ROSEBURG MAY SECURE MODERN THEATRE SOON.

President Johnson, of Provident Trust Company, of Portland, Addressed Club.

"That the time is at hand when the citizens of Roseburg should forget their differences and join hands in boosting for a greater Roseburg," was the keynote of a most interesting address delivered by President Johnson, of the Provident Trust Company, of Portland, before a large and appreciative audience of representative citizens at the commercial club rooms last night.

In preliminary, Mr. Johnson said he was pleased to address a body of Roseburg citizens, and most especially at a time when harmonizing words were necessary. "I am interested in the development of Oregon," said Mr. Johnson, and most especially in this section of the state. Portland is a great city, but notwithstanding, it is dependent upon the remainder of the state. Portland could not prosper as she has had it not been for the fact that she is the natural trade center of this vast country. What we need most of all in this section of the state is people. We must develop the hills and valleys, and where there is at present one person occupying a thousand acres of land the next ten years should witness the division of the tract into a hundred or more comfortable homes. The people bring property, and it is through the people that a country prospers. As I said before, Portland is dependent upon the remainder of the state—consequently the business men of the metropolis welcome producers. The Rogue, Umpqua and Willamette valleys will accommodate fully 3,000,000 more people, all of whom would have ample land with which to produce a liberal share of the state's product. Oregon is bound to grow, for I believe we have a greater future than any state in the Union. This is an age of specialization—men are alert, and much is being accomplished. The successful business man of today is the person who is alert to grasp the opportunities as they are presented. Oregon, unlike many other states, has unlimited resources, including its vast acreage of timber, its valleys of fruit, vast ranges for stock, and best but not least agricultural in its various phases.

"Oregon has got to develop, and I only hope that the people of Douglas county and the Umpqua valley will not make the mistake that has been made in many sections of Oregon. Don't raise the price of your land to high. Be conservative that every man who purchases in your valley may be satisfied. In working to this end you will succeed in your efforts to develop the Umpqua valley. In charging exorbitant prices you not only stand a chance of losing prospective investors, but you create an impression throughout the East which tends to harm the entire state. Be conservative and honest with the homemaker by all means.

Good will, faith and confidence are the chief essentials in developing any community. Discussion results in confusion and disaster. Good will and co-operation are necessary in the event you would prosper. Here in Roseburg and Douglas county you have excellent soil, millions of feet of the standing timber, a hospitable class of people, a climate that cannot be excelled, and last but not least, the fairest site for a city in all Oregon. Roseburg should become a winter resort, and it will in the event you eliminate the present dissention and pull together. Strangers who have visited Roseburg often speak of the differences that prevail in this section, and in some instances they have come to the conclusion that all was not harmony. As a result they left Roseburg and Douglas county and located elsewhere. Don't knock the fellow who has a different opinion. You have a right to your opinion, while the other person has a right to his opinion. We must forget these differences and work for the best interests of the town. Through dissention you tear down your city and thereby persuade the man with capital to locate elsewhere. I have showed my faith in Roseburg by building what I consider a hotel which will fill the needs of Roseburg for ten years to come. No traveling man ever purposely arranged to spend Sunday in Roseburg in the past, while in the future this condition will be changed. With the new hotel completed many traveling salesmen will spend Sunday in Roseburg, and as a result your merchants will benefit. Every dollar that is brought to Roseburg eventually finds its way into the coffers of the merchant, the butcher, clothier or banker.

"Another thing you need is recreation, and to get this you must have a theatre. A good laugh is necessary, and in the language of some of the world's greatest men, is worth ten times as much as medicine. The Provident Trust Company, of which I am president, have arranged to remodel the old Abraham building into a modern theatre in the event the citizens of Roseburg desire to assist in financing the project. The theatre, complete, will cost approximately $18,000, $10,000 of which we desire subscribed locally. In asking you citizens to assist in this project we are not asking for charity, but on the contrary, simply ask that you invest in Provident Trust Company bonds, which pay six per cent interest, payable semi-annually, and are guaranteed. When remodeled the theatre will have a seating capacity of 800 people, while the stage, scenery and other effects will be of standard size."

