FRED MARSHALL

Once Served Term in Idaho For Forgery.

HE EXECUTED MANY FALSE MORTGAGES

Wanted at North Yakima, Wash.—News Uncertain Record of Criminal Arrested in Roseburg Yesterday.

SAND POINT, Idaho, Nov. 19.—That Fred Marshall, alias J. H. Taylor, arrested at Roseburg yesterday on a warrant from Eugene, Ore., is the same person who three years ago was sentenced to a term of one year in the Idaho penitentiary for forgery in the belief of the officers of this city.

At the time Marshall was sent to the penitentiary from this city he admitted killing a man, but gave no particulars of the crime. Seven years ago a man named Schultz was killed at San Point, Idaho, and his slayer was never known. That Marshall was the slayer of Schultz is possible.

Fred Marshall was never employed in an official capacity here, or in any other Idaho city.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Nov. 19.—Fred A. Marshall, alias J. H. Taylor, arrested in Roseburg yesterday, is wanted here on charges of executing worthless bills of sale, mortgages and other securities. His shady operations in this city totalled more than $4,000. When he departed from here last August with his family he left assets consisting of 60 tons of baled hay, a crop of alfalfa, still uncut, and several horses of small value.

Marshall worked an 80-acre tract on the Yakima Indian reservation for about a year before his disappearance. Several banks and business houses of this city and Toppenish, are his creditors. Marshall freely mortgaged his horses, which were already covered with a bill of sale. Other horses, which he never owned, he also mortgaged. He also secured credit here through false representations.

Marshall is considered a dangerous character and the Yakima officers will make a determined effort to have him returned here for trial. That they have a clear case against him is their claim.

Marshall generally carries a suitcase well filled with medicine which he exhibits when locked in jail. Through this array of medicine he sometimes succeeds in making the officers believe that he is ill and needs attention. He also travels with a crippled woman, who is thought to be his daughter.

OLLIVANT HOME IS RANSACKED BY BURGLARS

SOME TIME LAST NIGHT

Entrance Is Effected Through Basement Door—Wood Lift Smashed With Axe.

Some unknown person or persons last night entered the home of Mrs. Lucy O. Ollivant, on Miller street, ransacked the interior of the residence and escaped unnoticed. Inasmuch as Mrs. Ollivant is at present visiting at Myrtlefield the amount of the loot secured by the robbers cannot be determined.

The prowlers forced entrance to the home by breaking the lock on the basement door. They took an axe, smashed the wood lift and crawled through the opening into the main part of the home. The guilty parties were most thorough in their search. Other than ransacking the bureau drawers they inspected the mattresses as well as searching the most secluded portions of the residence.

The robbery was discovered early this morning by Mrs. Edward Neely, a neighbor, and the officers were notified. It is believed that the persons responsible for the job had knowledge that Mrs. Ollivant was absent from the city. At least, they apparently consumed considerable time in making the search, and from appearances were little afraid of being detected.

JUDGE HAMILTON GRANTS NEW TRIAL IN CASE OF BOGARD VS. C. A. OTT

Judge Revises Former Decision and Grants Motion of Bogard's Attorneys.

Judge Hamilton late yesterday granted the motion of Attorney Albert Abraham for a new trial in the case of W. A. Bogard vs. C. A. Ott. The action was recently brought by Bogard to recover the sum of approximately $290, alleged to be due as commission in the sale of a certain piece of real estate.

At the trial a few days ago Judge Hamilton granted a non-suit on a motion submitted by the attorneys for the defendant. The attorneys for the plaintiff later made a motion for a new trial, on the grounds that the court had erred in taking the case from the jury. An order granting a new trial followed.

JENNINGS GONE

All efforts to locate E. W. Jennings, of Portland, who was recently indicted by the grand jury here charged with shooting and seriously injuring a dog belonging to Ike Gervais, have failed. The Portland officers failed to find Jennings there, and so notified Sheriff Quine. It is believed he has left the state in order to escape prosecution.

church, there being about 50 ladies present. The subject of the lesson was "The Economic Position of Women." The lesson was prepared by Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Honck. A general discussion, dealing with position women hold in the olden times as compared with her position in this age, followed the lesson.

PLEASANT VISIT

Roseburg Excursionists Greeted By Southern Residents.

"BOOSTERS" MEETING HIGHLY ENDORSED

Glendale and Myrtle Creek Citizens Promise to Send Big Delegation Here December 4—Excursion Enjoyed.

A number of local business and professional men boarded the early southbound passenger train this morning for Glendale, Myrtle Creek and Riddle where they spent the day, enjoining the people of those towns relative to the big booster meeting to be held in Roseburg on December 4.

The excursionists arrived at Glendale shortly after seven o'clock, where they remained until after 11 o'clock when they returned to Myrtle Creek. The afternoon was spent at the latter place. This evening the excursionists will visit with the Riddle people. The party will return here at 11 o'clock tonight.

