ROOSEVELT NOT A GOOD VOTE-GETTER

HIS POPULARITY NOT SHOWN BY THE VOTES HE HAS RECEIVED.

RECORD WILL SURPRISE MANY

In New York When He Ran for Governor, Did Not Get Full Party Support—Presidential Vote Analyzed Is Not to His Advantage.

Colonel Roosevelt is regarded everywhere as the marvelous vote-getter. "We are for Teddy because he will elect our county ticket," chorused the Roosevelt shouters prior to the re-nomination of President Taft. And even now, when, having failed to get the Republican nomination for a third term, he is heading a bolting Third Party organization, there are many Republicans who seem to think that he has a strong hold upon the people. The fact is the record shows that he is not a successful vote-getter. The belief which prevails in some parts of the country that Roosevelt has a magic hold upon the people is not supported by the facts. Mr. Roosevelt's own activity in self-advertising is largely responsible for the belief.

Take, for instance, his home state of New York. Here are the figures of the Republican vote cast in the three elections of 1896, 1898 and 1900, the two years before and the two years after Roosevelt was a candidate for governor:

1896, Black	787,516
1898, Roosevelt	661,707
1900, Odell	804,859

When Roosevelt ran as a candidate for governor he had behind him his prestige of service in the war with Spain. He made a spectacular campaign with a number of uniformed soldiers riding with him upon the rear platform of his special train. Even with this advantage he polled 125,000 less votes than Black and nearly 135,000 votes less than Odell. This shows that in his own state he is not the vote-getter which he claims to be.

Polled Less Votes Than Taft.
Colonel Roosevelt received an enormous plurality when he ran for president in 1904, but that was because 1,280,000 Democrats declined to vote for Judge Alton B. Parker. The real test of Roosevelt's plurality is the number of Republican votes cast for him. He polled 7,623,486 votes, but even this number was 55,000 less than were cast for Taft in 1908 with Bryan in the field and practical Democratic harmony restored. Do these figures show Roosevelt to be a great vote-getter?

The figures as to Illinois are also interesting and instructive. In 1904 the total Republican vote for Roosevelt was 632,645, but this was 1,384 less than were cast for Charles S. Deneen for governor. Roosevelt was supposedly the idol of the Republican party while Governor Deneen's nomination was secured at the end of a three weeks' convention in which bitter factional fighting developed. Yet Deneen, as stated, received 1,384 more votes for Roosevelt.

An attempt is made to demonstrate Colonel Roosevelt's popularity by citing the fact that his plurality in Illinois in 1904 was 305,000, while Taft's was only 179,000 in 1908. The fact is that in 1904 Roosevelt received 632,645 votes. In 1908 Taft received 629,929 votes, so that out of about 630,000 votes the only difference between Roosevelt's popularity and Taft's popularity as shown by the total Republican vote was 2,715.

Illinois is cited merely because it is typical of other states.

Some Primary Figures.

As Republican candidate for president last spring, Colonel Roosevelt polled 61 per cent of the total vote cast at the Illinois primaries, but only 42.37 per cent of the Taft 1908 vote. A majority of the Republicans of Illinois have not expressed a preference for Colonel Roosevelt for president. In a recent statement Colonel Roosevelt said: "The primary in Illinois last spring definitely decided that I was the choice of the Illinois Republican voters for president." Colonel Roosevelt should be informed that 42.37 per cent of the Republican vote in Illinois does not decide what 57.63 per cent shall do with a bolter who denounced their party because it would not nominate him. Similar conditions prevail in other states.

The foregoing record proves that Colonel Roosevelt, without regard to his other essential deficiencies, is not a powerful vote-getter. The "win-with-Teddy" humbug is quite popular with Colonel Roosevelt and his supporters with the hope of dragging into line timid voters and pot-hunting politicians. The facts show that as a vote-getter Roosevelt never had been as strong as his party. He was not as strong as Black and Odell in New York, here he is best known, although being against a cripple in Judge Parker he ran more than a million votes behind his party strength; he was not as strong as Taft in the country at large; and he was

C. L. REAMES

Democratic Candidate For Representative

JACKSON AND DOUGLAS COUNTIES

For County Commissioner.

This announces my candidacy for re-election to the office of county commissioner. When I accepted the office from the people four years ago the county was $70,000 in debt. In the past four years more road and bridge work has been accomplished than in all previous years of Douglas County history, and today we are debt free. I shall, if re-elected, pursue the same course as to public improvements, at the same time carefully guarding the people's interests. Examine the records and satisfy yourself as to my record.

not as strong as Taft and Deneen in Illinois.

The current belief, stimulated by Roosevelt's own expressions, that Roosevelt is a powerful vote-getter, is disproven by the facts.
