

WEATHER

Probably Fair Tonight and Thursday.

The Evening Netos

VOL. IV

ROSEBURG, DOUGLAS COUNTY, OREGON WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1913.

No. 299

THANKS VOTERS

Mayor-Elect Rice Expresses His Gratitude.

SHOULD WORK IN HARMONY

New Mayor Says All Factionalism Should Be Eliminated—"Wet" and "Dry" Agitation Should Pass Into History.

Mayor-elect Napoleon Rice this morning issued the following statement, in which he expresses his gratitude to the voters of Roseburg who so liberally supported him at the polls at the recent election:

"In expressing my thanks and gratitude to the good people of Roseburg I feel that we all stand united for but one purpose; and that is for the interest of our beautiful city. If there ever existed such a thing as a Jackson or Cass street faction, Wet or Dry, I hope the same has passed into history and will never again be recalled."

"I now realize that I have been elected by the people and for the good of the people of Roseburg, and in serving the interest of all I shall do all in my power toward locating any enterprises that will benefit our city, regardless as to location."

"I most sincerely hope the good citizens will aid and assist the council in the upbuilding of our beautiful city."

"And while we are working united for that purpose we are sure to get results, for it is a united community that can accomplish what a divided one never can. While working thus united you will then be rewarding me with the largest salary ever paid a citizen of Roseburg in the way that is more satisfactory and dear to me than all the money."

"At this time I wish to thank you one and all for the trust you have placed in me and the manner in which I have been elected mayor of our city, and I hope and ask God to assist me in being able to prove worthy of your trust and give you a clean and economical administration." N. Rice.

'THE DOLL SHOW' FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Big Advance Sale for Home Talent Indicates Its Popularity.

The advance sale for "The Doll Show," which will be staged at the Antlers Theatre Thursday and Friday nights indicates that the patrons of the artistic are anticipating a great treat. "The Doll Show" and one of the prettiest productions ever introduced on a local stage, Mme. Skiver has been a little over two weeks training the young people to trip the light fantastic and do many other dainty specialties.

This very unique production is given under the auspices of St. George's Guild. Reserved seats on sale at Rice & Rice's real estate office and at Antlers box office Thursday and Friday. Many hot airles are being made up and are the following:

Mrs. W. R. Willis is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Evans, Miss Buck, Miss Howell and Miss Will.

Mr. and Mrs. Binger Hermann, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hermann, Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Miller, Mrs. Haynes and Miss Horner.

Mr. W. H. Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Helmings.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sepp, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Apgar, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark, others holding hot seats are Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Seely, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McReynolds, Judge and Mrs. Dexter Rice.

DRESS—ANCIENT AND MODERN

Ninety Five Mental Culture Club Has Interesting Afternoon.

October 7 was the first social day of the 95 Mental Culture Club, and the subject of the entertainment was "Dress—Ancient and Modern".

Mrs. Della Stone, Mrs. E. W. Pace and Mrs. N. Fullerton were in charge. Mrs. Stone, in small lace cap, pointed blouse and flounces fastened with handsome jet pins, gave a most interesting and amusing account of the pantomime, and scoopshovel bonnet days of the grandmother's time when each tiny child was taught to knit and sew.

Mrs. Page dressed in an extremely full gown of heavy black silk with flowing sleeves, lace mantilla and small "cottage" bonnet, told of the hoop skirt days of our mothers' time when each farmer kept a few sheep, enough to provide wool for clothing for his family. She also exhibited specimens of beautiful handwork done in those days.

Mrs. Fullerton depicted modern dress and cleverly demonstrated the corsetless figure, the narrow silt skirts and X-ray gowns of today; also the handsome silk negligees and diaphanous evening gowns—in marked contrast to the heavy materials and full cut gowns of the previous days.

Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Riter, as the club's oldest president, presided at the tea urn.

RALPH PARLETTE COMING.

For Twenty Years He Has Helped to Entertain and Instruct Thousands.