The junket was arranged for the express purpose of interesting the people of the smaller towns of the county in the December meeting to be held in Roseburg. The junketers were not as numerous as had been desired. Dr. Seely was in command of the party.

According to reports received here this afternoon the excursionists were well received at both Glendale and Myrtle Creek, and anticipate a similar reception at Riddle this evening. The Glendale and Myrtle Creek people have promised to come to Roseburg in a body on December 4, and thereby show their appreciation of what is being done in the direction of furthering the interests of Oregon. The excursionists found practically every town at all of the towns visited, and nowhere was the junketer to be found. That the junket will result in bringing hundreds of people to this city is the belief of those who made up the party.

PRISONER GONE

Marshall Taken to Eugene This Morning.

SHERIFF PARKER, OF LANE CO., ESCORT

Eugene Officer Says Marshall Will Probably Be Turned Over to the Washington Officers for Prosecution—A Bad Man.

PRISONER GOES.

Sheriff Parker, of Eugene arrived here last night and left this morning with Fred A. Marshall, wanted there on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. Sheriff Parker says Marshall is wanted badly at North Yakima, Wash., where four warrants are held against him. It is Sheriff Parker's opinion that Marshall was simply bluffing when he said he killed a man at Sand Point, Idaho. At least the officers at Sand Point have no knowledge of such a crime being committed there. Sheriff Parker says Marshall will probably be turned over to the Washington officials for prosecution.

The Eugene Register, in today's issue, has the following comment on Marshall's arrest:

Frank Marshall, alias J. H. Taylor, wanted in Eugene for assault with a dangerous weapon, and in North Yakima, Washington, on a felony charge, was captured in Roseburg Monday night, according to word received in Eugene yesterday morning. Sheriff Parker left last night and will return today with the man, for whom the police of Eugene sought two weeks, and who finally escaped Saturday night after playing a ruse of being an invalid and traveling about the city in a closed carriage.

The man is a former United States marshal at Sand Point, Idaho. He is not a murderer, although he is said to have killed a man in pursuance of his duty at that point. The Sand Point officials replied to a query by wire yesterday stating that he was not wanted.

Saturday evening in Eugene he was aware that the police were on his trail, and attempted to force Mrs. A. Reeves, his landlady at 493 Eight avenue east, to leave with him at the point of the gun. The affair occurred while the police were having trouble with the high school students, and the man escaped.

While in the city Marshall engaged rooms at Mrs. Reeves, saying that he was an invalid, and that it was necessary for him to travel about in taxicabs and cabs while here. It was this fact that baffled the police for they even were unable to see him about town. He rode to Springfield and to the moving picture shows in cabs and never did appear walking on the streets while in Eugene.

Marshall realized that the police were making Eugene a dangerous place for him, so he left in company with his son-in-law and daughter, Arthur and Bessie Holmes, for Roseburg Saturday.

Sheriff Parker then took the matter in hand, on advice from North Yakima, and started a series of messages up and down the valley giving descriptions of the man, what went under the name of J. H. Taylor while in Eugene. These descriptions tallied with those of the man that the North Yakima authorities were after on a charge of felony.

Sheriff Quine, of Roseburg, found a man registered at one of the hotels in Roseburg under the name of Taylor and arrested him. Yesterday morning Sheriff Quine telephoned Sheriff Parker that the man he had arrested had since confessed to the murder of a man at Sand Point, Idaho. (This added another list to the man's crimes that the local authorities knew nothing of, but Sheriff Parker notified the Roseburg officials that they would come for the man as quickly as possible and bring him back to Eugene.)

IS IDENTIFIED

Man Killed at Leland Robbed Riddle Store.

KNIVES FOUND IN HIS POSSESSION

Sheriff Quine Receives Photograph of Dead Man This Morning—Other Robberies Charged Against Him.

That the unidentified man, recently killed by a Southern Pacific train, near Leland, in Southern Oregon, was the same person who recently entered and robbed the store of the Riddle Hardware Company, at Riddle, had been established beyond any doubt.

According to information received by Sheriff Quine today, a package carried by the man was opened following his death, and in it was found two dozen knives. These knives, it has been established were taken from the Riddle store on the night of the robbery. Inasmuch as several other robberies have occurred at southern points between the date of the Riddle burglary and the time the fellow was killed, the officers are of the opinion that the dead man was working his way south by degrees, and was in the business of looting stores and other business establishments.

Sheriff Quine also received today a photograph of the dead man, with instructions to ascertain if such a fellow ever visited in this city. As far as can be determined by the sheriff the fellow is a total stranger in this locality.

