

CARNIVAL ENDS WITH NIGHT OF REVELRY

Record Crowd Was Upon Street For Final Scenes.

ACTS OF ROUGHNESS HAPPILY LACKING

From a Financial and Advertising Standpoint, the Carnival Just Closed Was One of the Best Ever Held.

As upon seven previous occasions the eighth annual Strawberry Carnival, which has been made famous by the citizens of Roseburg, came to a close last Saturday night.

The carnival spirit which had been very much in evidence during the two previous days made itself manifest during the last few hours in the usual manner and the hundreds of participants who lined the walks and crowded the streets entered into the spirit of the hour in a manner befitting the occasion.

Early in the evening the big boxes of confetti had been broken into and the contents arranged so that no trouble would be experienced in handing it out rapidly to the crowd when once the demand started. It was soon after dusk when the air began to be filled with the stuff and there was no cessation to it until the crowd dispersed for their homes.

A number of young men of the city had struck upon a new form of noise-making which was worse than anything ever heard at any previous carnival. They had taken the Klaxon horns from their autos and motorcycles and as they paraded the streets these ear-splitting noise-makers were kept going in concert. They had everything else in their line backed clear off the board when it came to volume and quality of noise.

The closing nights of many of the previous carnivals have been marked by many little acts of roughness which detracted from the pleasure of the occasion. Last Saturday night was fortunately free from any such acts and was the subject of many complimentary remarks from out-of-town visitors. Everyone upon the streets was in for a good time and the little acts of familiarity were all taken in the spirit in which they were given and no one was offended.

Tremendous Crowd at Dance.

The closing ball which was held at the Armory was attended by what was perhaps the largest crowd ever assembled in the building at one time. The spacious floor was crowded to the limit by dancers both young and old, and the happy faces and sparkling eyes successfully concealed the tired expressions of their owners.

From a financial standpoint the dances held this year by the committee of the carnival were the most successful ever held.

The dance upon the streets which was planned by the committee was abandoned after the streets had been flushed earlier in the evening, as it was seen the the crowd would not take to the rough floor as long as the Armory dance was in progress.

The younger revelers made merry until after midnight and even at that late hour many of them were loathe to respond to the repeated calls of their tired bodies for a well-earned rest, and to leave for their homes. Many of the out-of-town concessions were taken down late Saturday night and the streets early yesterday morning presented nothing but a good appearance. The city's efficient cleaning force, however, had this condition soon remedied and this morning most of the debris was cleared away after a few hours' work.

The arches, which were placed at the intersections of the main streets and which occasioned such favorable expressions were removed today and will be carefully placed away until next year when they will be erected again.

From all sides one hears but terms of highest praise for the way the entire affair was handled this year and of the splendid advertising given the city. The annual Strawberry Carnival has become a part of the life of the city of Roseburg and Douglas county.

TO LEAVE ROSEBURG.

Mrs. Anise Driskell, the well known proprietor of the popular Leader Store for women, has announced her intention of leaving this city within a month, as she has received a very flattering offer to go into business in a larger place and where she can be close to her family. During the residence of Mrs. Driskell in Roseburg she has built up a splendid business by her own unaided efforts, and as the name of her place indicates, has been a "Leader" in everything pertaining to ladies and children's wear. As the time for her stay here is limited and she wishes to dispose of her entire stock before going, she will inaugurate a sale beginning the last day of this month, at which she expects to place a price on every article that will make a quick deal. While she is sorry to leave a place where so many friends and acquaintances have been made, Mrs. Driskell considers the offer she has in view too good to pass up.

SUPERVISORS WILL NOT BE RECALLED

Vote of Directors in Favor of Maintaining System.

MAJORITY AGAINST RECALL OVER 100

School Teachers Win in Fight to Maintain System Which They Believe Works for Better Efficiency in Schools.

It was understood today that according to the vote of the school directors of the county in regard to the recall of the school supervisors that the measure failed by at least 150 votes. The vote was ordered some time ago when a number of taxpayers presented a petition asking that the court call for a vote on the matter, as it was thought that the supervisor system was expensive and unnecessary. A former vote taken failed to recall the supervisors by only a small majority. This, however, was a much more emphatic and will probably mean the permanent retention of the system.

According to the school law each county having sixty districts shall be entitled to one supervisor with an additional man for every fifty districts over and above the first sixty.

According to this ruling Douglas county is entitled to three supervisors but in order to economize on the expense of hiring the three men County School Superintendent O. C. Brown has charge of the central district comprising the schools tributary to Roseburg, while H. M. Cross, of Drain, has charge of that district and Geo. W. Murphy, of Riddle, is in charge of the southern part of the county. The law also provides that a recall of the supervisors may be made by taking a vote of the directors of each district. The result to determine the system under which the schools shall be governed.

It is the duty of the supervisors to visit the various schools of his district as many times as possible, the lowest limit being set by the law. On these visits he shall meet with the directors and teachers and also as many of the parents as possible. He shall also investigate the ability of the teachers and the efficiency of their methods of instruction. In this county the condition of the school house is given particular attention by the order of the county superintendent. The sanitary condition is noted, ventilation, heating and location are all taken into consideration, together with the general comforts afforded the students.

Each month they report to the superintendent's office where they furnish such information as will enable him to keep in direct touch with the hundred schools throughout the county, so that he can supply their needs if any and keep up the standard of education which it is desired to maintain. They have also proven very helpful in organization of industrial clubs and Parent-Teachers associations, new movements which are working a great revolution in the school world.

