

BLAME AMERICA

Mexicans Are Starving in the Streets of Mexico City.

MERCHANTS GOING BANKRUPT

Mexican Blame Americans For Conditions and War Seems Inevitable—Wilson Spurs For Additional Time.

(Special to The Evening News.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—The feeling in Mexico City against foreigners in general, Americans in particular, has reached a point of extreme danger, according to advices received by the state department. Mexicans of all classes, feeling the effect of a prolonged condition of chaos throughout the country, the extent of which is probably hardly realized in the United States. Huerta is practically bankrupt. Business is prostrated. Merchants are going bankrupt. The streets are filled with starving unemployed. For all, these people blame the Americans. Foreigners, the advices said have not been in such imminent danger since Porfirio Diaz left. Even the diplomatic colony, it is added, is in a state of semi-panic. O'Shaughnessy has been instructed to watch the situation, and warn officialdom that foreigners must be absolutely protected. But it is doubted whether the officials can control the people if present conditions continue much longer.

Decision is Awaited.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—What he hears from Roberto Pesquera concerning his plans, and progress made, will have much to do with the president's decision whether to recognize the Mexican rebels' belligerency. Pesquera is expected to report today. He is a nephew of General Carranza, the rebel leader. No secret is made of the fact that the president greatly prefers leaving it to the rebels to overthrow Huerta, if convinced they can do so speedily and establish a stable constitutional government.

General Blanquet Talks.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—General Blanquet has announced that he won't accept the presidency if Huerta retires or is barred by congress. No reason is given in the general's decision but it is accepted as a matter of course that Huerta dictated it. It is the commonest theory that this was done to give the latter an excuse for remaining in office on the ground that retirement was absolutely impossible. Blanquet is the vice-presidential candidate on the Huerta ticket.

GARDEN VALLEY SCENE OF DELIGHTFUL HALLOWEEN PARTY LAST EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrott Entertained About 70 of Their Friends—Delicious Refreshments.

With their beautiful residence decorated with genuine country pumpkins, corn stalks, green foliage and other similar effects, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrott, of Garden Valley, last evening entertained about 70 of their friends. The early part of the evening was spent in playing games, rendering musical selections and indulging in social converse. Later the guests partook of a delicious feast, prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. Parrott. Following the feast dancing was in order until early this morning when the guests returned to their respective homes. Everyone who was fortunate enough to attend the event speak in high praise of the entertainment features, and pronounce the host and hostess entertainers of rare ability. Among those who attended the event from this city were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearce.

LADIES' HALLOWEEN ATTIRE ATTRACTS CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION

Roseburg Ladies Entertain Husbands and Sweethearts at Social Hop Last Evening.

One of the prominent social features of last evening was a dance, given at the Maccabee hall under the auspices of twenty young ladies of this city. The spacious hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, pumpkins, green foliage and other Halloween effects predominating. The music was excellent, while the floor was in the best of condition. During the entire evening a buffet luncheon, consisting of pumpkin pie, whipped cream, and other delicacies was served. To the surprise of the gentlemen present the ladies were attired in costumes appropriate to the occasion. The ladies wore neat, dainty caps of yellow and green and black and green and gowns to match. Green bows were tied to their dancing pumps. The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. J. C. Hume, Mrs. George Bolter and Mrs. Fred Haynes.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Sophomores Entertain at the Lane School Building.

A delightful time was spent at the Lane school building last night when the Sophomores entertained the Junior class friends. The halls were beautifully decorated in autumn leaves and corn stalks. The evening was spent in games, music and social converse. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served and the guests departed to their respective homes.

A scholarship has been sent to the high school by the Albany college. It is to be given to the Senior making the most satisfactory grades. It will no doubt cause much competition in the school. The first classes for the year have just been read and the book reviews written. As a result a number of the high school students are thinking very seriously of qualifying as critics in literature.

Owing to the faulty construction of the building mentioned in the last notes it is a very noticeable fact that the manual training class is not receiving the attention from the teacher that it should. It is said that Mr. Atchison spend the largest part of his time standing at the door of the domestic science room smelling the delicate odors that issue from that room.

A STUDENT.

W. A. Smith returned to Dillard last evening after a day spent in Roseburg.

According to Dr. E. Stewart, who returned here at noon today after a couple of hours spent at Winchester, the victims of yesterday's accident are improving. Frank Gilliam, who was the most seriously injured, is said to be out of danger and will recover.

HALT MACHINE

Premier Asquith Attacked by Militants.

PEPPER IS THROWN IN CAR

Committee Investigates Banking Currency Bill—General Concentrates Troops and Prepares For Trouble.

(Special to The Evening News.)
LONDON, Nov. 1.—Suffragettes attacked Premier Asquith as he was motoring to Stirling today. Militants surrounded the automobile at the village plean and jumped on the steps. One woman dumped red-pepper into the car from a five pound sack, while another wielded a dog whip, but failed to hit the premier. Detectives dispersed the women. Asquith was uninjured. He refused to have the suffragettes arrested.

Concentrating Troops.

TRINIDAD, Nov. 1.—Adjutant General Chase has concentrated practically all the state troops at Ludlow to disarm miners and guards. Mine owners had agreed to see that guards gave up their weapons and the strikers are prepared to do the same if assured the guards are not allowed to retain rifles and machine guns. Chase is consequently of the opinion there will be no trouble.

