MORGAN SHOT BY ASSASSIN

New York Financier Hit Twice By Revolver Bullets.

WOUNDS NOT CONSIDERED DANGEROUS

Assailant Says He is Willing to Give His Life For the Service Rendered Humanity.

NEW YORK, July 3.—J. P. Morgan was shot at his home in Glencove this morning, by a man believed to be a crank, who was at once arrested. The physicians says that the wounds are not serious.

GLENCOVE, Long Island, July 3.—J. P. Morgan was shot at his home here early this morning by an unidentified man, apparently of German extraction, who eluded the butler. Carrying a revolver in each hand, he rushed immediately into the presence of the financier and after a brief exchange of words, he opened fire. Morgan is known to have been hit once. The servants are reported to have declared that two shots were effective. One shot entered the groin and emerged at the hip. Morgan grappled with his assailant, and with the assistance of the butler, the man was overpowered and turned over to the police. He refused to give his name or any account of himself.

GLENCOVE, Later.—"I am willing to give my life for the service I have rendered humanity. Morgan should have been killed. He started this war and could have stopped it if he had wanted to." This was the statement of the man who shot Morgan, according to Justice Luyster. Luyster said that he refused to discuss the shooting, beyond that he had no accomplices but God Almighty. The man had a distinct German accent, Luyster said.

PORTLAND PARTIES DIVERT TOURISTS

The attention of the Douglas County Merchants Association has been called to the fact that certain parties and organizations in Portland are routing the tourist travel which makes a stop in that city, through eastern Oregon. The Jackson County Business Men's Association has entered a strong protest to this move and have written to the proper authorities in Portland in order to ascertain the reason for this move. It has been pointed out to the Portland chamber of commerce and also to the automobile club of that city that far better roads are to be had in the western part of the state, as well as better supply stations, better hotel accommodations and better camping facilities to say nothing of the unsurpassed scenery through which the tourist must pass from the time they leave Portland until they reach San Francisco. In comparison to this the eastern part of the state offers nothing but a few towns of any consequence through which the traveler must pass with a corresponding lack of hotel facilities. The roads are no comparison to the Pacific highway and the scenery is one vast stretch of sand and sage brush.

The secretary of the Oregon Retail Merchants Association has been appealed to to correct the false impressions which have been created by these parties and he has promised to do everything in his power to divert the tourist travel to the western counties.

With the vast amount of money which has been expended by the various counties through which the Pacific highway passes and the advantages that the western counties offer in scenery, supply stations and hotels there is no legitimate reason for the tourist travel no coming over this route.

mystery is thrown about the extent of the injuries of Morgan, and reports differ. One said that a bullet entered the chest and came out under his arm. It is definitely stated that one entered the groin and made its exit through the thigh. The family reports that the financier is "not seriously wounded," but there is a well defined belief that this is designed to allay fears while the stock market is open. After Dr. W. H. Zabriskie, dressed Morgan's wound, Dr. J. W. Markoe, a specialist, was summoned from New York. After an examination by Markoe, he announced that the wound was not serious, and that there was no danger except from infection.

Morgan was at breakfast with Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, ambassador from England, when the assailant, who told the police that his name was F. Holt, and that he was a professor at Cornell, forced his entrance into the house. No explanation is made as to the presence of the British ambassador by the associates of Morgan, except that he was a guest. The prisoner reiterated he had shot Morgan because of the alleged connection of the financier with the war. Dr. J. S. Connelly said the prisoner was undoubtedly mentally unbalanced.

MORGAN ORDERS "NO TALKING"

GLENCOVE, July 3.—Dr. John Zabriskie refused to confirm or deny that the condition of Morgan was serious. He said the financier instructed him not to talk. "Is Morgan's life in danger?" he was asked. "A man's life is always in danger when he is shot," Zabriskie responded. Members of the family said that Holt shot twice, but only one was effective. The first shot shattered a valuable portrait in the hall, the second struck Morgan in the groin. Frank Holt sent the following telegram to his wife in Dallas, Texas: "Man proposes, God disposes. Don't come until you get my letters. Be strong."