Following Mr. Johnson's address a number of local people responded, including R. E. Smith, Claude Cannon, J. H. Booth, J. W. Oliver, W. L. Cobb, F. H. Churchill and E. B. Barber. All of these gentlemen stated they were in favor of the theatre and would purchase bonds in the event it was decided to negotiate the transaction. Realizing that the sentiment of the meeting favored the theatre, President Alley was authorized to appoint a committee to call upon the local citizens in hope that bonds of the Provident Trust Company, to the amount of $10,000 may be sold. In the event the bonds are disposed of the theatre will materialize, otherwise it will be remodeled and utilized for warehouse purposes.

Last night's meeting of the club was well attended, and Mr. Johnson's address was much appreciated. In fact, he is an entertaining talker and holds the closest attention of an audience.

HOME INDUSTRIES DAY PROCLAIMED BY GOVERNOR.

Thursday, November 21, Will Be Observed As Home Industries Day.

Governor West has issued the following proclamation, and the same is now a document of public record: Executive Department, Salem, Oregon, Nov. 7, 1912.

WHEREAS, The growth and prosperity of a state depend to a great extent upon its manufacturing industries for the reason that the factory converts the raw material of the forest and stream and farm and mine into products of higher value, giving employment to thousands who would otherwise have no means of livelihood.

WHEREAS, It is only by arousing the people to the importance of creating and patronizing home industries that we can hope for success along these lines.

THEREFORE, In view of the foregoing premises, I, Oswald West, governor, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November twenty-first, nineteen hundred and twelve, as

HOME INDUSTRIES DAY

To make this day an impressive object lesson to the whole state there should be some concerted action toward increasing the demand for Oregon made products. To this end I would suggest that every manufacturing establishment in the state close down for an hour during Home Industries Day, and the managers call their employes together, and give them a heart to heart talk on the importance of building up our home industries and set an example by declaring their intention to use, as far as practicable, only home-grown products and home-made machinery in their establishments.

I would suggest also that on Home Industries Day every man and woman in Oregon, in doing their shopping, purchase only made-in-Oregon products. Merchants should help by making attractive window displays of such products.

I would also suggest that the subject be discussed in our public schools and institutions of learning, in order that it may be impressed upon the mind of the young, for the time will come when these same children must have employment, and unless they can find it with the industries of our state they must seek it in other states.

Success along these lines can only come through the hearty co-operation of all good citizens, and I bespeak for the cause such cooperation.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Oregon to be hereunto affixed this seventh day of Nov., A. D., 1912.

OSWALD WEST,
Governor.

COLLEGE BUYS FINE PERCHERON

Adds Registered Mare And Her Calf to O. A. C. Stud For Breeding and Classes.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 12.—A new Percheron mare has been added to the Oregon Agricultural College stud by the recent purchase of Carry, No. 56,936 from George E. Cooper, of Corvallis.

The new mare, 7 years old, has a fine, pure bred colt, a filly, Camilla, which is now being placed on the Percheron registry. The mare will be an excellent mate for the one bought earlier in the year from Stump, Tafeta, No. 64,588.

This purchase is a continuation of the policy of Dr. James Willycombe in advocating among Oregon farmers of acquiring good brood mares for raising colts. The animal husbandry department has begun naming its animals by initials; for instance, Carry's colt is Camilla, Patricia's is Patricia, and Yura's is Yurana.

ELECTION IS OVER

And some Political hope is dead and buried, but the inner man has to be satisfied, and as this is the Harvest Season, the season of Mince Pies, Fruit Cake, Hom Made Sausage, just remember that you need A Good Universal Meat Chopper.

It Will Help You Do The Work Of Combining Good Things Harvest Has Brought

A Few Things To Remember

There are few as good, none better than the Universal. That it will do the work in 1-10th the time of bow and knife. That it cuts and does not mash or string. Raw or cooked it makes no difference to the Universal. Lasts practically a lifetime. Four cutters with each machine. Cost immaterial as compared with utility. A nice little cook-book with each Universal. To be bought of