The school teachers of the county are heartily in favor of the school supervisorship and have fought the recall measure in every way possible. In their meetings resolutions have been adopted which have been sent broadcast while every teacher pledged himself to use every personal means possible as they believed the system was essential to a higher standardization of the rural and city schools.

BULGARS CROSS INTO GREEK TERRITORY

Crossed Border in Order to Avoid Conflict With Allies.

SERBIAN ARMY RETURNS TO THE FIELD

After Having Ranks Thinned by Disease and Battle, Veterans Return to Lend Aid to Forces of Allies.

LONDON, May 29.—Brisk fighting between the Greeks and the Bulgars is in progress today, following the Bulgarian invasion of Greece. A detachment from Fort Rupel fired on the Bulgarian troops, the latter returning the shot without any serious results on either side. Greece warned the border commanders to prevent serious encounter. It is believed that the army of Bulgarians which entered Greece did so to guard against an attack by the allies.

The Greek forts Rupel and Dragotin are, respectively six and nine miles north of the town of Demir-Hissar, while Spatovo fort lies four miles east of that town. Kavalla, on which the Bulgarians are said to be marching, is a seaport on the Aegean Sea, 55 miles in an air line southeast of Demir-Hissar.

After crossing the Aegean Sea without loss, the Serbian army in full strength has been landed at Saloniki, according to a dispatch received at Paris today by wireless.

Army Numbers 80,000. Serbia's new army has been variously estimated numbering between eighty thousand and one hundred thousand officers and men. It was reorganized on the island of Corfu, which is approximately 700 miles distant by water from Saloniki.

The Serbian army totaled about 300,000 men at the outbreak of the war, but this force was greatly depleted as a result of an epidemic of typhus and bitter engagements fought in an endeavor to check the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasions of Serbia and Montenegro. The remnant of the original armies saved itself by retreating through the Albanian mountains to the eastern shores of the Adriatic.

On reaching the seacoast, the Serbians were transported to the island of Corfu, off the southern coast of Albania, where they were supplied with new rifles and clothing and efficiently equipped for further service on the Balkan battlefield.

War Front Now in Africa.

ROSEBURG CONCERT BAND WILL HOLD MEETING

The members of the Roseburg Concert Band will hold a meeting tomorrow night to vote on whether or not the organization shall hold together or disband. Under the present system they have not enough money to maintain their organization and keep themselves supplied with music and means of raising funds will be the principal matter of discussion.

If it is decided that they will stay together the boys will plan to hold weekly concerts during the summer and will also make arrangements to locate several of the musicians in this city. Mr. Markee, who played leading cornet in the band during the carnival is desirous of remaining in Roseburg providing he can find employment and as he is one of the leading cornetists of the state, an effort will be made to keep him here.

FOREIGN SHOP KEEPERS OBJECT TO ORDER

MEXICO CITY, May 29.—Foreigners, with the Germans leading, today notified General Hill, the auxiliary commander, that they would close their shops and seek the protection of their governments, unless he rescinded the anti-high price order. Hill again threatened to export all violators of the rule.

EMPIRE BUILDER DIES AT ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 29.—James J. Hill, one of the last of the great railroad builders of America, died at his home here at 9:43 this morning, following an operation for the removal of a carbuncle. On account of his age, 78, he was unable to successfully resist the shock of the operation.

ST. PAUL, May 29.—The history of the life of Hill is the history of the development of the Northwest. Fifty years ago he was a dock clerk at St. Paul, practically penniless, and he died a multi-millionaire. Lord Mount Stephens, Lord Strathcona and Herman W. Ellison formed the trio which bought in the bonds of the old Minnesota and Pacific Railroad, putting Hill in charge. This was the beginning of the great Hill system. With the completion of the Great Northern to the coast, steamship lines to the Orient were established to provide a market for American goods. The development of the country through which the roads traveled, was the great life work of the transportation genius. The construction of the North Bank road to Spokane and Portland, the subsequent establishment of the steamer line to Plavel and San Francisco, were the final great efforts of his life.

ST. PAUL, May 29.—The Hill funeral will be held on Wednesday at two o'clock from his mansion on Summit Avenue.

Morgan May Control Great Northern.

NEW YORK, May 29.—It seems certain that the National City Bank, which is closely allied with Rockefeller, will exert a mighty influence on the Great Northern Railroad, now that James J. Hill is dead. The holdings of J. P. Morgan in the Pacific may thus bring the two lines into competition. Hill prevented this during his life time.

AMERICAN TROOPS FIND VILLA'S BOOTY

MARIQUIPA, May 29.—via radio to Columbus, N. M.—The search for other Villista caches is in progress, following the discovery of ten machine guns and two hundred and eighty five rifles in Balize canyon, a bandit rendezvous. The American hunt for small bands, and the watch upon suspected Villista hiding places has not been relaxed. The good condition of the loot found in the canyon, suggests that Villa probably cached it on his retreat from Columbus.

MEXICAN POST NOTICES OF BREAK WITH U. S.

EL PASO, May 29.—General Gavira denies all knowledge of the source of the bulletins posted in the Mexican quarters requesting Mexicans to register at their consulate, because a break between the United States and Mexico appeared imminent. He said the "warning was ridiculous". The notices stated that trouble might come to a head within a week.
