DOUGLAS COUNTY CANDIDATES.

According to the returns of the clerk's office here, twenty three nomination petitions of candidates for local county offices have been filed, a list of whom will be found below. Besides those mentioned there are three candidates from the county for circuit judge, these being W. W. Cardwell, J. A. Buchanan, Republicans, and J. W. Hamilton, Democrat. For senator, B. L. Eddy, Republican, for district attorney, Geo. Neuner, Jr., and Ira B. Riddle, Republicans. For representatives, Ora H. Porter, Chas. A. Brand and Roy Griggs, Republicans, and J. L. Chaney, of Myrtle Creek, Democrat. For joint representative, Simon Caro, Republican. There are two candidates from the county for delegates to the national conventions, A. Abraham, Republican, and R. R. Turner, Democrat, and O. P. Coshov will be the Democrat candidate as presidential elector. Besides the candidates mentioned below, who have not yet filed their petitions, John Busenbark is a candidate for commissioner on the Republican ticket. Frank Baragar, for sheriff on the Republican ticket; O. C. Brown, county school superintendent, Republican; Chas. K. Hopkins and R. H. Grinstead, justice of the peace, Republicans, and Howard Church, constable, on the Republican ticket. As the time for filing nominations expires April 14th, it is not probable that any other candidates will make their appearance, and the lists as published here will comprise all those whose names will appear on the ballot. The list of names on file is as follows: County Commissioner—A. Henriksen, Oakland, Republican; J. T. Bridges, Oakland, Republican; A. E. Perkins, Gardiner, Republican; W. E. St. John, Sutherlin, Republican; A. E. Stocker, Drain, Republican; R. W. Long, Yoncalla, Democrat. Sheriff—Sam Starmer, Roseburg, Republican; George Quine, Roseburg, Republican; Harry Pearce, Roseburg, Democrat. County Clerk—E. H. Lenox, Roseburg, Democrat; C. W. Clark, Roseburg, Republican. County Assessor—Guy Gordon, Roseburg, Republican; D. P. McKay, Wilbur, Republican; A. A. Bellows, Roseburg, Republican; R. T. Ashworth, Roseburg, Democrat; H. V. Jones, Myrtle Creek, Republican; Charles Roberts, Roseburg, Republican. Surveyor—Frank Cain, Roseburg, Republican; M. B. Germond, Roseburg, Republican. Treasurer—James Schuyers, Roseburg, Republican; Mrs. Inez Miller, Wilbur, Republican. Coroner—N. T. Jewett, Roseburg, Republican; C. B. Wade, Roseburg, Republican; George Phillips, Oakland, Republican.

A PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY.
According to word received here, which will be confirmed with more exactness later, Theodore H. Burton, former United States senator from Ohio, and at present a potential factor in the presidential nomination race, will be in Roseburg on the afternoon of April 18th, and an effort will be made to have him deliver an address during the time the train stops here to change engines. A committee of prominent Republicans have already made arrangements to meet the distinguished citizen at Myrtle Creek, and accompany him to the city. Senator Burton is one of the three strongest candidates for this exalted office now before the public, and his nomination is not an improbability. Aside from this, he is one of the ablest speakers, and best posted men on national needs and issues in the country, and a proper greeting to him as he passes through our city is fitting. When fuller details of his itinerary are available, they will be given sufficient publicity, that all who desire may be able to hear and see him.

WILBUR NEWS

Rev. Van Fossen, district superintendent of the M. E. church, gave a very interesting address to the young people on "Wasting Time".

The high school play, "Which one Won," was given on Friday evening to a large audience. The pupils did credit to themselves, and showed the good training given them by the principal, Mrs. Miller. Between acts a vocal solo was rendered by Mae Kaegl. Bass solo, by Floyd Chapman.

Several people motored to Winchester on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fouk, of Superior, Neb., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Baird. They are looking for a suitable location in Oregon.

The goat shearing season is on. There are many thousands of dollars worth of mohair sold in Douglas county and the animals are not subject to foot rot, which is prevalent in the Willamette valley, owing to so much lowland.

