Chow Chow Dog That Came From China.

Photo by American Press Association.

About ten or twelve years ago there was imported into this country from China a dog that has become very popular and may be seen at all the big shows. The species are called chow chows, but of late this name has been abbreviated into just plain chow. The chow originally came from Siberia, where they were used to draw sledges. In China these dogs were improved and developed into very companionable house dogs. The chow has so thick and even a coat of long hair that when it is pressed down it rises again just as a sheep's wool will do. It has one characteristic that makes it different from all other breeds of dogs—a black tongue. Many dogs have black roofs to their mouths, but no chow is of the pure breed that has not a black tongue. There are two varieties commonly seen in this country, one all red and the other all black. The reds are the most often seen. The chow is a good tempered little animal, with a rather comical expression. For those who are fond of dogs, and most young people are, the chow is an affectionate and jolly companion. The chow pictured here won a prize at the last dog show in New York. He is of the red variety and is of the purest blood. As the picture shows, the chow is of compact and sturdy frame. He is of lively disposition and carries his tail tightly curled over the back.

The Traveling Ring.

The conjurer asks members of his audience to blind his hands behind him after he has seated himself in a chair among them. With his hands bound securely, making it possible for him to move but a few inches, he asks that somebody take a ring from his or her finger and place it in his teeth. Then he asks that they place a screen before him in order that the ring may not be embarrassed in their presence.

This accomplished, he asks them which of his fingers he shall make the ring leap upon. Of course everybody names a certain finger, and a moment later he asks that he may be released, when the ring is discovered resting upon that finger. Here is the way the trick is done. Immediately after you have been placed behind the screen lean slightly forward and permit the ring to drop into your lap. Then slowly let it slip between your legs to the chair. This must be done carefully or it will be heard as it drops. Then raise yourself, push it back with your body until it is within reach of your fingers. After that it will be easy to slip it on the proper finger.

Birds of a Feather.

"One day two little boys came very late for school. The teacher said to them, 'Come to my desk, boys.' And the boys came to the teacher's desk, looking at him as if they were going to cry. These boys' names were John and Benjamin. They were very good boys.

"And when they came to the teacher's desk the teacher said to John, 'Why are you so late?' and John said to the teacher, 'I overslept myself, teacher, and I dreamed I took a journey to New York, and just as I got to the station I awoke.' And the teacher said to Benjamin, 'Why are you so late?' and Benjamin said, 'I dreamed that I was standing by the station waiting for John.'"

Riddles.

Why should doctors be less liable than others to be upset on the ocean? Because they are more used to sea sickness.

Why is going like reciprocated love? Because it's a joint affection.

Why should soldiers be rather tired on the 1st of April? Because they have just had a march of thirty-one days.

Rights and Lefts.

Said the Right Hand to the Left Hand: "You're late, sugar dear. I do three-fourths of all our work. Think you are always busy."

Said the Left Hand to the Right Hand: "The saddest truth you say. Yet when our lady's married, 'Tis I will see the stove!"

Said the Right Foot to the Left Foot: "I find you very slow."

"The always I do make a start whenever abroad we go."

Said the Left Foot to the Right Foot: "Oh, excuse I'm the worst. Still when we get in trouble, isn't you also get there first?"

FOREST NOTES.

Nearly 4,000 acres were reforested in Montana and Northern Idaho during 1913, at an average cost of $7.50 an acre.

The best forested area of China is in Manchuria. The principal tree varieties are pine, cedar, larch, fir, yew, oak, ash, elm, walnut and birch.

Two forest officers in Washington and Oregon are writing popular descriptions of the trees on the Crater and Mt. Rainier national parks, for the use of visitors to the parks.

Gannett Peak, Wyoming, nearly 14,000 feet in elevation, and the highest mountain in the state, is on the divide between the Bonneville and Bridger national forests.

In Northern Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Southern Idaho, and Western Wyoming, the fires on national forests set by campers have decreased in four years from nearly a third to approximately one-fifth. Lightning fires have increased from less than one-fourth to nearly one-half. The relatively larger proportion from lightning, however, is due partly to increase in other causes.
