According to press dispatches in today's Portland Oregonian, Robert Smith, of Grants Pass, was re-elected mayor at yesterday's election at that city by a flattering majority. According to the correspondent who reported the election to the Portland newspapers, Mr. Smith can attribute his selection as chief executive of the city to the women voters, who stand for a moral and clean government. Although not a prohibitionist, Mr. Smith stands for law enforcement and during his past incumbency as mayor has kept constantly on the trail of law violators. Mr. Smith is well known in Roseburg where he has a number of relatives.

Edward Jennings, of Olalla, spent the day in Roseburg attending to business matters.

Attorney C. I. Leavengood and wife, of Myrtle Creek, spent the afternoon in Roseburg visiting with friends.

L. B. Wallace and wife, for the past three years residents of Roseburg, leave Sunday evening for Mont Vista, Col., where Mr. Wallace recently purchased a hardware store.

Peter N. White and daughter, of Portland, arrived in Roseburg this morning to spend a few days with friends.

Glen D. Hart, of Deadwood, South Dakota, arrived in Roseburg last evening to spend a few days with his old-time friend, W. C. Harding. Mr. Hart is a "booster", and never allows an opportunity to pass whereby he can assist in building up Oregon and Douglas county. Although a resident of the Eastern state, Mr. Hart is a firm believer in the future of Douglas county and to show his good faith only recently purchased an orchard tract. This tract he intends to improve to that degree that it will eventually become his home. Speaking of business conditions in the East, Mr. Hart says the people are optimistic and are looking forward to a prosperous year. "There is only one chance of injuring business in the country," said Mr. Hart this afternoon, "and that is through a radical reduction of the tariff by President Wilson. In the event the president refuses to tamper with the tariff, I believe, as do most Easterners, that the country will continue to grow and prosper." On Thanksgiving day, Mr. Hart says the thermometer registered two below zero at Deadwood. This bit of news is alone sufficient to satisfy the Douglas county man that he is residing in the "Italy" of the United States.
