a pleasant odor are added; then a handful of oatmeal is stirred in and the mixture turned out into small molds to harden. A few drops of lemon juice added will aid to whiten the hands.

When making the soap use a small quantity for a ball to remove the stains too deep for the other cake. To a small amount of the melted soap stir in a teaspoonful of powdered pumice. Let this harden before using.

When it is necessary to do work which will discolor the hands rub them over with vinegar and allow to become thoroughly dry. This will form a protecting coat over them, and if white soap is pressed into the nails no ugly stains can form. A sulphur match is excellent for removing ink stains. We are all familiar with the effects of lemon and tomato on new discolorations, and unpleasant odors may be removed by dipping the hands in warm mustard water.

Cornmeal alone or mixed with orris root makes a most acceptable shampoo, while for white hair wheat flour, orris root and starch in equal parts should be used.

One should always use great care to massage the scalp carefully when giving a dry shampoo, and the hair must be brushed well to remove all traces of the powder; otherwise the hair will have an unpleasant, dingy appearance.

Baking soda is a useful beauty aid. A weak solution used to rinse the mouth after cleaning the teeth neutralizing acids in the mouth, preventing decay.

It is also a great remedy for sore, callous spots on the feet. The feet must be soaked twice a day in warm water containing a little of the soda, though, of course, the pressure must be removed from the spots before any permanent good will result.

Stroke Your Hair For Beauty.

A woman whose hair is always soft and glistening has disclosed the secret of her attractive coiffures. She buys a package of absorbent cotton from the drugist's. Next she strips a layer from it and places the layer over the bristles of a wire hairbrush, pushing it well down until the bristles penetrate the cotton, which should lie close to the back of the brush. Then she strokes the hair, beginning near the scalp and giving a vigorous stroke to the ends. A few of these firm strokes will reveal how large a quantity of dust and smoke can be taken up by the cotton, the result being the same as the cold cream bath to the face at the end of the day.

Just as cold cream leaves the face bright and fresh, the cotton brushing leaves the hair with a brilliant sheen and a natural fluffiness.

The cotton stroke should be administered every night just before retiring, an open window being the ideal place for the beautifying process.

For Bright Eyes.

Nature has made the eyes as bright as she intended them to be, and if we try to increase their brilliancy by an artificial method we may impair the sight, says a writer. Let them have all the rest they require. Do not strain them by reading when lying down or when sitting in a poor light. Bathe them frequently in cold water and once in awhile give them an extra bath with a teaspoonful of boracic acid dissolved in a teaspoonful of distilled water. An eyecup, which you may purchase at a drug store for 10 or 15 cents, is the best method of bathing the eyes. Cold water strengthens and brightens the eyes wonderfully, and children should be taught the habit of bathing them once or twice daily.

Smart Stationery.

French gray is the smart shade for correspondence stationery. This tone comes in oblong shaped sheets which fit into nearly square envelopes that are lined with white tissue. Also fitting into the same envelopes are small sized correspondence cards, and the latest way of marking these is to have a long, slender initial done in gold or silver. Another type of summer stationery has a narrow border in a deep shade of a color upon pale toned sheets, cards and envelopes. Still deemed stylish, although not especially new, are the sheets with ragged edges, which, however, fit into plain edged envelopes.

Is a Clean Cutter

In compressing gears and cutter bar revolving device are successful examples of the scientific invention genius of Mr. Joseph Dain. The gears are so arranged in relation to each other that perfect balance and true mesh are permanently insured and the crank shaft is relieved of all end thrust, preventing lost motion, reducing draft and multiplying cutting power. That is why the Dain Mower runs lightly and cuts where others fail.

It is the only mower you can readily start, well, right in the field with your wrench. This practical adjustment for maintaining the cutter bar in line with the pitman, means added efficiency and years of extra service.

A Real Vertical Lift

Notice the spade handle on the lever. Easy to grasp, no twisting. One movement of one lever raises the bar, knife throws in and out of gear automatically as bar is raised and lowered. The large-coil, flexible spring floats the cutter bar, does practically all the work in lifting with the foot, at corners and helps in mowing the bar vertically.

Consult the nearest John Deere dealer, learn all about this greatest of all mowers, and about the entire line of Dain Hay Tools, Lawlers, Side Delivery Hakes, Suckers, Sweep Hakes, Presses, every one of the best of its kind.

Dain makes the best hay tools. They have been specializing on them for over a quarter of a century.
