COURT OVERRULES POLICE IN FAVOR OF PASTOR PROPAGANDIST

HERBERT BIGELOW

"Thou shalt not steal," is a text fit to be preached on the streets. Under express sanction of a Cincinnati court, Herbert Bigelow, pastor of the People's church, is preaching it daily and nightly from the street corners.

When Bigelow applied for a permit to speak in public thoroughfares, John R. Holmes, director of safety, declined his sanction, but an action in mandamus forced him to issue the document.

"I want to get to the people and tell them what is meant by the application of Christianity to modern social problems," said Bigelow on the witness stand.

"We have the commandment 'thou shalt not steal.' The electric company is now trying to get a franchise for ten-cent electricity. If current can be delivered at a profit for from three to six cents per kilowatt hour, then a ten-cent rate is stealing, none the less reprehensible because it is done under sanction of law."

Director Holmes testified that he thought Bigelow was furthering an I. W. W. scheme, but declined to give his reason for thinking so.

The court of appeals, in upholding the churchman, cited his service as president of the constitutional convention of Ohio and as a legislator, finding him to be eminently qualified to discuss public questions from his own viewpoint.

BIGELOW ADDRESSING STREET CROWD

Bigelow is now addressing crowds daily and nightly from his automobile. At night he uses a stereopticon to illustrate the points of his speech. A reference by him to the fact that Jesus spoke on street corners drew fire from Charles P. Taft, whose newspaper printed an ironical comparison between Christ's gospel and what it called Bigelow's message of hate.

"Did I ever call anyone a hypocrite, a child of hell, a whitened sepulchre, a serpent or a viper?" asked Bigelow in his retort. "All these phrases were used by Jesus toward his critics."

"Mr. Taft owns a piece of ground that, by increase of population will be worth $100,000 more at the end of ten years. I say this increase belongs to the city and should be taken, as it is in German cities. Mr. Taft, I suppose, thinks he has a divine right to easy money. I do not hate him for this. I simply disagree with him."

MASS MEETING WELL ATTENDED

sities of life.

To refute the statements that with this bond issue the city taxes would be materially increased Mr. Hopkins called attention to the fact that with this influx of wealth new taxable property would be added to the tax rolls which would help bear the interest charges of the bonds.

The speaker was roundly applauded as he finished his remarks which were clearly put and phrased in such a manner that they were easily understood by everyone present.

Hon. Ora H. Porter made a short speech from the viewpoint of the taxpayer of the city and stated that he had just had a talk with men who had talked of bonding the state for the sum of $10,000,000 to be used for the purpose of building hard surface highways in this state and this stupendous sum did not startle them in the least. All of the men at this conference seemed to be of the opinion that many times this vast sum would return to the state after the completion of this system of highways by the increased value of farm lands and better markets for the farmers' crops.

"Vast resources are buried in this state of ours," Mr. Porter said, "and the only way to realize upon them is to invite capital into the state and to make some sort of a proposition whereby they will develop them."

After Mr. Porter had finished repeated cries were made for John Hunter and other members of the opposition to make a speech, but according to some of the crowd, Mr. Hunter was "stuck" and could not be present.

Determination was clearly seen upon the face of every man in the assemblage and it is safe to conclude that the concerted efforts of the ten men who claim to have the best interests of the city at heart will not be countenanced for a moment by the citizens of this city who by such an overwhelming majority voted to bond the city for the prosperity it will bring.

DOUGLAS COUNTY WINNER

Payment of Auditing Bill Incurred by State Unnecessary.

In a decision handed down here yesterday Judge Hamilton held that a contract executed between the state insurance commissioner and accountants employed by the state to examine the books of county officers is not binding upon the counties affected.

The decision was rendered on a decision filed to the complaint of McKenzie & Sons, of Portland, who sought to collect $550 for auditing the books of Douglas county. Payment of the bill was refused by the county court here and suit was instituted.

District Attorney Neuner demurred to the complaint on the ground that the county could not be held liable for any contract executed by the insurance commissioner, and was sustained.