R. B. Dixon and son, James, of Dixonville, motored down on Thursday on business. They were accompanied by Mrs. Culp and Miss Cunningham.

Mrs. Warren Asher and small son, Glen, have returned from Cottage Grove, after an extended visit.

Ernest and Stanley Short motored to Dillard on a business trip.

Harvey Wells and Harry Baird are in the wood business at present.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. La Raut, had a pleasant visit at Drain through the week end.

Mrs. Helen Harford gave a fine address on Wednesday evening at the building. A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Stanley Corvado and a male quartette composed of Messrs. Abel, Chapman, Baird and Grubbe, gave a song.

CAMAS VALLEY

The school board of district No. 21, re-elected Prof. Street as principal of Camas valley school for a period of two years. Miss Heffley was re-elected for the coming year as primary teacher.

Miss Heffley's sister, Mrs. Fred Smith, of Monmouth, is visiting her at present.

School Supervisor Murphy paid an official visit to the Camas Valley schools last week. He reports work progressing satisfactorily in all the rooms.

Murray and Amstein have taken the contract to pack ore from Mr. Joe Thompson's copper mine on Cow creek to West Fork station. They are to pig ten pack horses in the train to begin with.

Fruit Inspector Strang spent several days inspecting the orchards of Camas Valley recently.

Mr. Hutchason, the insurance man from Roseburg, was looking after business here last week.

S. H. Croy is away from the valley most of the time with his Percheron horse. He has stations at Melrose, Ten Mile, Looking Glass and Roseburg.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Dangers Of Arch Props

READY-MADE arch supporters of various kinds are urged upon customers by unscrupulous shoe dealers, not because the dealers have the necessary skill to advise treatment for foot troubles, but because the trade is so very profitable. One would not permit a clothing merchant to advise one to wear a spinal brace, yet the dealer knows fully as much about the treatment of spinal troubles as the shoe dealer knows about the treatment of foot troubles. In one aggressive store an "orthopaedic" specialist is employed, and his employer announces that the young gentleman is a "graduate." The young gentleman recently showed us his "diploma." He also showed us his "course of study"—which consisted of six "lessons," or rather six lectures, all of which could be read in, say, an hour. Think of that for a while before you submit to shoe-store "treatment" for "our arch trouble."

Alluring statements relative to "painful feet," "weak ankles," "broken arches," "fallen arches," etc., are paced before the public to attract customers for these expensive appliances. Customers in some shoe-stores are graphically told of the marvelous cures effected by the particular prop or appliance the dealer wishes to sell, and perhaps warned of the disastrous effects of neglect of an imaginary falling of the arch. But perhaps we speak with bad grace of this kind of fraud. Some physicians when consulted by patients suffering with foot trouble confess themselves incompetent by saying: "Get a pair of arch supporters."

Patients are constantly applying for treatment who have worn arch props for years, trying all the modifications the shoe clerk could think of, and suffering all the time. The reason they have been so long deceived is that the prop or support seemed to offer considerable relief when first applied. But this relief was always temporary, and soon the old trouble was as bad or worse than before.

BEAUTY CHATS

Do You Snore?

Do you snore? There are few habits more annoying to others, and none of which the possessor is less conscious. But if you do, or even if you sleep and breathe through the mouth without doing it noisily—don't you want to stop it? There are various ways of overcoming the snoring habit, of course. bias, or a soft piece of cotton or linen, and bind the chin gently, tying the linen around the head. The bandage must be tight enough to keep the mouth from opening while asleep. This will, of course, prevent mouth-breathing—though it may take a night or so to get used to the bandage.

If you snore, your sleep is anything but refreshing

Before going to bed, clear your head and throat thoroughly by sniffing water to which a few drops of peroxide of hydrogen have been added. Or, use an atomizer with any well-recommended throat antiseptic. Be sure the air passages are so clean that you can feel the cool air all along the nose and throat before you get into bed. Don't lie on the back, as this will induce the mucous matter into the top of the passage through the nose, clogging that so the breath cannot easily pass. When this happens, you unconsciously start breathing through the mouth, and as the passage becomes more clogged and extends to the throat where the air passages from the nose go into the windpipe—the curious gurgling noises result. This is the air passing, or attempting to pass, into the lungs.

