WHITE SLAVE FACTS.

By George Scarborough, Author of the Startling Drama, "The Lure."

Two-thirds of the girls who enter evil life are innocent girls, who have become the victims of White Slavery.

There are 50,000 "madams" and "caddies" in the United States whose sole business is the entrapping of girls into white slavery.

The gross earnings of a white slave vary from $25 to $200 a week, one-half of which goes to her owner and one-half to the house.

Many of the victims come from good families and were originally abducted by White Slavery.

Not a day passes but what five or six White Slave cases are reported at police headquarters in big cities.

No girl, no matter how well brought up and well safeguarded, is safe from White Slavery in this country at the present time.

The more innocent a girl is the more likely she is to fall into the clutches of a "caddy."

One hundred millions a year are the profits of White Slavery in this country.

JOHN METZ PROVES HERO OF OCCASION.

John Metz, employed at Strong's furniture store has proven himself worthy of the title of a sleuth. And all because he came to the rescue of two frightened women late Thursday night. It appears that Mrs. McIntosh, of the Kiesters Ladies Tailoring school, and her daughter, Miss Florence, were sleeping peacefully late Thursday night, when they were awakened by a peculiar noise outside. They listened for a moment, when Miss Florence screamed. This was enough for Mr. Metz, and he politely made his get-away. The confusion, or rather the scream of Miss McIntosh awakened John Metz, who resides next door and he was soon on the job. Shouldering his shot gun, which for years has been the enemy of game in this community, Mr. Metz stole silently from his home and took up the chase for the burglar. For some reason the burglar appeared in no hurry, and scaled the backyard fence in plain view of Mr. Metz. Mr. Metz says he refrained from shooting for the reason that he might have killed an innocent man. When Mrs. McIntosh and her daughter made an investigation yesterday they found that the screen of the window had been partially torn from its fastenings.

Roseburg. Suffice to say that he noticed many substantial improvements within the past ten years.

MILITANT HERE

Mrs. Pankhurst Arrives in New York City.

CLASSED AS AN UNDESIRABLE

Mrs. Pankhurst Will Appeal To Washington—Immigration Officials Would Exclude Her From the Country.

(Special to The Evening News.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Immigration officials at Ellis Island were thrown into a panic this afternoon by Mrs. Pankhurst announcing her intention to go on a hunger strike after she was ordered deported as an undesirable. She later changed her mind and the officials breached easier. Responding to a telephone message to Washington the immigration officials told Attorney Reeves, representing Mrs. Pankhurst, that she would be released tomorrow on bonds. Mrs. Pankhurst smiled when she received this news. She said she would like something to eat. She disposed of a chunk of roast beef with "trimmings".

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The immigration authorities today ordered Mrs. Pankhurst, who arrived here on the liner LaProvence excluded from the United States. She will be given a chance to appeal.

That she is an "undesirable" person was the decision arrived at by the inquiry board last night. The members questioned her for more than an hour and then decided that her offenses against England involved moral turpitude. If her appeal to Washington fails, the case will be taken to the federal courts on the precedent established by former President Castro, in the Venezuela case.

During the questioning Mrs. Pankhurst stated that the charges preferred against her in England were the result of a conspiracy. She said she was inclined to believe that these charges will be dropped. She said she left England for France where she embarked for the United States. She said her departure was taken openly and no attempt was made to conceal her movements. Rhetta Childs Dorr, an American writer, accompanied Mrs. Pankhurst.

Huerta To Retire.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—That indications are that Huerta is about to retire is the tenor of a message received by the state department from Emisario Lind, at Vera Cruz. O'Shaughnessy supplemented the Lind dispatch with a telegram saying that strong sentiment among the foreign diplomats at the capital favor intervention. President Wilson, it is understood, is disinclined to take such a step. He said his view of Huerta's immediate retirement would mean a fair election. All his information, official and unofficial, led him to believe that Huerta's point was in surrendering power. Foreigners in Mexico City are known to be clamoring for the United States to act decisively. Many of Wilson's advisers thought he would soon be compelled to outline a new policy.

MORE PUBLICITY

Tom Richardson Says Greater Funds are Needed.

1915 WILL BE BANNER YEAR

Judge Hamilton Spoke on the "Need of Continuing the Commercial Club" and J. H. Booth on The State Fair.

At a well attended meeting held last night in the rooms of the Commercial Club three addresses were made which rang with enthusiasm and which indicated that there will be a revival of the activities of the commercial club.

