THE BURKE ADDRESS.

The address of Attorney Burke at the armory last night was a splendid appeal to the intelligence and common sense of the voter on the liquor question. There has been much said by the wet interests to the effect that the argument against the saloon is a sentimental one and not founded on good business. But when one sifts the argument against the saloon is a reason the argument is both logical and conclusive from a business point of view against the saloon.

His remarks were clear and to the point and brought round after round of applause when he sunk a telling point home. It is to be regretted that the entire populace of the city could not have heard his speech.

The News endorses his remarks and trusts that the enthusiasm engendered will bear fruit on the fifth day of November.

This paper stands against the brewery interests in this city and will always be found on the side of law enforcement and good government and these things cannot be true with a brewery controlled city and a brewery controlled county. Let us make away with this leper within our midst and by a tremendous vote cast it forever without our city. By not doing so we take a backward step and face again the unclean conditions that once prevailed here.

REV. MEARS TO REMAIN.

Popular Pastor Has Decided to Reside in Roseburg—May Enter Business Later.

Rev. K. M. Mears, for a number of years pastor of the M. E. Church South in Roseburg returned yesterday from San Francisco. While on his trip he decided that he will abandon the ministry and remain in Roseburg. For the present he will continue in the employ of the Bee Hive grocery and later may go into business. His plans are not fully matured as to the business venture, but it is certain that he will reside in this city.

Rev. Mears is one of the most popular pastors that has ever lived in Roseburg and his many friends throughout the county will be pleased to learn of his decision to stay among them.

AN APPRECIATION.

The people residing on South Jackson street, and the parents of school children who find it necessary to travel South Jackson street to the Ross school building owe a vote of thanks to J. A. Perry, who shoveled a path five feet wide and two blocks long from the top of the Jackson street hill to Mosher street, thereby removing a considerable depth of mud and making the pavement clean and possible to walk over without becoming mired in the mud. Such neighborly acts help all along the way.

CAMPAIGN ETHICS: BY PRES. TAFT

BEVERLY, Mass., Oct. 21.—President Taft's views of how a presidential campaign should be conducted were given to the United Press today in an exclusive interview. The president's idea of the proper way to elect a chief executive follows:

By President Taft.

(Copyrighted, 1912, by The United Press.)

"Mr. President," asked the United Press correspondent, "how do you personally believe a presidential campaign should be conducted?"

Here Taft Answered:

"In such a way as to bring out as many votes of the citizens as possible. The great danger to a republican government, as I see it, is the lack of interest in politics and failure to exercise the suffrage by a large number of citizens. I regret to say I believe statistics show those who neglect this important duty are generally intelligent and capable of exercising the discrimination involved that would work for the good of the government. Everything, therefore, should be done to bring out this vote in presidential campaigns.

"The press, of course, is the chief instrument in keeping before the public the various issues involved. A campaign conducted in 48 states necessarily involves the expenditure of vast amounts. At times it seems more or less easy to raise considerable sums by popular subscriptions, but in the past there have been comparatively few persons who voluntarily contribute their mite to such campaigns."

"What do you think," the president was asked, "of the effect of personalities in a political campaign?"

President Taft answered:

"I doubt whether personalities have anything like the effect which those who use them think they have. Some times there is a real revelation of the character of a candidate and so clearly proven to his detriment that he suffers. Ordinarily, the use of epithets and personal attacks on candidates only anger their friends and gratify their enemies, but do not affect indifferent ones. These attacks lower the tone of discussion and divert the attention of the public from the real facts at issue. For that reason, the fewer personalities injected into the campaign, the better, as the public is then more likely to reach a sound and just conclusion."

Asked if the people still expected dignity in high office, the president said:

"Certainly. I am convinced that the very humblest voter wishes his favorites to conduct themselves with dignity and refrain from descending to personalities, which ordinarily we would not associate with men in prominent, conspicuous places."

WELLS-FARGO WILL BUILD.

Express Company Sends Word To Commercial Club That Modern Building Will Be Erected.

Publicity Manager G. P. Schlosser received word this morning from the district offices of the Wells-Fargo Express Company to the effect that the company had decided to accede to the wishes of the Commercial Club and the citizens of Roseburg and build a modern express office and depot. The plans provide for a commodious building erected from brick. The company advises Mr. Schlosser that the S. P. Company has ordered it to move from its present quarters at once and requests the use of the exhibit building till such time as the new building is completed. It is probable the trustees will grant the request of the express company in view of the fact that the company has agreed to put up a permanent structure instead of the wooden one as at first intended.

COMING TO PALACE THEATRE FRIDAY NIGHT OCTOBER 25.

It is a pleasure to announce that Deaman Thompson's quaint chronicle of rustic life in the New Hampshire fields and valleys, "The Old Homestead" is booked to appear here. The twenty-six years of life that this remarkable play has had in striking tribute to its power to please a large class of theatregoers, who find in its homely sentiment, flashes of wit, lovable characters, and meadow-tinted atmosphere, a refreshing change from the glare and tinsel of the spectacular. The cast and scenic embellishment in the coming engagement are promised to be of the same high order of excellence which Mr. Frank Thompson has al-

"It is the way they are made." That makes them the leaders of all.

"Thoroughness" the watchword.

"They were good yesterday, but must be better today" the motto.

These are good reasons for success, are they not?

Having had many inquiries for Gas Stoves and Ranges, we have finally accepted agency, for which we think is the best obtainable, in the ACORN.

Gas is THE fuel for home use, and especially so in the kitchen. With wood or coal, you require more room—With wood or coal, you must wait sometime before securing requisite heat.

With wood or coal, you lose time taken to keep stove supplied with fuel.

With wood or coal, you have a constant variation of heat.

With wood or coal, you cannot be gone very long or fire is out.

With wood or coal, it is dust and dirt and smoke from time fuel is brought in until ashes are carried out.

Do any of those objections apply to gas?

And cheapness is in favor of gas, if properly used, for it can be wasted as well as wood or coal.

Come in and look over our "Special" series of gas ranges, and you can be easily shown where economy lies.

Look at cut in upper left hand corner, note that there is no stooping or lifting while using ovens. Note how easily things can be kept clean and neat about it, even to the floor.

Cost, O well now, don't worry over it, as it is low when compared with goods offered, and we want you to look goods over and then you can form a better idea of worth than you can from cold figures.

Remember that we set up and connect ready for lighting.