Questions and Answers
Can you recommend a good face soap, not expensive? I like to wash the dirt and grime out of my skin at night with soap and water. It is not harmful, is it?
Reply—Washing the face with soap and water is quite right. It is the way one does it, that counts. Pure Castile is inexpensive and reliable, as it is made from olive oil. Rinse with several waters after the washing or scrubbing, each rinse cooler than the last.

I am troubled with corns, and have them removed by a chiropodist every two months, yet they return. Is there a cure for them?—Nancy.
Reply—A chiropodist should cure beside removing the corns. You should never have a pressure on the places, for that will start up a new growth at any time. Frequently, corns disappear themselves, by merely removing the pressure, which, after all, was the cause. Wear a felt pad around each corn, and be sure your chiropodist is good. They should go away entirely with this care.

Bed Time Tales

The Short-Stemmed Johnny-Jump-Up

"GOOD MORNING TO YOU ALL!" said a cheerful little voice in the middle of the forest. No answer. Not a sound was to be heard, except the murmur of the winds in the trees. "I said, 'Good morning to you all!'" repeated the cheerful voice. No answer.

"I say, everybody! Good morning to you all!" repeated the voice, as though determined to be heard and answered. "What's that?" asked Jack Frost, who had been napping under a big pine tree. "Who's there?" demanded Mr. East Wind, who was taking a little walk through the woods. "What did you say?" asked a sparrow in the tree overhead. "What say?" "I say, 'Good morning to you all!'" said the same cheerful voice; "that's what I say!" "But who are you?" asked Jack Frost. "And where are you?" demanded the wind coldly. "And what are you doing?" chirped the sparrow.

"You're joking," said Jack Frost, sternly. "Why don't you have a longer stem?" asked the sparrow curiously. "And why do you bloom so early?" questioned the east wind. "Aren't you afraid of the cold?" "Why stay under the leaves?" asked Jack Frost. "I cannot even see you to freeze you when you're way under there!" Then how that little Johnny-jump-up did laugh! "That's just why I hide under the leaves; and make only short stems! I like to bloom early; I like to be the first to say, 'Spring's coming!' But I don't want to be frozen!" And the little flower snuggled down under the sheltering leaves.

And if ever you spy a violet, hiding down under some leaves, you will know just why it's hiding, and why it has such a short stem. To-morrow—Tommy Tittle-Mouse Wants To Move

ADVANCE MAN TELLS OF SHOWS

An advance man of John Robinson's Ten Big Shows, which, on the afternoon and evening of May 23, will appear in Roseburg, was seated in the lobby of a local hotel. He was telling a group of traveling men of some of the funny things he has seen while working with circuses.

"One of the most interesting episodes I ever witnessed," said the showman, "came under my observation in a little Michigan town. It was just before the matinee performance. The day was unusually warm and pleasant and the show lot was crowded. I was on my way around the big top from the back entrance to the front wagon. As I neared the latter object I happened to glance in the direction of a group of canvassers who were moving a sort of crook at the end, similar to the bend in a shepherd's rod, and in some manner, the tongue slipped and the crooked end was thrust right between the legs of a fellow of about 40 years of age, who was standing with his back to the cage. Hastily glancing down at the crooked tongue end, the man bounded about four feet in the air, cried out, 'Help! help! The elephant's got me!' The elephant's got me! and started wildly to run away. Instantly every observant bystander gave the man a merry ha, ha, and, after he had put several yards between himself and the 'elephant' (?) he looked over his shoulder, saw that the pachyderm was none other than a big wooden tongue, and a way into the crowd which surrounded the main entrance.

John Alexander and John Shrum, of Glide, were in the city today attending to business matters.
