WASTE OF WATER POWER LEAVES U. S. WITHOUT POWDER SUPPLY

SECY. LANE, WHO URGES ENCOURAGEMENT OF WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT

A 10,000 HORSE POWER WHEEL READY TO BE PUT TO WORK

the public—or rather from agents of foreign countries—disclosure of the facts has just been made in the Senate debate on water power legislation. The reason for the revelation is that the passage of two bills, the general dam bill introduced by Senator Shields, of Tennessee, and the bill for leasing power sites on the public domain, introduced by Senator Myers, of Montana, open the way for Uncle Sam to make his own nitrates for explosives right at home by taking nitrogen from the atmosphere through water power, without asking leave of any foreign nation.

Sensational charges involving America's pitiful lack of ingredients for explosives are stirring the Senate of the United States. Developments of the last few days have brought out the fact that the United States is absolutely dependent on foreign countries for the bases of all its explosives.

The revelation of actual conditions is regarded as the most important development up to date in the preparedness situation. Senators are saying there is little use to provide fortifications, big guns or even more battle-ships if our powder supply runs out. The keen edge of interest has been whetted by cables revealing the tremendous use of explosives in the present war, especially at Verdun.

In spite of efforts to keep this critical national situation secret from the public, the fact is that the Secretary of the Interior has endorsed the Myers bill for power-site leases in the public lands. Former Secretary of War Garrison urged strongly the need for passing the Shields bill. Other prominent men have given their approval to these conservation measures. One of the few sources of strong opposition is reported to be certain groups of big corporations which now have a monopoly of power in their territory and which are opposing development which might lead to competition and possible reduction in power prices.

Engineers, bankers, chemists, business men and others who know the practical side of the water power business have told congressional committees that the reason America has none of these new industries and the reason why seventy percent of our water powers are running to waste is because the present laws do not offer terms upon which American investors are willing to put their money into these enterprises. Pending legislation, they say, will, if passed, furnish the necessary incentive to capital.

Those in charge of the legislation say they are encouraged greatly over the letters that farmers and other citizens are writing to their Senators and Congressmen in favor of these bills.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.