Judge J. W. Hamilton was the first speaker and his subject was "The Need of Continuing the Commercial Club". He pointed out by his remarks that a commercial club is a vital necessity to the progress and development of any community and that it would be a positive detriment to Roseburg to permit the activities of the club to cease. A cotillion of the city in which it exists and should be maintained by the citizens. Judge Hamilton's remarks made a deep impression on his auditors.

J. H. Booth, president of the State Fair Board made a brief talk on "The Value of the Douglas County Exhibit at the State Fair to this County". He stated that Douglas county has received a world of the best kind of advertising from the exhibit at the fair, this year and the fact that it took the blue ribbon has made that advertising all the more valuable. Mr. Booth stated that Douglas county should put up an exhibit every year at the fair and with proper display and proper co-operation on the part of growers there would be little reason why the exhibit should not be a prize winner each year.

Tom Richardson, the representative of the Oregon Development League, was the last speaker. Mr. Richardson spoke feelingly on the need of keeping the commercial club in sufficient funds to carry on their work and told a story to illustrate his point. He related that a young man started to work at a butcher shop and that after he had been there for several weeks one of his friends came into the shop and asked how he was getting along. The new clerk answered "All right". Then the friend said "Can you dress a chicken yet?" The reply was "Not on three dollars a week." Mr. Richardson stated that too many communities are miserably in their support of the commercial club, that they expect too much from the little money that they subscribe and that no club can do good work on a small allowance.

The great influx of people which will result from the opening of the Panama exposition at San Francisco in 1915 and the subsequent stream of visitors that will visit the coast will crowd the cities, the speaker declared. He then pointed out that development of the smaller communities throughout the state was the one thing that the people of Portland were aiming at now. He gave a little inside history with reference to the efforts of himself and several others toward raising the publicity fund for the Portland Commercial Club. He said that while the fund had been raised it was stipulated by the subscribers that it should be used to develop the country and not Portland, Portland does not have for a selfish purpose for the greater development of the rural communities the greater will be the prosperity of Portland.

Mr. Richardson urged the people to give liberally to the support of the commercial club, stating that it was the only organization which systematically sought to develop a community and to bring into the country more people. He urged that the women be more hospitable to the women who are newcomers in the country and the community. He said that the men as a rule can make their own way after they locate in a strange place but the woman cannot do this so easily. She should be called upon by the other women of the community and asked to attend this or that function in order that she may become acquainted.

Mr. Richardson's remarks were listened to with great attention and he aroused a dormant pride within many of his listeners which will bear fruit in greater generosity toward the commercial club.

George F. Schlosser, manager of the commercial club presided over the meeting.

MARINOS STABS.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 17.—Joe Morinos, of Montenegro, serving a term in the penitentiary for burglary in Douglas county, today stabbed P. Edmondson, a negro, serving a term in the same institution for burglary in Baker, inflicting two painful, but not serious, wounds about the shoulder.

The two are bitter enemies, and the stabbing occurred in a section of the prison set apart by the officials for insane and desperate convicts. The knife used by Morinos was a dirk, which had been evidently manufactured by convicts, but where he obtained it is a mystery, as a close watch has been kept over him.

(Morinos was one of the most desperate prisoners ever confined in the local county jail. During his incarceration here he caused the officers much trouble, and upon one or two occasions he made an effort to escape. He was sent up from here on May 19, 1911, for burchurling the Rhoades second hand store.)

with his cousin, Mrs. Howard Calkins.

J. D. Hartzog and family, who have been spending the past month in Roseburg and vicinity left today for their former home in Kansas City. They are much pleased with Roseburg and Douglas county and may return here to locate at some future date.

GREYS TELL OF MURDER

Condemned Men Say Third Did The Killing.

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 17.—That Thomas Fricas, and not the killed George Desdekalous, at Medford about six months ago, was the declaration made today to Colonel Lawton, warden of the state penitentiary, by Mike Spanos, and Frank Soymer, sentenced to hang on October 21 for the murder of Desdekalous.

According to their statement to the warden, all four on the night of the tragedy proceeded to a box factory at Medford to eat a watermelon. Fricas, they declare, had a bottle of whiskey, and after it had been consumed, he wanted to borrow money from Desdekalous to buy more. Desdekalous refused to lend the money, and he and Fricas became involved in a fight over it. In the fight Fricas stabbed Desdekalous, they say, and after hurling him to the ground struck him over the head with a rock. After discovering that he had killed the man it was agreed nothing should be said about the crime, they represent, and in the event that either of the three did, the other two were to testify against him. The statement will be investigated.
