New Tariff Reduces Cost of Religious Supplies.

MEN SHOULD NOW ATTEND CHURCH

New Tariff Law Reduces Price of Organs, Stained Glass, Bibles and Many Other Articles.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The American husband who has been wont to settle himself in his easy chair, plant his feet on another and spend Sunday morning reading the newspapers, and also the husband who plays golf whilst his wife and children represent the family church, will have less excuse hereafter than ever before to "cut" divine service. The new Democratic tariff law, it is confidently believed, will make church-going cheaper.

For one thing, the import tax of twenty-five per cent, which amounts to about 50 cents apiece on the popular editions of foreign made bibles, is removed entirely. All down the line of religious supplies the new tariff aims at retail reductions. Organs are reduced ten per cent in import duty, stained glass windows should be some cheaper owing to a ten per cent tariff cut; music is reduced ten per cent and church furniture from seven to ten per cent.

Another series of reductions in the tariff which should make all church supplies cheaper is aimed at all tracts, pamphlets and religious paraphernalia, from which import duties have been entirely removed. Going on the theory that the Democrats, as they promised, would remove or lower import tariffs on all "necessaries of life," the new schedules on religious goods of all kinds show that the National Congress is at least religious and believes religion a "necessity."

Grandma, by the way, should be able to get along with less expenditure, since the tariff has been cut on spectacles and peppermint drops, that the former should be about fifteen per cent cheaper and the latter almost as much so.

Splendid moving pictures at the Antlers. See them.
