A FEW DON'TS

♦ 00.
 go into the woods this week, it may be well to print again a few "don'ts", for as the office of the state game warden states, from now on, the man who goes into the woods takes a bigger chance than do the deer that live there, and for this reason the following are some of the "don'ts" to be observed:

- Don't shoot at moving snubs and brush.
- Don't shoot at anything until you see plainly what it is.
- Don't carry your gun loaded.
- Don't go into the woods without paying your insurance, and making your will.
- It is also recommended that you wear a red cap, a red sweater and a constant blush on your face, for there has been a systematic campaign carried on for years to prove to the food hunters that deer do not wear red caps and sweaters. You can't trap or snare deer, neither can you shoot them from the public highway. They can only be killed with the ordinary shoulder gun or revolver. This latter provision has been made to discourage the growing practice of hunting deer with light artillery and shrapnel shells. If the average amateur hunter will bear these and other instructions in mind, they will be more apt to return home unscathed, and some experienced hunter may.
- For the benefit of those who will couple of hams for—some marbles or chewing tobacco, while his friends who believe the story of his prowess—until his back is turned.

THE HOME TOWN.

By Nels Darling.
 (Copyright.)

I know of a farmer living near a town in Illinois who refused four hundred dollars an acre for his land. His is a good farm and yet there is just as good and productive soil on the Nile river. Farms in that locality are practically off the market. Why? Because of their proximity to a real wide-awake, thriving town. That town has excellent schools, modern churches, stores that are up-to-date and that are giving service.

The people appreciate these stores—they patronize them. They are run by men who know how to buy right, sell right and advertise. They meet competition through correct methods. If some customers wish cheap goods that are not quite up to the standard, at low prices, these merchants furnish them just that kind of merchandise. If they haven't the article in stock they send and get it. They tell the truth about their merchandise. When they advertise a twenty per cent reduction sale, they put it on. Everybody is treated with courtesy and all are made to feel that their trade is appreciated. These stores are giving service. That word service is a summary of the standard for measuring the value of a man in a community.

The person who appreciates service will not buy groceries of a mail order house and expect the local grocer to make a quick delivery on telephone call of something overlooked in giving the regular order for the day's dinner. The fair person will not ask the merchant to charge items after items, until quite a bill has been run up, if the ready money is being sent out of town to the mail order house.

When you compare prices, do not overlook the cost and the value of service.

Mr. Farmer, if you are a regular patron of these great catalog houses, do not complain when you fail to find in your local stores, some particular article you want. Do not ask for long credit when your crops are short, and give the home dealer the short end of your money when the crops are long.

It is peculiar how the details of a notorious crime will attract and fascinate the morbidly curious. Take for instance, the recent lynching of Leo Frank, it is stated that the tree on which he was hung has been surrounded by a crowd of souvenir hunters, seeking for splinters of the wood or fragments of the bark. To such an extent has this grown that the owner will encase it's trunk in concrete to prevent further mutilation. Just what particular charm such bits from the tree can possess, is not explained, but it may be that the average Southerner places them in the same category with the left hind foot of "brerer rabbit".

Dispatches from Germany state that pins, hooks and eyes, brass buttons and brass kettles have been ordered abolished throughout the empire, as the metal is needed for making shells, but they are keeping a factory going in the manufacture of iron crosses.

MARRIED.

The McClallen hotel was the scene of a very pretty wedding this morning at 10:30 when Rev. C. H. Cleaves, of the Methodist church, South, united in the holy bonds of matrimony Irvin R. Cribbens, a prominent rancher, residing at Bridge, and Miss Lillie Kirkendall, a very popular young lady of Camas Valley. The young couple will make their home at Bridge, where Mr. Cribbens has a new home awaiting the arrival of his bride.

Mrs. George Winstons was spending the afternoon in the city, shopping and calling on friends.

"EVER-LOCT"

WHY ARE THEY STRONGER?
 Because they unite the lens and mounting into one solid whole.

WHY DO THEY LAST LONGER?
 Because they can't come loose. Therefore there is no friction.

WHY ARE THEY NEATER?
 Because there is less metal and the design conforms to the lines of the lens. There is not a single angle to attract the eye.

WHY YOU SHOULD WEAR THEM.
 They'll give you Service. You will wear several of the old "holes and screw" type where one of the "EVER-LOCT" style will do. You will never be troubled with loose, wobbly and chipped lenses with "EVER-LOCTS" because its construction is such that it eliminates such objections entirely.

"EVER-LOCTS" are sold exclusively by us. We would like to show them to you.