Barnard Krackenberg has filed a suit in the circuit court, in which he seeks to recover the sum of $100.00 from Harry Graef. Other than the principal plaintiff asks for interest, together with the costs and disbursements incurred in bringing the action. The amount of the claim is said to be due on a promissory note.

CREW RETURNS

Member Tells of Death of E. B. McAllister.

MISSER HAND-HOLD, FALLS ON TRACK

Remains Will Be Brought to Roseburg Tonight For Interment—Body Said To Be Horribly Mangled.

According to statements of the train companions of E. B. McAllister, who was early yesterday killed at a point a few miles north of Grants Pass, The News last evening had a correct account of the horrible accident.

In telling of the accident this morning, a member of the crew stated that McAllister, who was known as the head brakeman, was sent out to flag an approaching train. He flagged the train as instructed, and this was the last time he was seen alive. Although there were no eye witnesses to the tragedy the members of the train crew insist that in attempting to board the train he flagged with a view of riding up the track a short distance he missed the hand hold and plunged between the cars. The entire train passed over his body, which was mangled almost beyond recognition.

The remains of the deceased will arrive here on train No. 16 tonight, and the funeral may be held tomorrow.

The Grants Pass Courier, in yesterday's issue, has the following to say regarding W. D. Turner, who sustained the loss of a leg as the result of falling from the top of a box car:

"Turner was walking along the top of the cars when he fell in some unaccountable manner between two of the cars and the right leg was so badly crushed just above the ankle that amputation of the foot was necessary. The left foot was also severely lacerated, but will suffer no permanent injury. The injured man was taken aboard the train and hurried to the South Pacific hospital in this city, where he was given immediate surgical care. He is 28 years of age."

Turner's parents, reside in Iowa, from which state he came about a year ago. A brother-in-law, living at Wilbur, left for Grants Pass last night to visit the patient, and do whatever possible toward his relief.

The case was first heard by the county court, and an order was issued authorizing construction of the

A GAME OF WAIT

Wilson Believed to be the Best Stayer.

HUERTA HOLDS FAST HIS DICTATORSHIP

Save For a Noticeable Closing In of The Lines Conditions in Mexico Are Practically Unchanged Today.

(Special to The Evening News.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—In administration circles there were no evidences of perturbation today over news from Mexico. The president, it is understood, believes that matters will take a satisfactory course automatically, assuming that no overt act of violence against foreigners is likely to occur under the Huerta regime. It is the president's belief that he can outwait the dictator. Administration officials made it plain today that if to continue unofficial negotiations with General Carranza depend upon the furnishing of formal credentials to Hale, they will terminate immediately. The government it is stated, will not take any immediate step involving recognition of the constitutionalist cause.

Huerta Holds Job.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—There are no signs of any immediate change in the situation here. Huerta holds on to the reins of government, and from his offices in the castle dictates the course of the government. The program for the meeting, tomorrow, of the congress which President Wilson has said he will not recognize, remains uncancelled. American Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy stated that he was not going to Vera Cruz, as was reported yesterday, neither did he expect any instructions from his government to leave the Mexican capital unless Huerta handed him his passports. All foreigners who remain in the city are ready for a hasty departure in event the situation becomes immediately alarming.

News that Pres. del Macho, on the railroad line between Vera Cruz and Mexico, was being arrested fortified has added considerably to the fear that the line may be destroyed in places, thus making it impossible for those foreigners in the capital to escape to the coast in case the capital is attacked.

Relief Change Capital.

NOGALES, Sonora, Nov. 19.—General Carranza and his constitutionalist cabinet were expected to leave Nogales for Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, by special train at two o'clock this afternoon, according to statements made by a member of the rebel junta. Carranza's negotiations with Bayarrit have are understood to have been abandoned.

MERCHANTS PREPARE NEW ORDINANCE—TO BE SUBMITTED AT LATER DATE

Draymen Will Not Be Held Liable As Under the Former Ordinance.

Attorney Albert Abraham and Secretary Board of the Roseburg and Douglas County Merchants Association, yesterday prepared an ordinance to supplement the one submitted to the council at a recent meeting.

The ordinance has for its purpose the registration of all goods moved by draymen within or out of the city. Under the new ordinance the draymen will not be held liable for (also registration of goods, in the event they have been delivered. Notwithstanding, however, the draymen will be compelled to make diligent inquiry regarding all goods moved and register the same with the city recorder.

It is probable that the old ordinance will be sidetracked by the merchants in order that the new ordinance may have the preference when considered by the council.

TO-DAY Is The Fiftieth Anniversary Of

Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address

This oration is one of the greatest events in our history. It is in form and spirit the most perfect of appeals to patriotism, issuing from the lips of the noblest and most beloved of American statesmen. What Lincoln said with such consummate yet simple eloquence, each succeeding generation has need to resolve "That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth." The oration follows:

FOUR score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war testing whether that nation or any other nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great test remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth.