Ralph Parlette, known throughout the length and breadth of the land, and who appeared in Roseburg a couple of seasons ago under the auspices of the Ministerial Association, is billed to fill an engagement at the Antlers theatre in this city next Saturday night, Oct. 11. Many Roseburg people who heard Parlette on the occasion of his former visit here will be glad of this opportunity to attend only a lecture—he is a humorist. What he says is not only good for the hearers, but he clinches the truth home in an imitable manner so that you don't forget it before you get out of the door. Among other things that Parlette has said that is worth repeating is: "Why does father hold the horse in the barn but let his boy crawl around at night? And why does he chain up a five cent dog and let his daughter flutter at random?" But hear Parlette Saturday night. Price will range from 25 cents to $1 for seats.

M. H. Dement, of Myrtle Point, spent yesterday in Roseburg. While here he purchased two thoroughbred Shorthorn bulls which he will take to Coos county. Mr. Dement says Coos county is at present producing some of the finest cattle in the state for which they are commanding good prices.

REBUILD NOME

Scarcity of Supplies Hinders Work of Reconstruction.

COPPER MINE GUARD KILLED

Victim Was Shot in Head Twice—Body Severely Mutilated—Five Minutes Under Arrest for Crime.

(Special to The Evening News.)

NOME, Oct. 8.—With the waters receded and the gate abated, Nome is struggling at the great task of reconstruction, but the wrecked homes and business houses present an almost insurmountable obstacle to their work. The scarcity of supplies, too, makes the work harder, and there can be no great headway made until relief comes in from the outside world.

Responses to Mayor Jones' appeal for aid have been received, and assurances given that supplies and financial assistance will be forwarded as soon as the abating storm makes it possible for safe transit of provisions and supplies.

Mine Guard Found Dead.

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 8.—The body of James Polack, a mine guard in the employ of the mine owners was found near Houghton today. The corpse was badly disfigured, but two bullet holes in the head bore testimony of the immediate cause of death. Five copper mine strikers were arrested later and held on a charge of killing Polack. Rioting

ADOPT BY-LAWS

Merchants Hold Interesting Meeting East Night.

MEMBERSHIP SHOWS A GAIN

Local Organization Affiliates With The Oregon Retail Merchants Association—Investigate Train Service.

The members of the Roseburg Merchants Association assembled at the commercial club rooms last evening, adopted the by-laws as submitted by a committee, authorized affiliation of the local organization with the Oregon Retail Merchants Association and transacted considerable other business of importance. The attendance was large, while the interest manifest far surpassed expectations of all present.

The by-laws as adopted by the association are about the same as when presented two weeks ago, with the exception that the initiation fee is fixed at 50 cents. The dues have been specified at $1 a month. A committee, composed of L. Dill-continues today. Three hundred workers started a demonstration in the vicinity of Osecola mine, but were dispersed by state cavalry.

Want Injunction Renewed.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 8.—The Michigan supreme court today ordered Circuit Judge O'Brien, of Houghton, to renew the anti-picketing injunction recently dissolved upon representations of the attorneys acting for the copper mine strikers. The supreme court ordered that cause must be shown why the injunction should not be made permanent.

The by-laws were authorized to change that the local organization will be known as the Roseburg and Douglas County Merchants Association instead of the Roseburg Merchants Association as at present.

Local merchants are manifesting much interest in the success of the exhibition and it looks as though substantial benefits will be derived.

In view of the reason the merchants want to hold a number of "smoking" and other social events. These will be given with a view of giving the merchants of Roseburg and other Douglas county towns a better opportunity to become acquainted.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds. The field was heavy while the base lines were muddy. In addition to those admitted to the grounds hundreds of people were seated on house tops overlooking the park. The Athletics appeared on the field at one o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. Baker was loudly cheered. Johnson, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile before the game, for being the most valuable player in the American league. At 1:30 o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were packed. Snodgrass played on first base for New York.

Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than a thousand persons waited all night outside the Shibe ball park. At 11 o'clock the drizzle developed into a rain, which the weather bureau predicted would continue throughout the day. First Baseman Merkle, who yesterday twisted his ankle was unable to stand on his foot today, and will probably be unable to participate in the remaining games of the world's championship series. At 11:30 o'clock over 8,000 people stood in front of the eleven gates of Shibe park, awaiting admittance.

At noon the mist disappeared, and a light breeze from the East eliminated a chilly atmosphere. At 12 o'clock the gates were thrown open, and thousands of fans filed into the grounds