The Chautauqua as A Business Force

Merchants' Trade Journal of Des Moines Gives Views of Its Editor in a Hard Headed, Impartial Way.

The following are extracts from a comprehensive article to business men by a business man, the editor of the

Moines, an authority in its field:

"Any business man is glad to be able to say, 'We have a good Chautauqua in our town,' because the word Chautauqua is recognized as a symbol of culture, high ideals and broad thinking. These are things for any community to be proud of. But few people appreciate the Chautauqua as a business force, as most of them have never thought of it as such."

"Formerly it was thought that for one to gain an education it was necessary for him to drop his everyday work and go away to some great institution of learning. No one thought of having culture and training brought to the community, and while, of course we fully appreciate the fact that for one to receive a broad technical or professional education he must still go to the institutions of learning offering special courses of study along the lines that he wishes to follow, it is at the same time true that the people of hundreds and hundreds of communities throughout this country have been educated to a considerable degree and lifted to a higher place of thinking and living through the influence of this great educational movement."

"Go into any community where a force of this kind has been at work for a number of years and you will find that the whole appearance of the community has been changed. We might cite you to town after town that we have watched personally, and we could tell you of some of the splendid achievements of these towns, much of which can be traced to this source."

"But the point we wish to make in this article should be of direct and special interest to every retail merchant, men whose business success depends largely upon their community development. The Journal is glad to note that there is a tendency throughout the country to consider the subject of business and commerce from the Chautauqua platform. It is fitting to have business men's programs because business is, after all, the chief aim of a majority of our people. We mean business in the larger sense and not in the narrow sense of barter and trade, as the term is often misunderstood."

"Just now the question 'How can we keep the young man at home?' is a question receiving not only the attention of parents, but of educators and business men everywhere. But we want to say to our readers that in our opinion nothing can be done that will have a greater tendency toward causing more young men to stay at home in the smaller towns and rural communities, where they should be, than to give them the right kind of business teaching. Just such teaching as they have a right to expect from this great forum, the Chautauqua; just such teaching as they have a right to expect right in your own community.

This great movement, the Chautauqua, is demonstrating every day the fact that the community can be bettered by giving the people thoughts and ideas that uplift and broaden them. Then if it is true that this thing is having a tendency to benefit the communities in a business way it is only good business on the part of business men of any community to co-operate in the matter of giving the people business training and instruction from this great forum."

MANY TOURISTS
GOING THROUGH

SEATTLE, Wash., May 31—Seventy five per cent of the tourists who visit the California exposition and do not intend to remain in the southern state for a long period of time, will return home through the Pacific Northwest, according to prominent Shriners returning to Seattle from extended trip through California.
While the past winter's "crop" of tourists has not been up to the usual standard, due to business conditions, the tide has already turned and immediately after June 1 the hordes will begin to roll in. The European war has compelled many to turn westward for their travel and the entire Northwest will benefit immeasurably from it this summer. At least 100,- 000 nobles with wives and children will visit Seattle in July for the Imperial Council session of the Shrine.
One railroad has already contracted for sixty special trains to bring the more than 150 specials is estimated.

In returning home these tourists will go via Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco, except such delegates as come direct from the south, who will go home by the northern route.
Elaborate preparations are being made in those cities for the entertainment of the nobles.

Seattle will spend more than $100,- 000 in giving the Shriners the time of their lives while in the Northwest.
Side trips, extensive social fêtes, parades, pageants, band concerts, balls and similar events are already scheduled for the week.

There will be no meeting of the city council tonight owing to the fact that this is the 5th Monday in the month.

Hon. J. W. Hamilton returned yes-

Over at Winchester they have organized a baseball team which has much promise in it. They call themselves the Winchester Giants and so far this season they have justified this choice of their name. Saturday they came over to Edenbauer and played a picked team from that place.
When the game was ended the score stood 19 to 0 in favor of the Giants.
Yesterday they played the Wilbur
