Municipal politics have been accused by George Scarborough, author of that much-talked-about play, "The Lure" of being one of the causes of the continued flourishing of white slavery in this country. "Dirty municipal politics," remarks he in a recent interview in San Francisco, where "The Lure" is running

Dal Cathcart says that during his trip to Roseburg this week he had a fine visit with many old friends. One of them was Mr. F. Denning, father of Frank Denning, of Marshfield, for whom Cathcart worked fifty years ago. Mr. Denning celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday two days before Mr. Cathcart got there. Mr. Cathcart says that Roseburg is prosperous, having eleven miles of paved streets now. He says that although Roseburg is dry, Sutherland, fifteen to crowded houses at the Cort theatre, "are responsible for the protection of the 'madam' and the 'cadet' who ply this nefarious trade in the East and I have every reason to believe the same condition is true in the West." The play will be seen here at the Antlers tomorrow night, October 22.

miles away, is an oasis and the Southern Pacific trains run so that you can leave Roseburg at 8 o'clock and return at 9:55 with a suitcase full of liquid refreshments. He says that the traffic has been so heavy that the Southern Pacific sells round trip tickets at excursion rates and in consequence Roseburg is not so dry as some claim.—Marshfield Times.
