Now that another glorious 4th has passed into history "Old Jape" has apparently withdrawn his threatening forces before the beaming countenance of "Old Sol" and our land is once more radiant with smiles and the click and rattle of the hay-making devices, while the very prolific crops of cherries and various varieties of berries are being cared for and preparations are in full blast for setting aside a bountiful supply of nature's products to fortify the inner man against those drenching and chilling rigors which are due to appear in great numbers backing "Old Sol" for a time off the field while "Old Jape" reinforced by the merciless hosts of old grizzled winter whoop and howl and covort over the arena. That there can be no doubt so let every one make the best of the opportunities as they are presenting themselves so that when the inevitable "rainy day" comes that there will be no lack of preparedness to last until the booming "Old Sol" once again disperses the wintry forces which have been throttling the land for so long a time.

AUSTRIAN CRUISER SINKS ENGLISH PATROL BOATS

BERLIN, July 11.—(via wireless to Sayville.)—Four and possibly five British patrol boats were destroyed yesterday by the Austrian cruiser Novara, off Otranto, the announcement coming from the Austrian admiralty.

All of the patrol boats were sunk, three burning after their boilers exploded. The cruiser could only rescue nine of the British sailors from the crews. The prisoners said that there were five boats in the group.

Miss Mabel Wilson, of Yoncalla, came to Roseburg yesterday and will remain in this city until after the chautauqua.