KENDALL PARTY ARRIVES IN CITY

Will Spend Few Days Camping --Return Tuesday.

DELIGHTED OVER RESULT OF ELECTION

Construction Work May Begin by August First—Awaits The Decision of The Supreme Court.

The party of eastern capitalists headed by S. A. Kendall, of Pittsburg, arrived in the city this morning from Portland where they stopped a few days before coming to Roseburg. Accompanying Mr. Kendall is his wife and two sons, Samuel, Jr., and John M., J. L. Snyder and wife, of Wellsboro, Pa.; T. D. Justus and A. L. Justus, of Baltimore, Mr.; R. S. Johnson, of Philadelphia; J. M. Henderson and wife, of Pittsburg, and J. E. McKelvey, of Somerset, Pa.

Mr. Kendall again expressed his pleasure at the splendid vote given the railroad proposition at the recent special election, but showed keen disappointment when informed that the decision of Judge Skipworth in the case of Harry Pearce against the city had not been handed down. According to the word left by Judge Skipworth before he left the city to hold court in Jackson county, the decision could be looked for shortly after the 4th of July and the opinion of several attorneys of the city is that it will be received here about next Tuesday.

The entire party of eastern people accompanied by Henry Richardson and wife, J. W. Perkins and wife and John White and wife and F. M. von Planta left this morning in autos for Rock creek where they will camp out for a few days and on next Tuesday morning the gentlemen of the party will return to the city and take up the work that is before them.

It has been intimated that some changes will be made in the second floor of the Perkins building in order that a large suite of office rooms can be arranged for the use of the lumber and railroad company. Mr. Snyder, who was with Mr. Kendall at the time the banquet was given in his honor, will remain in the city, according to word given out this morning and will have complete charge of the railroad after it has been put into running order. Mr. McKelvey is also expected to take up his residence in this city. He is a lumber man of wide experience and will take an active interest in the management of the mills which will be built.

According to information given out this morning by parties who are in close touch with affairs, it is expected that if a favorable decision is handed down by the supreme court of the state, construction work will be commenced by the first of August. The field work of the engineering party has been suspended during the past few weeks in order to allow the office force to catch up with the work Mr. Kendall it is expected to place done by them and with the arrival of two crews of men in the field and to push the work as rapidly as possible.

In answer to further questioning this morning Mr. Kendall stated that until Tuesday morning the entire party intended to play, after which a statement would be furnished to the press upon their return to this city.

ALLIES SCORE OVER TURKS

SULTANS TROOPS FIGHT VALIANTLY

Almost Impregnable Natural Fortress Also Adds to Difficulties of Invaders—Fight Resolves Into Battle of Fists.

LONDON, July 3.—An official statement given out by the British government tonight announces the capture of certain trenches in the Dardanelles operations which complete the capture of that part of the Turkish line gained by the French on June 21.

The full text of the statement follows:

"General Sir Ian Hamilton reports that on June 29 hostile columns moving west from North Achi Baba and south from Kild Bahr toward the Turkish right flank indicated that the enemy was preparing for a counter-attack against a position we captured on the previous day. During the evening two mine galleries in front of our right center were blown in, after which the enemy subjected the trenches to a heavy rifle and machine gun fire for two hours. After a lull and another outburst of fire, a determined attack was made against the left of our position with the bayonet. This attack was repulsed with a heavy loss to the enemy.

"On the southern front the Turks made a concerted attack along the coast, where H. M. S. Wolverine, a destroyer, got searchlights and guns onto the main body and caused a heavy loss.

Attack Checked at Close Quarters.

"To the east the attack was pressed closer under heavy artillery fire, but finally was checked about 40 yards from our parapet. Bomb attacks and intermittent shelling continued, but no further general attack was made, and at 6:30 a. m. the French moved out and by 7:20 a. m. had taken a strong system of entrenchments immediately in front of the left center of the line called by them quadrilateral.

