

"Penny" in Name and Size

ANN PENNINGTON, FAMOUS PLAYERS-PARAMOUNT STAR.

Little Ann Pennington, the celebrated Ziegfeld Follies star, who is to make her screen debut in a Paramount Picture produced by the Famous Players, is so absolutely tiny that she is known to her associates as "Penny."

Any ordinary mortal could hold that speck of a rabbit in one hand, but "Penny" can just barely do it with two.

The cameraman caught her playing with the fluffy snowball while waiting for a scene in "Susie Snowflake," in which she will make her screen debut and implored her to hold the pose and the rabbit until he could get the picture she did.

MAN-EATING SHARK IS TRAPPED IN CREEK

MATAWAN, N. J., July 12.—The man-eating shark which yesterday killed a man and a boy in Matawan creek and mangled a third boy who attempted to effect a rescue, is believed to be trapped in the creek. A member of a large party who are hunting the monster reported seeing the fin of a shark near the spot where the bathers were attacked yesterday. Two charges of dynamite were dropped immediately at the spot. Men armed with rifles are patrolling the bank ready to shoot if the shark is blown to the surface. A steel net is stretched across the mouth of the creek to prevent an escape.

SAYS AMERICA MUST BE OBJECT LESSON

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Speaking before the Citizenship Convention, the president declared that America was intended to "be a spirit among the nations of the world". He said that America should be the finest example of the objects and ideals which promote the standards of the world.

MAY BEGIN WORK SOON

R. M. Fox, the well known Sutherlin resident, is spending a few days at Eugene, Bellingham and other places along the coast, where he is visiting the large saw mills, investigating mill construction with a view of making recommendations for the plant to be erected at Sutherlin. HAND HURT IN PULLEY

While watching Robert T. Blakey, of Glide, lift hay into his barn by means of a block and tackle arrangement operated by horsepower, little four-year-old Willie Garner had the misfortune to catch his hand in a revolving pulley in such a manner that part of the flesh on the back of his right hand was torn off while one finger was badly mangled. He was brought to Roseburg and taken to a physician where the wound was given attention. The boy and his mother have been visiting with friends at Glide for some time, their home being at Dalles.
