

GERMANY'S FLEET MAY GIVE BATTLE

LONDON, Jan. 22.—England is preparing herself for an attack from German superdreadnaughts, which are said to be armed with 17-inch guns and which are capable of throwing a shell weighing a ton, a distance of 20 miles.

The naval critic of the London News reports that the Teutons are arming several new battleships with this formidable weapon, which are believed to be the same kind of a gun which they used in the bombardment of Dunkirk months ago.

The critic stated that the new gun outclasses anything now in use in the British navy, and for this reason the Germans may risk a sortie from their naval base in the Kelt canal, and challenge England's fleet.

The newspapers are filled with reports of a new German battle plane called "Fokkar," which destroyed 16 British bi-planes during the past few months.

One paper is convinced that several of these "Fokkars" will accompany the next Zeppelin raid over London.

REPORT PROVED TO BE TRUE

As was reported in yesterday's issue of The News, Miss Mildred Wilson, a prominent young lady of this city, was quietly married at San Francisco to Luke Walker, an influential stock buyer of San Francisco. Miss Wilson and Mr. Walker became acquainted in Klamath Falls, the marriage being the outcome of a romance begun in the schools at that place.

Both of the contracting parties are well known in this city, Miss Wilson having resided in this city for the past five years, being a leader in the younger society circles and a very popular young lady. Her husband has made several business trips to Roseburg and has gained many friends here.

Miss Wilson has been spending several weeks in San Francisco making preparations for a theatrical career. Her play "Love Game" which was presented here, made a decided success, as has some of her compositions since taking up her residence in San Francisco.

The news of the wedding came as a surprise to their many friends in Roseburg, who unite with The News in extending their congratulations and well wishes.

ATLANTIC LINER ENCOUNTERS THE WORST STORM IN YEARS

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The giant American liner New York, arrived here today from Liverpool two days overdue, and after encountering one of the worst storms in years. The fury of the storm was at its height on last Sunday when the ship listed to an angle of 51 degrees.

Waves which were mountain high flooded the promenade deck, and swept away seven life boats, while the steel davits were twisted as though they had been made of wire. All sailors declared that it was the worst storm through which they had ever passed.

THIMBLE PARTY

Mrs. J. F. Barker and Miss Velle Barker yesterday afternoon entertained a number of their friends at a delightful party at their home at the corner of Lane and Kane streets.

The time was spent by the guests in social converse over their needlework, and late in the afternoon the hostesses served a delicious two-course repast at tables which were adorned with centerpieces of violets and hyacinths. The cards which assigned the guests to their places at the tables were decorated with sprays of violets, also. Mrs. Barker's daughter, Mrs. Louis Jouse, of Salem, and Miss Margaret McClallen assisted the hostesses in serving.

J. F. Barker & Co., yesterday filed suit in the justice court to collect $7.55 from Warren Lucas and wife. The sum is said to be due on goods purchased.

Tough Luck.
An old Cheshire woman called to her lord and master, "Jabez, will t'oom t'ha' baggin?" "Baggin" in Cheshire means dinner.
"What's use? Ah canna foind my old westkut."
"Well, it's warn enough. Tha can eyt w'out th' old westkut."
"Nay, that Ah canna. Ah've left my false teeth i' t' pockets."
"Then tha'll ba' to starve. Ah gave that westkut to t' ragman this mornin'g."

Wisdom and Knowledge.
Wisdom does not necessarily include knowledge any more than knowledge includes wisdom. Wisdom primarily means good sense, sound judgment, intelligence, while knowledge fundamentally means acquired information. One may in one way or another acquire lots of information and still be anything but wise, just as the man of sound judgment and quick and sure intelligence may be "short" on knowledge—that is, on the information acquired from books, learned intercourse, etc.—New York American.

Swans for the Table.
The swan as a dinner dish has been seen on English tables within comparatively recent times. "Up till a century or so ago," according to F. W. Hackwood, "swans were prepared for the table in and around Norwich. The young birds were put up to fatten in August, given as much barley as they would eat, and by November they were in prime condition. If kept longer they began to fall off, losing flesh and fat and the meat becoming darker in color. The corporation of Norwich still maintains its ancient swannery at St. Helen's swan pit and sells off a few of the fatted birds every Christmas at 2 guineas each."—London Chronicle.