ANOTHER KIND JAILER

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 23.—Famous prison keepers have nothing on W. W. Caldwell, warden of the Dauphin county jail, when it comes to kindness. The jail abuts on the county court house, a few feet away, and Caldwell regularly lets good prisoners play baseball in the yard. A few days ago a foul ball smacked through a big window in the office of President Judge George Kunkel, an repairs cost $6.45. But Caldwell merely had the prisoners put up a screen to guard against future accidents and called "play ball."

NEGRO TO DIE.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 23.—Millard Carpenter, negro, will die on the scaffold August 6 for the murder of J. T. Camp, a Birmingham transfer man, unless the governor intervenes, which is regarded as unlikely.

WAR NEWS ODDITIES.

A British private, home on leave, escaped three bullets within an hour during the fighting in France, one penetrating his pouch, another the neck on his back and a third destroying his rifle.

Writing from Malta, Private J. Searby, Royal Fusiliers tells of Turkish women snipers, their clothing, faces and rifles painted green to obscure them in the foliage.

A Bavarian infantryman in a hospital at Munich for four months with a bullet in his heart is apparently recovering.

King Alfonso, of Spain, has become an aviation enthusiast and frequently takes long trips on a military dirigible.

Andre Dardel, a youthful French sapper who has been wounded twice is recovering and will soon return to the trenches.

The first factory for the manufacture of British violins has been established in London and employs none but disabled soldiers and sailors.

Dorando Pietri, famous Olympic games marathon runner, has enlisted in the army and is driving a motor-car on the Italian front.

NOTED MEN HAVE BIRTHDAY TODAY

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Supreme Court Justice McReynolds today celebrated his 53rd birthday anniversary.

Today is also the birthday of many men prominent in public life, including Dr. Albert Shaw, former Gov. Stinson S. Pennell, of Delaware, and Representative Alfred G. Allen, of Ohio.

"All Cats look grey— at Night!"

JUST Rubber and Canvas—pumped full of air!
So thinks the Tire User who buys Pneuomatics "Blind," without comparison after thorough investigation.
So thinks the Car Owner who buys from the Cut Price Dealer, the "just as good" Tire on which that Dealer quotes him the biggest discount off a Price List specially printed up for that purpose.

So thinks the Man whose Tire bill averages nearly half of his entire Season's running Expenses, when it does not average one-fourth, if he would only "Work his head" and, once for all, leave the Tire Game.

THERE are Car Owners who regularly get 25% to 50% MORE Mileage, per Dollar invested in Tires, than do the Owners of other Cars driven with equal care, under equivalent road conditions.

The latter type of Owner is apt to conclude offhand (from his own experience) that all Tires must be Short-lived and Unsatisfactory.

Now this is to tell him that there is as much difference between the Mileage and Resiliency of different brands of Tires, when the facts are investigated, and proven through actual Service, as there is difference between the Color of Cats—when viewed by Daylight.

This is to inform him that three Rubber Factories using precisely the same quantity and quality of Materials might, and sometimes do, produce (through the difference in their Rubber EXPERIENCE and efficiency methods) Tires of such widely different Mileage-Result as to average 3000 Miles, 4000 Miles, and 5000 Miles respectively—under parallel road conditions.

COST of production is therefore no sure guide to the Mileage and Resiliency which can be put into such a subtle and "temperamental" product as the Rubber in a Pneumatic Tire.

And, though The B. F. Goodrich Co. can, and does, put the most Mileage per Dollar invested by the User, into Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, they do not interpret this as a reason why they should charge a higher price, to include an Insurance Premium which would place their "Adjustment Basis" beyond the safe and reasonable minimum that Bad Roads and Careless Driving make necessary.

Because of its Manufacturing Advantages, its Precision Methods, and Waste-reducing Processes (resulting from its 45 years' EXPERIENCE in the working of Rubber), The B. F. Goodrich Co. can afford to and does offer the greatest Mileage in Tires at the lowest price per Mile.

It sells the standard grade of Goodrich Safety Tires at 10% to 30% lower prices than other non-skid brands which "Guarantee" greater Mileage but cannot prove delivery of greater Mileage in actual use.
