

FOR COUNTY CLERK.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Clerk subject to the will of the voters of the Democratic party at the primary election to be held May 15, 1914.

E. H. LENOX.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER ON REPUBLICAN TICKET

In seeking re-election to the office of county treasurer, I feel that I am fitted by long training and experience, to continue to give the people efficient service.

During my terms of office the work has been largely increased by the legislature without a single advance in salary and by the natural increase caused by changing economic conditions. And the county court has been asked to pay out but one bill of $15.00 for deputy hire during this time, and that on account of having to refund special road tax held by the court to be illegally collected.

Each year when taking vacations, I have paid the office help left in charge, out of my own personal funds.

The last legislature transferred the tax collecting department from the sheriff's office to the treasurer's office thereby making it desirable for the taxpayers to keep a "trained man on the job."

I have conducted this office on strict business principles, in the interest of all the people, and if you want that kind of a county treasurer for the succeeding term I will be very grateful for your influence and vote.

SUBURBAN PLANNING.

The Suburban Planning association asks:

Has your community a definite civic program upon which the citizens, churches, clubs, associations and other organizations will tender their efforts during the coming seasons? Have you asked these questions?

First.—What is most needed to make your home community more healthful, purer and more beautiful to live in?

Second.—How can this need be most speedily met?

Third.—What are the agencies that can best undertake the task?

Fourth.—What should be my share in this civic task, and why?

STREET CANS SUCCESSFUL.

Philadelphia Housing Commission's Experiment Bears Good Results.

One of the many important activities of the Philadelphia housing commission, as shown by its recently published annual report, has been a study of the efficiency of the bureau of street cleaning in the congested areas.

Here it was found that the tenants were largely to blame for dirty streets. They would wrap up their garbage in paper and throw it into the street cutters, or they would sweep the dirt from their stores and yards upon the pavement, or they would throw waste paper and rubbish into the street, so that within an hour after the street cleaners had gone through the street would be practically as filthy as before.

The commission felt that little could be accomplished in such areas by urging the street cleaners to more efficient service unless there was close cooperation on the part of the tenants. Assistant Chief Neall took a personal interest in the proposition placed before him and aided in securing a sum of money to purchase rubbish cans.

A trial area of eight blocks in one of the dirtiest sections of the city was plotted and sixty cans placed. Special circulars in English and Yiddish were distributed. Visitors speaking various languages were sent to every family to explain the purpose of the cans and to urge them to co-operate. The principals and teachers of the public schools in the neighborhood and the settlement workers were asked to instruct their scholars about the cans and the importance of keeping the streets clean. This campaign was duplicated several times, so that the adults as well as the children in the district became fully informed. The campaign was sufficiently effective to warrant councils to authorize the purchase of 1,492 more cans to continue the experiment on a larger scale.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

An Asset to Any Town Provided It is Well Organized.

A commercial club is the greatest asset of any town, providing it is well organized, says a contributor to the University Missouriian. But there has been an unwarranted misuse of the term in the last few years. Many so-called commercial clubs are merely unorganized groups of business men of a city who meet whenever any one comes along with some pet scheme. They act only when acted upon. But a real commercial club is something more than that.

A real commercial club is one that meets regularly. At each meeting some of the members give talks on things they think will make the town better. The needs of a town are discussed and ways and means of getting these needs satisfied are brought out in that way they are ready to adopt any new plan that is for the best interests of their city. There is just as much difference between an organization of this sort and one that is loosely organized as between a well trained army and an army of new recruits.

There are so many things that a good commercial club can do that it seems hardly possible to conceive of a town not having one. Yet there are many towns throughout this state which do not have one. They can look after the sanitation of the city, paving, street cleaning, fire protection, safety of public buildings, nuisances and other things. They can watch out for new enterprises and send representatives to interview prospective promoters and show them why they should come to the city.

You can notice that the town which prospers most has the liveliest commercial club.

TOWN PLANNING CONGRESSES

A Number of These Have Been Recently Held.

Manhood is every day becoming more cosmopolitan, and perhaps a significant indication of this is to be seen in the number of congresses, both national and international, that have recently been held. In connection with town planning and its allied subjects there have been held this year an international town planning congress at Orono, an international road congress, an international housing congress and an international congress of architects and in addition important congresses on housing and town planning both in London and several provincial towns. Held under the auspices of the national housing reform council, an important congress on town planning held under the auspices of the engineers at Norwich and also a sanitary congress. This national and international hand-shaking is certainly of value.

Heavy Bedding Spoils The Sleep

Most people cannot sleep well with heavy bed clothes. The weight makes them dream and uncomfortable, so that the refreshment required for the day's work is lost. Because of the composition and methods used in the manufacture of the Maish Comfort, it affords warmth without weight.

The Maish Comfort comes in beautiful designs, and each one large in size, large enough for a six foot man, and a little to tuck under besides.
