E. J. Caffery, former chief of police at North Bend, Coos county, passed through here this morning enroute to San Francisco after some time spent in Idaho visiting with his brother. Mr. Caffery says the people of Idaho are much interested in Western Oregon, and that a number of them expect to come to Roseburg next spring.

Bert Belleu, who runs a barber shop on Front street, was arrested by Constable Cox yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by James McCall charging assault and battery. The case will be tried before Justice Pennock this afternoon. McCall owned the Spokane restaurant, which is in one side of the building occupied by the barber shop. He had the place up for sale and had sold it to a man named Stewart. It appears that Belleu had also arranged for another man to take over the place, on which the rent had been paid by McCall to January 19. McCall and Belleu began to argue the matter over and the former alleges the latter slapped his face and cursed him out. Stewart, who tried to move the fixtures he is said to have bought from McCall, also appeared before Justice Pennock yesterday afternoon, stating that he had also been hammered by Belleu. It is expected the trial will prove interesting. —Coos Bay Times.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kern, of North Bend, Coos county, were visitors in Roseburg for a few hours today. They are about home after some time spent at northern points.

Through a real estate deal which was closed here Tuesday, Frank B. Waite transferred to Rev. Edwin Doering, of the German Lutheran Church, of Portland, the Round Prairie ranch of 3,542 acres, located eight miles south of Roseburg. The consideration was $16,500 per acre. The ranch is the old homestead of Mr. Waite's family, and the soil is said to be of the very best quality. It is to be divided into small tracts and will be occupied by about thirty German families. Ten of these families will come from points in California and the balance from Portland, Washington and Minnesota.—Sutherland Sun.