"A number of Turks were driven out of the trenches by the French bombardment, and much execution was done during their retreat. Subsequently trenches adjacent to the quadrilateral to the south were captured after more serious fighting, thus completing the capture of all of that part of the enemy's line required to round out the gains made by the French on June 21. The enemy's losses everywhere were considerable. The captured positions are being consolidated."

The British press representative in the Dardanelles sends a dispatch by way of Alexandria, dated from the latter place Friday, in which he describes the battle of Seli Baba. This began with an allied advance June 4 and the correspondent says it still continues.

BURKETT INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Cal Burkett was brought to this city this morning in a badly bruised and battered condition as the result of an auto accident last night. The accident, which occurred last night about six o'clock, near Wilbur, was caused, it is said by those who were in the jitney a short distance away, by the bursting of a rear tire.

Burkett was endeavoring at the time to overtake a jitney driven by Vernon Vinson which was a few yards ahead and traveling at a rate considerably over 30 miles per hour. A report sounding like a rifle shot caused the occupants of the leading car to turn and look back and they saw the auto driven by Burkett leave the road and strike a culvert at the side. The auto then turned three complete somersaults, and landed

NO PAPER MONDAY.

Inasmuch as Monday has been decided upon by the business houses of this city on which they will close, and as the postoffice and banks will also be closed that day, The News will observe the same date, instead of Saturday as previously announced. The paper will appear on Saturday as usual, but there will be no issue of the daily on Monday. The Monday Semi-Weekly will be issued on Tuesday so there will be no issue of that paper missing.

bottom side up at a distance of one hundred and twenty feet from the place where it struck to culvert.

The unfortunate driver was found lying unconscious with one arm pinned beneath the overturned car. The car was lifted from off the man's arm and he was taken to a house nearby and a doctor summoned from this city. Upon examination it was found that no bones had been broken, although he was badly bruised and it was feared that there might be internal injuries.

Early this morning Burnett recovered consciousness and was brought to Roseburg and taken to Kirk's rooming house. Upon examination this morning the doctor reported that unless he was injured internally he would recover from the accident but that his bruised and shaken condition would keep him in his bed for some time.

The accident happened so quickly that the Burkett had no time to shut off the engine or to apply the brakes and when the occupants of the jitney reached the scene the engine was still running and the wheels spinning.

The scene of the accident is a short way this side of Wilbur where the road, after crossing a small bridge leads up a short rocky incline. According to auto drivers this stretch of road is very difficult to drive over at high speed and it was claimed that Burkett, in his endeavor to pass the other car was driving between 35 and 40 miles per hour.

Burkett has the reputation of being a speedy driver, the statement having been made that he could get more speed out of a Ford than any other man in the state. The car driven by Burkett was badly wrecked, the rear part of the body being completely demolished while one wheel was broken and the entire frame badly bent and twisted.

THREE DIE IN WRECK NEAR RANIER

SEATTLE, July 3.—At least three were killed and thirty injured when a locomotive and two passenger coaches of the Milwaukee train from Grays Harbor jumped the track at a trestle near Rainier, and plunged down on a freight train which was passing underneath. It is known that the fireman, Gene Gore, of the Milwaukee train was killed, and the names of the other dead were not learned. It is impossible to state definitely how many are killed on account of the train, when leaping from the trestle, took down all the telephone and telegraph wires.

J. C. Henry, a prominent beef packer of Seattle, and his wife stepped over night at the Grand hotel en route to their home after an extended visit in different cities in California. Mr. Henry stated that the roads between this city and the California line were not in the best of condition and considerable difficulty was encountered in making the trip.

WITH THE RUSSIAN ARMY IN THE VICINITY OF LEMBERG

Siberian infantry in retreat; in the Russian trenches on the Dniester river.

These pictures, just received from Europe, were taken in the vicinity of Lemberg just before that city fell. During the two weeks before the city's evacuation the Russian lines slowly fell back. One of the accompanying pictures indicates that the retreat was made in good order. The other picture shows young Russian officers in the trenches watching the advance of the Austro-Germans.

Two causes are given by the Russians for their retreat: lack of ammunition, and superior numbers of Austro-Germans. It is known that many Germans from the western battle-front are being used in the Galician campaign.