Committee Investigates.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—The senate banking currency committee to consider the currency bill have practically decided on four regional reserve banks, one each at New York, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco. It also considered red-count features of the bill. Four administration members of the committee intimated the president will insist that the committee reconsider its decision regarding the four regional banks.

FORMER ROSEBURG MERCHANT DIES IN CALIFORNIA AFTER ILLNESS OF SEVERAL WEEKS

Once Conducted a Piano Store in This City—Well Known Here Prior to Departure.

T. K. Richardson, a former piano dealer of Roseburg, Oregon, died at his home in Grass Valley, California, on October 27th, 1913. Death was due to heart trouble. Mr. Richardson will be remembered by many residents of Roseburg, as up to nine years ago he conducted a piano store here. Since his departure for California nine years ago he has resided in Grass Valley, Cal. On April 13, 1905, he was married to Miss Lena Foreman in San Francisco. To this union was born one child, Miss Kathleen, who with her mother and a son, Olin S. Richardson, by a former marriage, are left behind to mourn his death.

Mrs. Kincaid, of Looking Glass, was admitted to Mercy hospital yesterday where she will receive medical treatment.

BANDS PARADE

Portland Boosts For Bridge Across the Columbia.

BIG BANQUET THIS EVENING

Sulzer Declares His Impeachment Will Bring About a Recall Law in the State of New York—Car Men Strike.

(Special to The Evening News.)

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 1.—While brass bands brayed out stirring airs today, more than 500 automobiles traversed the streets in celebration of "bridge day", marking the close of a campaign for the bond issue of $11,250,000 to build Multnomah county's half of a bridge to be constructed across the Columbia river from Portland to Vancouver, Wash., which will be voted on November 4. W. J. Clemens was marshal of the day and county officials of Clarke county, Wash., and Multnomah county, Ore., occupied automobiles at the head of the pageant. Portland city officers, the fire department, floats of many kinds and a representation of a bridge mounted on an automobile truck, were prominent in line, besides hundreds of private automobiles. A banquet will be served tonight as a climax to the day's celebration.

KILLED IN WOODS

William Stalks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stalks, of Canyonville, was almost instantly killed while working in a logging camp on Coos River, yesterday, according to a message received here this morning. The remains are being shipped to Roseburg and should arrive here Monday. The funeral will be held at Canyonville Tuesday. The deceased is survived by a wife, his parents and one brother. Mrs. Stalks is a daughter of Frank Fate, the well known Perdue rancher. Details of the accident were not given in the message. Mr. Fate left for Portland this morning where he will take charge of the remains.

Governor West will be one of the speakers.

Sulzer Makes Statement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—"My impeachment and removal will do more than anything else to bring about the initiative, referendum and recall in New York state and elsewhere," asserted Sulzer in an interview with the United Press. "I was recalled by a corrupt political boss, but the story is known and the question the people may answer for themselves is whether I would have been removed if the recall rested with them. A horse thief in the frontier days would have received a squarer deal. The court was packed against me, but the people's court, the recall, couldn't be packed. My story before it would have been admissible in evidence. The people elected me, Murphy recalled me."

Strike at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—Indianapolis today walked to work. The street car lines are tied up tight. The men struck during the night because the company refused the demands for better pay, and better working conditions. When an attempt was made to run cars under police-guard strike sympathizers gathered at transfer points, hooted the passengers and crew, and pulled the trolleys off. Traffic was finally practically abandoned. The officials announced that a trainload of strikebreakers are being gathered at Chicago. With their arrival serious trouble is feared.

PIE SOCIAL GIVEN BY THE PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION A GRAND SUCCESS

Neat Sum Derived From the Sale of Goodies—About 150 Present to Enjoy Program.

A real old time "pie" social, given by the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Fullerton school was the attraction that brought together more than 150 persons at the Fullerton school building in West Roseburg last night. And well the entertainment of the evening deserved the liberal patronage that it was accorded.

During the early part of the evening the guests were entertained by a literary and musical program, in which some of Roseburg's best talent participated. The several numbers were well executed, and in every instance the participants received hearty applause.

Following the program sweet cider, coffee, home made candy and pies were sold to those in attendance. The demand was even better than had been anticipated, and a neat sum was realized by those in charge. The proceeds of the evening will be used in further improving the Fullerton school playgrounds in West Roseburg.

The interior of the school building was decorated with pumpkins and other Halloween effects, and presented a most attractive appearance.

The members of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Fullerton school are five wives and never do anything by halves. In fact, an advertisement to the effect that an event is to be given under the auspices of this association is a guarantee that it is well worth attending.

W. F. Rodolf, a former architect, arrived here this morning after a couple of weeks spent at points in the northern part of the state. He is at present en route back to his home in California, where he moved upon leaving this city.

A Battle, If Lost, Meant Starvation!

Food and Fuel—Prize of a Fifteen-Hour Battle

The first group of walrus were allowed to pass. They proved to be a herd of twenty-one mammoth creatures, and, entirely aside from the danger of attack, their unanimous plunge would have raised a sea that must have swamped us.

On the next pan were but three spots. At a distance we persuaded ourselves that they were small—for we had no ambition for formidable attacks. One thousand pounds of meat would have been sufficient for us. They proved, however, to be the largest bulls of the lot. As they neared the point, the hickory oars of the boat were gripped—and out we shot. They all rose to meet us, displaying the glitter of ivory tusks from little heads against huge wrinkled necks. They grunted and snorted viciously—but the speed of the boat did not slacken. E-tuk-i-shook rose. With a savage thrust he sank the harpoon into a yielding neck.