A Child's Prayers.
If the mother would teach her child to pray she must first know how to pray herself. Then if she kneels by her child's bed and in simple words commits her household to the keeping of him who slumbers not nor sleeps her child will catch something of his mother's spirit and trustfulness and in time, learning to join with the mother in the words as he has already joined with her in the spirit of reverence and repose, will learn to pray. The mother who has no such experience cannot inspire it in her child, but must leave it to be given by some one better equipped than herself.—Lynn Abbott in Outlook.

To Make Delicious Date Bread.
Mix one cupful of warm wheat mush, one-fourth cupful of brown sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of butter, then add one-fourth yeast cake, broken in pieces and dissolved in one-fourth cupful of lukewarm water, and two and one-fourth cupfuls of bread flour, once sifted. Pass on a slightly floured board and knead. Return to the mixing bowl, cover and let rise overnight. In the morning cut down and add two-thirds cupful of dates stoned and cut in pieces and two-thirds cupful of chopped English walnut meats. Shape into a loaf, put in buttered bread pan, cover and again let rise. Bake in a moderate oven fifty minutes.—Woman's Home Companion.

Slavery in England.
Slavery existed in England without any mitigating features worth speaking of until the time of the wars of the roses. Bracton, the famous lawyer of the time of Henry VIII, informs us that the condition of slaves was fearful. It was indeed slavery, pure and simple. All the goods a slave acquired belonged to his master, who could take them from him whenever he pleased, the slave having no redress at law; hence the impossibility of a man's purchasing his own freedom. The only hope for the slave was to try to get into one of the walled towns, when he became free, the townsmen granting him liberty on the condition of his helping them fight the nobles.

The Simplon Pass.
The Simplon pass was a famous highway of travel long before Napoleon constructed the highroad. Milton came home that way from his grand tour, and so did John Evelyn. The latter traveler went in fear of his life, not only expecting avalanches to fall on him, but being apprehensive lest bears and wolves should issue from the caves in the precipices and assault him. The only actual harm which happened, however, was that his companion's dog killed a goat belonging to one of the peasants and that heavy compensation had to be paid—"in phetole," says the diary, "for the goat and ten more for attempting to ride away."

WORK WHILE YOU MAY.
Be no longer a Chaos, but a World, or even a Worldkin. Produce, produce! Wers it but the pitifulest infinitesimal fraction of a Product, produce it in God's name. 'Tis the utmost thou hast in thee. Out with it then! Up, up! Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy whole might. Work while it is called today, for the night cometh wherein no man can work.—Carlyle.

Rumors are rife on the streets here and confirmed by numerous parties coming from Drain, that the recent appointment of L. C. Beebe, of that place, as postmaster is not acceptable to the citizens at large, and a vigorous protest will be sent to prevent the confirmation. It is understood that strong pressure has been brought to bear on Senator Lane by prominent democrats here in Roseburg and at Drain, to have the nomination recalled.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith, of the depot vicinity are the recipients of a number of substantial prizes from Roseburg business men and The News, as the result of having been parents of the first boy baby born in Douglas county in 1916. Were it not for the fact that the Smith family in general and the town of Myrtle Creek in particular have the reputation of being just a little slow, this community might have won first place, which was taken by a "gal" baby of the Days Creek section who preceded the Smith boy by a scant 30 minutes.—Myrtle Creek Mail.

SUMMONS.
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Douglas County, City of Roseburg, plaintiff, vs. John R. Waterman and Pauline Waterman, his wife, defendants.

Walter Winans, Esq. The most famous shot in Europe with hand and shoulder arms.

Two World's Records in One Day with the .22 Savage Hi-Power

At the Bialy Matches of the British National Rifle Association—the biggest rifle match in the world—the .22 Savage Hi-Power rifle and Savage ammunition in the hands of Mr. Walter Winans on July 25, 1914, made the highest possible score on the Running Deer target—the straight 5's. This is a World's record.

On the same day, with the same rifle and ammunition, Mr. Winans made the highest possible score on the Running Deer target—the straight 5's. Another World's record.

This merely clinches what other shooters have proved—that the Imp's wonderful accuracy (25 consecutive shots in a 20-inch circle at 500 yards), tremendous velocity (2800 feet—more than half a mile—a second), long point blank range (200-yard trajectory less than three inches), and trifling recoil (4.5 foot pounds) make it easier to hit moving game with than any other rifle.

And it has killed Alaskan Brown Bear, Giraffe, Buffalo, and man-eating tiger, besides the deer and black bear it was originally designed for.

Write us for particulars about "the biggest little gun in the world."
